U.S. Seen Ready to Aid Diem to Block Conquest

WASHINGTON (AP)—The major Communist drive for control of Southeast Asia is reported shifting from Laos to South Viet Nam, with the prospect of a prolonged struggle. Both the Soviet Union and the United States are involved to some degree.

Even before a cease-fire in Laos is nailed down, there is renewed talk in official quarters here of the possible use of U. S. forces in Southeast Asia primarily because of the determined Communist effort through guerrilla warfare to overthrow the South Viet Nam government of Premier Ngo Dinh Diem.

The issue is a matter of grave concern within the administration and could be one of the subjects up for discussion at a National Security Council meeting at the White House today.

President Kennedy has an opportunity at a news conference later in the day to set forth his views on the newly developing crisis.

Kennedy conferred Thursday night with Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Fulbright said after the meeting that in his judgment the administration stands ready to offer direct support to Diem's forces if that becomes necessary to block Red conquest of the Southeast Asian country.

Fulbright also endorsed the use of U. S. military force, if necessary to support either South Viet Nam or Thailand, which is a U.S. ally in the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization. Both countries border Laos.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk told a news conference Thursday that Communist guerrilla forces in South Viet Nam now number 12,000 men. They are supported by Communist North Viet Nam.

He said the northern forces have undoubtedly been equipped and strengthened by the Soviet Union.

Rusk was asked what the U. S. response would be if the Diem government requested direct arms intervention by American troops. He said he did not want to give a flat answer to the question, then added: "But there will be a very strong effort made now to reinforce that situation there and give them every possible help —across the entire spectrum, in which help is needed."

Two Are Arrested In Liquor Store Bogus Check Case

Two men were booked Thursday on forgery charges after they had allegedly passed a bogus check at a local liquor store.

John Lee Grant, 24, of 157 Hasbrouck Avenue, was arrested yesterday afternoon by detectives Leonard Ellsworth and Albert Hutton, and Vernon Eugene Grant, 29, of Lanesville, picked up by state police at that place last night, was turned over to local police and booked by Officer Thomas Coffey at police headquarters.

Case Postponed

City Judge Aaron E. Klein today put their case over to Saturday to permit them time to obtain counsel. Bail, fixed at $2,500 for Vernon and at $5,000 for John, was not posted. Bail was higher for the latter because he had been on probation.

Police said the check allegedly involved was for $25 and was drawn on the Phoenicia branch of the Kingston Trust Company, and cashed at the Empire Wine & Liquor Store, 600 Broadway. It is charged that John Lee Grant "with intent to defraud," had made out the check to Vernon E. Grant and it was signed with the name of another person as maker of the check.

The arrests resulted of an investigation by Lt. Lemuel Howard and detectives Albert Hutton and Leonard Ellsworth.

Laos Disregards Phouma's Call, Going to Rebels

HIN HEUP, Laos (AP) — The royal Laotian government disregarded Communist-backed Prince Souvanna Phouma's call for political negotiations today and sent an all-military delegation to this village to negotiate with representatives of the pro-Communist rebels.

The delegation from the Western-supported regime in Vientiane was headed by Brig. Gen. Sing Rattanasamay. The absence of any members from the civilian Cabinet emphasized the Vientiane

Everything Fine, Astronaut Says

Sends Back Facts, Figures; Capsule Rides True Course

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The United States' first space man, Alan B. Shepard Jr., rocketed briefly across the threshold of space today and landed safely after a 5,100 mile-an-hour journey that carried him 115 miles high and 302 miles down range.

The pickup occurred at 9:53 a.m. (EST), 19 minutes after the Redstone booster rocket blasted off from Cape Canaveral at 9:34 a.m.

Describes Earth Below

The flight reached an altitude of about 115 miles and lasted 15 minutes.

The 37-year-old Navy commander's good condition was evident throughout the flight when Shepard reported such things as:

"What a beautiful sight!" in describing the earth below.

He radioed back that he could see the outline of the entire East Coast of the United States.

Throughout the rest of the journey, he said everything was OK."

Ships, planes and helicopters raced to attempt recovery of the astronaut when his cabin plopped into the water.

Back in Space Race

Crewmen of the Lake Champlain were told not to speak to the astronaut. Doctors and psychologists want him to tell his story without having it colored by ideas conveyed to him on his return.

The successful shot puts the United States back into the space race with Russia.

Soviet scientists copped the first big prize 23 days ago when they boosted the world's first space traveler, Yuri Gagarin, into a 188-mile high orbit and returned him to earth 108 minutes later.

Today's suborbital shot does not match the Russian achievement but is a major step toward orbiting an American which the National Space Agency plans to do later this year.

The purpose of today's flight was to determine if man can perform useful chores in space Shepard proved conclusively it could be done.

Does Assigned Tasks

He reported constantly throughout the flight that he was able to do certain tasks, such as pushing levers and buttons and operating manual controls.

All the way through he told the control center at Cape Canaveral by radio that everything was okay.

During the flight, Mercury officials said that Shepard was reporting facts and figures just like a test pilot would.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration made this official announcement: "Test No. 108 is terminated. This was the pioneer U.S. man in space flight. The Mercury spacecraft is on the deck of the aircraft carrier Lake Champlain and the helicopter is about to land. Shepard is about to come out of helicopter."

Shepard's reports on the "beautiful view" came only three minutes following launch, after a periscope in the capsule protruded to give the space pilot a view of the earth.

In Cabin 4 Hours

Shepard had entered his space cabin at 5:18 a.m. (EST), after a final medical examination and a breakfast of filet mignon, scrambled eggs, sherbet and peaches.

He remained there 4 hours, 18 minutes, during a countdown that had been delayed several times by technical troubles and weather.

The Redstone throbbed to life after a countdown directed by for-

Herdman, Muller Are Proud Of Champlain Recovery Job

Two area men were happy today about the part the USS Lake Champlain played in the launching at Cape Canaveral, Fla.

The 40,000-ton aircraft carrier picked up the capsule bearing astronaut Alan B. Shepard after it arched into the Atlantic Ocean.

The two are Herbert Russell Herdman of Vincent Street, a heating mechanic with the Kingston Coal Company, and Albert F. Muller, Allaben carpenter contractor.

Near to their hearts is the carrier Champlain. They served on it as first class seamen during World War 2, having been members of the original crew.

Built at the Norfolk Navy Yard, Portsmouth, Va., the carrier was commissioned June 3, 1946. The Champlain was sponsored by war bonds bought by the people of New York State according to records treasured by Herdman and Muller.

The two are particularly proud of having sailed on the carrier when it established a speed record in 1945. Making an average of 32.048 knots, the Champlain crossed the Atlantic in four days, 51 minutes, fastest time up until her trip's end on November 26.

For five days the big carrier prowled the seas 290 miles off the Florida Coast, waiting for today.

Its job: Pluck the first U.S. astronaut to be shot into space from his landing spot in the sea.

Of all the ships in the recovery fleet, this ship has the key spot

Just Wonderful: Astronaut's Wife

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP)— Mrs. Alan Shepard, who watched her husband on television as he took off into space today, emerged from the privacy of her curtained house triumphant and happy.

Although she had not spoken with her husband, she had been told by Col. John Powers at Cape Canaveral that everything went all right with his rocket ship trip to the fringe of space and back.

"It was just wonderful, wonderful, wonderful," she told the mob of cameramen, reporters and curious neighbors gathered around her porch.

She had been watching the rocket blast on television with a transistor radio in her lap.

With her were her parents, the R. P. Brewers of Kennett Square, Pa., a friend, Mrs. John Matthews, and her daughter, Jean Matthews.

A niece, Alice Williams, who celebrated her 10th birthday today, and the Shepard daughter, Julia, stayed home from school to see the history-making blastoff.

Mrs. Shepard told reporters she had talked to Alan at 9 o'clock Thursday night.

Alan said everything was in good shape, and he sounded fine, she said.

Seek Drainage Correction

Saugerties Board Told Of Barclay Hts. Plight

A group of residents in the Barclay Heights Development reported on a number of drainage problems and road conditions in their area at the Thursday night meeting of Saugerties Town Board.

The delegation pointed out that a drainage condition has existed in the area for nearly three years.

Cites Muskrat Problem

A spokesman for the delegation told The Freeman the area is so badly drained that muskrats have made it their habitat. One of the residents complained that a muskrat had built a nest in one of the road's drainage pipes.

In December the Town Board approved a resolution to use the $40,000 performance bond held by the town for the reconstruction of roads and drainage in the Barclay Heights Development to meet town specifications.

The town has refused to accept the roads from the developer until all conditions and specifications have been met.

The work would be let out to competitive bidding and was expected to start this spring. The town has held a performance bond provided by Jack and Charles Davis of Barclay Heights Development Corp., to guarantee satisfactory completion of roads and drainage before acceptance of the thoroughfares by the township. The bond was issued by Maryland Casualty Company.

Given Last Opportunity

At the December meeting Supervisor Peter M. Williams said the developers were given a last opportunity to complete the work to meet town highway specifications last summer, and since that time nothing has been done.

During last summer Brinnier

Camera Thieves Sought, Also Two Seen Near Market

Theft of two cameras valued at $359 from the Artcraft Camera Shop, 75 North Front Street, by two men was reported to the police Thursday afternoon.

The report was followed by others indicating that suspicious young men were seen in an uptown parking lot and near a market and one stopped by police for questioning escaped in a run through back yards. Police had no information indicating that the theft of cameras and the later incidents might have been connected.

Walk Out of Store

A report early yesterday afternoon said the two men, one dressed in light, and the other in dark clothing, walked out of the North Front Street store with the cameras, one of which was valued at $189.50 and the other at $169.50. Detective

Rocky, Lottery Commission at Odds

Special Probe Ordered To Clean Up N.Y. Bingo

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Rockefeller administration, at odds with the state agency charged with supervising bingo laws, will set up a special commission to investigate all bingo operations in the state in a move to clean up the scandal-ridden games.

Gov. Rockefeller said Thursday he had ordered a thorough study by a Moreland Act Commission. He said he was acting on the basis of testimony at recent hearings of the State Investigation Commission that criminal elements had infiltrated legalized bingo and that public officials had aided them.

Calls Proposals Inadequate

Legislative proposals the State Lottery Control Commission submitted earlier this year to revise the bingo laws "were entirely inadequate," Rockefeller said.

He fired back at comments earlier Thursday by Richards W. Hannah, chairman of the lottery control commission. Hannah said in New York City bingo scandals could have been averted, had the commission's legislative proposals been adopted.

The governor accused the commission of attempting to "shift responsibility" for what he said were its shortcomings.

However, Rockefeller told a news conference he saw nothing in the disclosures at the bingo hearings to warrant any recommendations that bingo be outlawed.

He said the Moreland investigation would lead to legislative recommendations, to be acted upon in 1962, to assure that the games are conducted properly and criminal elements are kept out.

A one-member commission, with a staff of investigators and other aides, will conduct the probe under the Moreland Act, which authorizes such investigations and provides for broad authority in conducting them.

The individual who will head the bingo investigation has not yet been chosen, Rockefeller said.

He made these comments on other topics at the news conference:

Special Session—A special session of the Legislature will be called late in the fall to reapportion the state's congressional districts, probably after the November election. The Republican-controlled Legislature must reduce the number of congressional seats from 43 to 41, on the basis of more rapid population gains in other states.

In Washington, Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., said he planned to sound out Rockefeller on the question of public reapportionment hearings. There is widespread belief Stratton's 32nd District may be reapportioned out of existence.

Reports About Terror Are Seeping Out of Cuba Now

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Reports of mass terror against opponents of Fidel Castro's regime are seeping out of Cuba despite a curtain of total censorship on news communications and mail.

These reports tell of suffering among thousands of detainees rounded up in the wake of the abortive anti-Castro invasion of mid-April. They tell of thousands inhumanely crowded, without food and sanitation, in detention centers; of uprisings born of desperation among the prisoners; bloodhounds and police dogs used to threaten the prisoners.

It is now confirmed that the regime has imposed complete censorship on all outgoing news messages, which must be cleared through the chief of telecommunications. Mail censorship, long in existence behind the scenes, now is out in the open. Huge piles of mail await censorship at the office of the telecommunications chief, apparently in charge of that job, too.

This is the story of what has been happening to thousands suspected of opposing the regime, as pieced together from the reports from the island:

Between 25,000 and 30,000 Cubans and foreigners, including a number of Americans, were rounded up in Havana alone after the invasion. The detainees were herded into requisitioned buildings, such as the Sports Palace and the Blanquita Theater.

At the Blanquita, there were between 6,000 and 7,500 prisoners, jammed into the auditorium, without any arrangements for food or sanitation. The only food available was that brought by relatives of persons held there.

Midway through the first week of their detention, prisoners were

Chipp Withholds Verdicts In Ellenville Fire Deaths

A verdict as to the cause of death of the two small children of Mrs. Mulvina Merchant, 51 Chapel Street, Ellenville, who died in a flash fire Tuesday, was still being withheld by Coroner Arthur C. Chipp of Kerhonkson, pending completion of an investigation.

The two tots, Leon Merchant, 7 months old, and William Henry Merchant, 19-months old, apparently died of suffocation during the absence of their mother, who reportedly had gone to a neighbors to pick up clothing for the family.

Francine Merchant, 5-year old daughter, who was with the two tots went to a neighbor's apartment in the house and notified the neighbor of the fire which had apparently started from a kerosene stove. The fire was in the living room in which one of the small children was in a crib and the other was in a carriage in an adjoining room.

Funeral services for the two children were held today at 10 o'clock from the Louck's Funeral Home, Inc., North Main Street, Ellenville.

Meanwhile, an investigation is also continuing as to the cause of a fire early Thursday morning which gutted the Ulster Motors establishment at 44 Canal Street, Ellenville, and for a time threatened other structures.

Estimates of the damage done by the two-alarm fire varied from $100,000 to upwards of $150,000. There is a belief that the fire may have started in or near the office.

In addition to thirteen cars in the garage, a large stock of tires and accessories were also lost.

Copter Fall Kills Ballonist After Setting Record Ascent

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Navy medical officer soared higher than man has ever gone in a balloon—113,500 feet up—and then met a tragic death in a 25-foot fall from a rescuing helicopter.

Lt. Cmdr. Victor G. Prather, 34, of Bethesda, Md., fell backward from the sling of the helicopter that had picked him up Thursday in the Gulf of Mexico after an almost perfect landing. He died aboard the carrier Antietam 7½ hours after he and Cmdr. Malcolm Ross, of Washington, soared to their record hight.

Ross was lifted to the carrier by one of three hovering rescue helicopters without injury. He stood on the deck awaiting his companion's rescue.

Hours earlier they were sharing the drama of the record flight, 21½ miles above the gulf. Shortly before reaching maximum altitude, Ross, the pilot, had radioed the carrier that he could see the Atlantic Ocean on the other side of Florida.

Asked on another transmission how things were going, Prather, father of two children, replied: "Things are great. Come on up."

The huge plastic balloon had been launched from the carrier's flight deck off the mouth of the Mississippi River at 7:08 a.m. (Central Standard Time). It reached its maximum altitude 2 hours and 36 minutes later at a point about 136 miles south of Mobile, Ala.

The carrier followed the balloon as it drifted down across the gulf on a southeasterly course. It

BABSON on BUSINESS

By Roger W. Babson

BABSON PARK, Mass., May 5 — The biggest headache of any corporation official in the United States will be suffered, not by General Electric officials, or even those of the AT&T, but by the man who must operate a Northern Pacific-Great Northern-Burlington Railroad Merger.

First, this man may sometime have the ill will of the former Northern Pacific stockholders who may feel they have been robbed. I will not brag of the railway traffic of the Northern Pacific. Like most railroads, the passenger business is a big loss; but even the freight is declining. But the Northern Pacific has very valuable mineral, oil, gas, and other properties with great potential wealth. The only real hedge against inflation is land, of which the Northern Pacific has some of the most valuable.

Second, let me refer to the size of the planned merged railroad. I roughly figure that this will have the greatest mileage of any railroad in the United States. A large part of this mileage should never have been built. Yet with millions of bonds outstanding on these rails, it will be very difficult to get the necessary agreements by bondholders to dismantle a major part of a railroad and liquidate the rails, bridges and rights-of-way. A legal merger is simple, but a division of the "spoils" is exceedingly complicated.

Labor and Small Towns

The only way to prevent such a great merged railroad system from going into bankruptcy is to dismantle at least one-third of the mileage, and reduce the number of employes proportionately. This causes great consternation among the labor unions. They will not only fight for their own jobs; but will feel in doing so they are fighting a battle for every railroad in the country which is now talking merger. But the expected discharge of railway workers likewise angers the thousands of little towns along the lines which should be abandoned. These towns and way stations think their life depends on having a railroad station, especially for freight. To a certain extent every railroad merger will have these handicaps.

As the abandonment of a railroad's main line or branch lines usually means that the roadbed will revert to the county, state, or federal government, the newly merged lines will continue to operate such portions of the Northern Pacific as have the mineral rights. This creates another paradox. Handling of the freight by trucks would ordinarily be the answer; but trucks would not enable the Northern Pacific to hold ownership of all its valuable mineral and oil assets.

What Stockholders May Do

Such a merger awakens a sentimental recollection in my life which should be a lesson to all investors. An uncle of mine was once the operating vice president of the Northern Pacific, with his home in St. Paul. Once when I was going to St. Paul to visit the family of my late wife—Grace K. Babson—my father, Nathaniel Babson of Gloucester, Mass., asked me to call upon my "Uncle John" and ask his opinion as to the value of Northern Pacific securities. My uncle replied:—"Tell Cousin Nat that the Northern Pacific bonds are good; that the preferred stocks will probably work out fairly satisfactorily; but that the common stock today is not worth the paper upon which the certificates are printed." Yet within two years this common stock sold for one thousand dollars per share!

With this personal experience it is difficult for me to advise a present holder of Northern Pacific what to do. I think, however, that a good many Northern Pacific holders will sell their stock and switch into the stock of Union Pacific. The latter sells at about 32 and pays $1.60 dividend per year. Union Pacific is both rich in management and has great mineral, oil, gas and other hidden assets. It is the shortest line between Chicago and the Pacific Coast and has the least mileage to maintain when making the trip largely on double track. I do not recommend any railroad or other stocks in this column; but I can report what I think large stockholders are doing.

Japanese Clerics Want to Preach Christ Themselves

By ALAN CLINE

TOKYO (AP)—A Southern California evangelist is bringing a Christian crusade here Saturday amid smouldering opposition from many Japanese Christians.

Heading the crusade is Dr. Bob Pierce, president of World Vision of Pasadena, Calif. A colleague calls the May 6-June 4 nightly affair a "soft sell," a new approach to reaching the Japanese.

Not all Japanese agree and a few Japanese pastors have been vocal in their opposition. One newspaper ran a cartoon showing a cleric pouring tea on a typical Japanese. The caption said: "The crusade is going to make instant Christians." Instant products are a current craze here.

One American missionary said most of the opposition centers on the issue of nationalism, the Japanese Christian leaders feeling they must do their own evangelism.

Pierce's staff contends such argument is invalid. Roy Nicholson, director of World Vision said, "We're simply making a platform to deliver a Christian message through music and a message by Dr. Pierce. It's a very soft sell, and yet the pitch is there."

Nicholson said there would be plenty of music from a chorus of 1,000 and a 75-piece orchestra, all Japanese.

World Vision promised, Nicholson said, that no baptisms or other rituals would be made on the site—the 10,000-seat Metropolitan gymnasium—because officials did not want rituals performed there and the organization did not feel it was the place for such sites anyway.

The Rev. Teruji Hirayama, pastor of the Yamate Church here and one of the vocal opponents, objected to the use of the gym and contended the cost of the crusade, $277,000, was tantamount to doing "missionary work by banquet."

Nicholson said the money came mostly from small, individual donations in the United States. He added Japanese Christians are putting up $40,000 and two Japanese Christian church councils invited World Vistion to stage the crusade.

Following the awarding of the Eagle Badge to young Angstrom by Edward Gardner, the scout presented his mother, who started him on the trail of scouting as his den mother in Cub Scouts, with a miniature Eagle badge.

The final presentation of the troop honor medals was made by Committeeman Thurin. Thurin asked previous recipients of the honor medals, Lansing Naylor and Peter Tongue to escort Gary Terwilliger, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Terwilliger of 4 Washington Avenue, to the platform where he was presented with the second place Honor Medal award. Then he asked Honor Medal holders, Michael Angstrom, John Cranston and Thomas Policano to escort Robert Kelly, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Kelly, High Woods, Saugerties, to the platform where he was presented with the first place Honor Medal which completed the presentation of the awards and the evening's ceremonies.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MAY 5, 1961

COST OF PUBLIC WELFARE

Public assistance costs in Ulster County were $1,430,944 last year, according to a report released by the Citizens Public Expenditure Survey. This is an increase of three per cent compared with the bill in 1959.

The cost of public assistance here continued to increase despite a slight drop in the number of people receiving assistance. Last year the number of recipients was 2,056. In 1959 it was 2,080.

The report pointed out that the cost for every man, woman and child in Ulster County was $12.04 an increase of 1.2 per cent over 1959's per capita cost of $11.90.

Public assistance costs reached $339.1 million in 1960, a 1.7 per cent increase over 1959, although the number of people who received assistance in an average month declined to 512,691.

The survey, basing its report on official state figures, said 1960 was the seventh consecutive year expenditures have increased.

There are five public assistance programs in New York State. They are old age assistance, aid to dependent children, aid to the blind, aid to the disabled and home relief. Home relief is paid for by state and local funds while the other programs are supported by a combination of federal, state and local money.

Although public assistance makes up the bulk of welfare spending, it does not represent total welfare spending in New York. There are welfare programs for children in foster homes, hospital care for persons not on relief and other programs. When these programs are considered, it brings total welfare spending in New York to $576.9 million in 1960.

Welfare on a state and federal basis today is a vast program. In a few years, federal welfare has grown from a small burden to become the second most expensive in the government. Only national defense costs more.

SAFETY BEGINS WITH YOU

For long years we have heard, quite properly, the steady note of alarm struck over huge traffic death tolls and other accident fatalities. All too little is the massive total of accident injuries impressed upon us.

From all accident causes, about 90,000 Americans lose their lives every year. Not much less than half are the result of automobile mishaps.

But nearly 47 million persons suffer injury in accidents each year. This means that more than a quarter of the nation's population gets involved. It seems almost incredible.

The U.S. surgeon general, Luther Terry, points out, too, that many of these millions of injured are crippled, disfigured, made dependent on wheel chairs and crutches, even confined to bed for life.

The worst of it is that a surprisingly high percentage of accidents happen to individuals who are approaching or enjoying their most productive years.

Surely we as a people can do a vastly better job than this in protecting our own life and limb.

The coffee industry recommends its products for making pies, cookies and cakes. This may call for longer coffee breaks.

THAT JUDICIAL CALM

Much was made of the recent open disagreement between Chief Justice Warren and Justice Franfurter. News accounts emphasized the asperity of this Supreme Court dispute. Yt the most striking thing about the set-to was the judicial calm that prevailed. This despite keen differences of opinion, apparently steamed up by mutual feelings of outrage.

The chief justice and his colleague did tangle in open court. They spoke with some heat. But discipline and control were the watchwords. Not long after the exchange, the two were conversing without apparent rancor.

The incident is instructive. Most of us, when involved in a controversy about which we have strong feelings, are likely to be mastered by emotion before many words have been said. The hot blood rises, and soon we are saying things both stupid and unfair instead of holding to rational argument. The trick of disagreeing without being disagreeable is something for everyone, and not only judges, to learn.

'These Days'

HOW MUCH MUST WE LOSE?

There is no use going into a fight unless the intention is to win. To lose is to strengthen the enemy. The only reason why Soviet Russia has defeated the United States in Korea, Cuba, Laos, as we shall lose in other parts of the world, is that the Russians are intent and aggressive whereas the United States prefers to retreat, to abnegate, to avoid direct action, to talk, talk, talk until the vapor of words fills the air.

All this talk of doing nothing about Cuba is childish because if the United States does not do something about Cuba, the Russians, using Cuba as a fortress, will do something about the United States. The logic which produced our defeat in Korea, is producing our defeat in Cuba. The same men who brought about our defeat in Korea are bringing on our defeat in Cuba.

The argument runs that if we protect the United States in Cuba, Soviet Russia will seize Berlin. In fact, Khrushchev said so. The answer to that can only be, "seize and be damned." Those who are afraid are already dead. When a nation shudders at the thought of war, it is already in the process of being conquered.

This is the basis of Soviet strategy against the United States. It is to defeat us step by step without war and to isolate us. In Laos, the British confused us by the proposition that they would act as brokers to effectuate a truce. Meanwhile, the Red Chinese-directed Laotian rebels steadily moved forward. The game is nearly over but the truce is still in the making. Perhaps we shall get around to a truce when the Red Chinese will move into Cambodia and Thailand. Shall we retreat from there, too?

If we have neither the courage nor the technique to defend our word, why don't we quit altogether? The Russians will isolate us in a year or two unless we choose a place to fight them and stop this process. It is our isolation that is their target. The Russians and Red Chinese are building Empire and are not wasting time with petty conversations either at the United Nations or any other conference. While they make speeches, they also march forward.

Their argument is:

"You want to talk, so talk. We have plenty of delegates to send to meetings. Let them talk. It counts for nothing but you Westerners are so bogged down in a swamp of words that you talk because it gives you pleasure, like a debating society in college. You talk to each other and you talk to us. But we are very busy men.

"With us, it is different. We are attending to business. Our business. Your business. It does not matter. We have men for talking and men for acting. If we have a man who jumps on a horse and rides furiously until he comes to a ditch; then he turns around and goes back slowly — if we have such a man, like some of my colleagues were, we send them far away. We do not need those who dare not take the next inevitable step. We get rid of them.

"The West objects that Khrushchev said, 'We will bury you.' So, he talked too much! So what! You are burying yourself by being afraid. And the more afraid you are, the more we will say, Boo!"

And it is all a correct position. Our President has chosen as his advisers those who advised President Roosevelt and President Truman. The results of their period of political activity have thus far been disastrous. During his campaign, President Kennedy said that we had reached a low prestige. He would raise our prestige, but many of those whom he chose to help him raise our prestige were among those who helped lower our prestige.

President John F. Kennedy is nobody's fool. Sooner or later, he will weary of the supercilious advice which he receives from those who are always proved to be wrong by the course of events. He will ask himself why the course of events proves them to be wrong. He will then set up his own policy without the counsellors of defeat. When he does, the United States will again go forward. It will not go forward by retreating.

Give Baby Extra Feedings To Increase Milk Supply

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—"I am 23 years old and the mother of a two-year-old boy. I am husky and strong and made both the basketball and hockey teams while I was at high school. But I was unable to nurse my son and when we put him on a cow's milk formula he broke out with a terrible rash on his face that lasted for months, even after we put him on a goat milk formula. I'm going to have my second child in a few months and I don't want to go through that experience again. Is there anything I can do to increase my milk supply? Is it true that I can get hormone shots like those given cows?

A—I don't know about hormone shots to increase milk secretion in cattle but I do know there is no generally approved product for use in humans. However, a recent study in the Journal of the American Academy of Pediatrics may furnish a much simpler and happier solution to the writer's problem. Briefly stated, a team of doctors from the University of Mississippi Medical School observed the effects of changed frequencies on mother's milk production. What they discovered was just about the opposite of what you might have predicted. "When the number of feedings and the total nursing time were decreased, significantly LESS milk was obtained by the baby.

"But when the number of feedings and the total nursing time were increased, the amount of milk obtained by the baby did not change for 48 hours, but then it rose to the control level observed at the beginning of the study"—that is to say, before noting the effects of decreasing the number of feedings and the total nursing time.

From their studies, the doctors recommended that mothers who wish to increase their milk supply should feed their infants two or three EXTRA times each day.

I hope my correspondent will take heed of this fascinating study. Indeed, the more you think about the results, the surer you are that they're correct in their conclusions. I rather imagine any experienced "wet nurse" could have predicted the outcome in advance.

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON, (NEA)—Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall has asked that oil and gas industry representatives, lobbyists and public relations executives in Washington be solicited to buy $100 tickets or ten tickets for a full table at $1,000 to a dinner honoring President Kennedy here on May 27.

THIS BECAME KNOWN today through an original copy of a circular letter sent to 56 oilmen in the capital by J. K. Evans of Asiatic Petroleum Co., on April 5. Evans maintains offices at 5700 K St., N. W., but the letter was sent out on one of his personal letterheads from his residence at 3005 Normanstonestone Drive, N. W. A copy of the letter has just come into the possession of this writer, and is reproduced in adjoining columns.

Interest in this letter centers in the fact that most of the U. S. government's oil and gas programs are administered by the Department of Interior, headed by Secretary Udall of Arizona.

At the bottom of the letter is a stenographer's file line, "cc: The Honorable Stuart L. Udall," indicating that a copy of the letter was sent to him. But the opening paragraph of the letter clearly associates the secretary with the solicitation.

At the top of the letter are the names of the 56 oil and gas men to whom it was sent.

After the letters were mailed out, somebody must have had a twinge of doubt or conscience about them, for an effort was made to call them back or have them destroyed.

THIS IS THE THIRD BIT of trouble Udall has become involved in during his first 100 days in office. Shortly after he was sworn in, he admitted that he had urged some of his former congressional colleagues in the House to vote for the proposed Rules Committee reorganization.

In a recent television interview Udall declared the Cuban Invasion plan had been made during the Eisenhower administration. He was severely criticized by Republicans for attempting to blame the Cuban fiasco on Eisenhower.

The Evans letter to oil and gas men is almost certain to backfire on Udall. As one prominent Republican declares, "If we had attempted anything like this, everybody would have jumped all over us."

The Kennedy administration is already under criticism for failing to include any provision for reducing oil and gas depletion allowances in its new tax reform program.

Revelation of the existence of the Evans letter just a few days after President Kennedy's message to Congress recommending a new code of ethics for government officials seems certain to be mentioned by GOP critics.

HERE IS A LIST of names of 56 oil and gas men at the top of the letter, and their business affiliations:

Curtis Morris, American Gas Assn.; Fred M. McIntyre, American Natural Gas System; L. H. Welsh, American Oil Co.; John E. Kane and Frank L. Minimum-Wage 'Victory' Seen as Business Setback

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, May 4—The possibility of a setback in business is not a pleasant thing to discuss. But what has just been hailed as a "victory" for President Kennedy, when Congress passed the new minimum-wage bill, could turn out to be a measure that actually prolongs the present recession.

Up to now, it has always been thought to be the better part of wisdom to keep wage rates stable during a recession and wait for better times. But the Democrats in Congress have just taken a step which not only affects the 24,000,000 workers who are covered by minimum-wage but provides labor unions with the excuse to start a demand for a general wage increase.

Spurs Wage Demands

Instead of permitting the nation to treat the wounds it has received as a result of the dislocation of the national economy by the steel strike, the unions which have the support of the Kennedy administration now have driven ahead to start a wave of wage increases.

The larger businesses will not be hurt as much as will small business. The new minimum-wage law will cause the loss of jobs to many persons now employed. Small businesses generally will not be able to pay the increased wage and will have to cut down the number of their employes.

Layoffs Ahead

Congress knew that a serious disruption would occur and did heed the pleas of some small businesses when laundry workers and cotton-gin employes were exempted from the provisions of the proposed law. There is no doubt that small businesses will have to lay off employes so as to meet the higher payroll imposed on an already narrow margin of profit.

It was something of a surprise to see the House vote go up to 230 from the 216 affirmative votes cast on March 24. The opposition vote dropped from 203 to 196. What caused this shift?

The answer is that the administration played its political cards shrewdly especially among House members from the South. The White House announced the other day that it is going to do something to alleviate the woes of the textile industry by providing quotas on foreign imports. This interests the South. Likewise, cotton-gin employes were exempted. This also helped to win southern votes.

Laundries Exempt

A concession was also made to operators of laundries by exempting their workers. Though this hurts Negro employes, the result nevertheless was to gain votes in the South. The whole incident is being pictured as a blow to the coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats. Apparently the Administration has the political wherewithal to break down the Democratic party's conservatives in the South. The significance of what has just happened is that, by throwing a bone here and there, a number of votes in the House were obtained by the Administration for the minimum-wage bill.

The first of a series of increases will go into effect within four months for at least 2,500,000 workers. The proprietors of the business establishments involved will have to begin soon to make provision for the increased compensation, and this will mean considerable readjustment. For something more than a wage increase for the regular work week is involved. The rate goes up also on the time-and-a-half basis for overtime.

Affects Other Wage Scales

Perhaps the biggest consequence will come in handling wage scales above the minimum. Differentials are maintained between different worker classes. Hence, when the minimum goes up, it affects workers all along the line above the minimum, too. This is hardly the opportune moment for readjusting wage scales on a broad basis. But the Administration has plowed ahead irrespective of consequences. The unemployment compensation rolls will soon tell the story in increased applicants.

But shouldn't the minimum wage be increased? Certainly there is every reason for providing higher and higher compensation for everyone who has to face the decreasing purchasing power of the dollar. But there is a good time for such an adjustment and a bad time. Recession months are not an occasion for further deterioration of the employment rolls. The period should be used to build a sound and stable economy so that wage increases will be paid out of an expanding prosperity and increased national growth.

The tragic part of the story is that, when the present recession drags or is followed after a brief recovery by another dip, the cry will be for more spending by government. Yet the incentives so essential to a genuine recovery are being neglected and the drift is toward more and more makeshift remedies and distortions of the wage structure.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

It is often surprising for me what subjects bring response from the readers. James Rigney Jr. of 2 South Washington Avenue first loaned me the "Poems of Henry Abbey" which was published here in Kingston. Attorney Henry Klein had just come in and he said he liked Abbey's poem, "May in Kingston."

Then I received a letter from Mrs. Joseph Welch of Brooklyn, who asked for a poem about a mother and sons. I did not know this Abbey Poem, so received a card from Henry Klein who said it was "Ballad of Consolation" on page 69.

Now Miss Ella Reynolds of 40 Kiersted Avenue phoned me, she is looking for the column in which I mention Mrs. Welch and Abbey's poems. She sends these columns to Mrs. Joseph Welch, who was formerly Helen Anglin of Ponckhockie.

"Ballad of Consolation" is a very long poem. Here is one on page 11 called "Recompense," I liked. Perhaps it is written about Abbey's neighborhood. It starts: "In spring, two robins from the southern lands, Built a brown nest upon an unsafe limb. Of the large tree that by my window stands, And every morn they praised God with a hymn; And when a certain season passed away, Five light-green eggs within the building lay."

Abbey further wrote, (before 1885) "Above the rush and clatter of the street, Devotedly was guarded each green trust, And the round house was an abode most sweet, Roofed with expectant wings: . . . But one dread day, before the sun went down, A cloud arose, a black and monstrous hand, That robbed the sunset of its golden crown."

Abbey then described our wild summer thunderstorms which will always be with us: "The portals of the storm were opened wide, And pealing thunder rolled on every side. Then was it some unchained, malicious gust, Broke off the limb on which the nest was stayed, And to the ground the tender dwelling thrust, The birds, dismayed, Were shrill with grief, and beat the moving air, With wings whose frantic whir was like despair."

"At dawn," Abbey continued, "My friends who live across the way, Sent me the whisper that their child was dead: And, when they led to where the body lay—The free, winged spirit's shell, untimely shed—And the wild cries of their distress I heard, My sympathy again was deeply stirred."

"Yet grief is but a cloud that soon is past; Hither the mated robins came once more, And built, with cunning architecture, fast, In the same tree besides my friendly door; And in the soft-floored building could be seen, Five sources of sweet music, new and clean."

And the poet's last verse reads: "Time passed, and to the good home opposite, Another babe was born, and all the love, That was bereft that fierce and stormy night, Fell to the latter child as from above: And in the nest five yellow mouths one day, Of their impatient hunger made display."

The first printing of this book of poems by Abbey was in 1886. I own a copy of Henry Abbey's poems through the graciousness of Tom Walsh, a dealer of Hudson River and Ulster County history books of 37 Boulevard, Kingston.

Excellent, Word On Jail Check

A very complimentary report on the condition of the Ulster County Jail has been submitted by Richard E. Woodward, senior inspector, State Commission of Correction, following an inspection made on February 16, 1961.

The general condition and supervision of the jail was found to be excellent and the manner or administrating the affairs of the office by Sheriff Claude Bell and the maintenance of records as required by regulations was found to be excellent.

One Recommendation

One recommendation is contained in the report, that of providing additional space so that there may be proper classification of prisoners during periods of high population.

The report states that the county officials should "give serious consideration to providing adequate detention facilities so that the sheriff will not be obliged to violate the Correction Law in regard to classification."

This recommendation arises out of lack of space in the jail at times of high population and makes references to a portion of the jail has never been equipped with cells.

In his report, Woodard recommends that consideration be given to this fourth or top tier which has the corridor grating but no cells. He suggests the county officials give this consideration "as there is no indication that it (jail population) will decrease in the foreseeable future."

Under present conditions at the jail in times of high population, the report states, prisoners are classified by utilizing the "flats" as a domitory, allowing five inmates to sleep in the basement room and having tier men sleep in the cell room.

Some Thought on Cost

Some consideration has been given as regards the cost of completing the cells on the fourth tier, or constructing a wing on the present structure, the report states.

Custodial staff consists of the undersheriff, who is at the jail during the daytime, a jailer or assistant jailer and two deputies on each of the three eight hour tours of duty. Three officers are on duty at all hours and on Thursdays, Saturdays and Sundays, there are four men on all shifts. A matron is in attendance whenever a female is detained. There are four deputies who care for the reliefs on all tours and the personnel work forty hours, five day weeks.

At the time of the inspection there was a total population of 39 inmates. There were 16 adult males, one minor and one female serving sentence and 13 male adults, seven minors and one female awaiting court action.

Records in Orderly Manner

At the time of inspection all records were being kept in "orderly manner" and prisoners were properly classified in accordance with the Correction Law but at or near capacity it is "necessary to place cots on the "flats" at the rear of the first floor cell sections, the report states.

All areas of the jail were inspected and found "in a clean and orderly condition." Bedding, cells and sanitary facilities were "satisfactory." The cells were found free of unnecessary articles and all inmates were provided with neat institution uniforms on admission.

The report comments on the clean, newly painted condition of the jail and the good quality of food served inmates. Posted menus indicated a variety of food being served.

Keys Properly Handled

All keys to the jail were "properly handled" when not in use and all safety devices and manner of deputies entering the jail received approval. Manner of receiving visitors in smuggle-proof visiting booths on Tuesdays and Saturdays were also approved.

Storage of personal articles of inmates, censorship of mail and other routine matters including freedom of prisoners in exercise corridors until 9:30 p. m. when they are locked in their cells and lights are extinguished, were also referred to.

Female prisoners are properly detained with the key to the quarters in possession at all times of the matron.

Bares New Terror At Eichmann Trial

JERUSALEM, Israel (AP) — The terror of the "Einsatzgruppen," the Nazi death commandos who rounded up the Jews during World War II for bloody massacres, was resurrected today by prosecution witnesses in the trial of Adolf Eichmann.

Atty. Gen. Gideon Hausner told the court he had evidence that "Eichmann's department was in the very center of this plan."

An official report on the Einsatzgruppen activities in the Baltic, made by Eichmann's "old friend" Franz Walter Stahlbecker, was introduced by Hausner as evidence.

Boy of 14 at Time

He said the report spoke of killing more than 100,000 Jews as if it were "speaking of the canning of sardines or of herring."

Testimony on an Einsatzgruppen operation in Poland came from Abraham Aviel, who said he was a boy of 14 when the Germans occupied his village near Radom, Poland.

"In April 1942, the Germans closed off the ghetto," Aviel said. "About 100 Jews were given spades and were marched off to the west. My father was in that group. After about half an hour we heard automatic weapons fired.

"We knew what was in store for us, but there was nothing we could do. Then a second group was marched off. This included my brother. I tried to join him. The Germans would not let me. Hours went by. I tried to hide my family in the attic."

Eventually, Aviel said, the Germans discovered his family and they all were marched out to join about 1,000 other Jews who were led away to a graveyard.

"When we got there, we were told to kneel, heads down.

"I was small so I could raise my head without being discovered. In front of me there was a large trench, about 30 yards long. People were made to undress on the edge of the trench. Then there was a machine gun burst.

"I saw a group of Jews digging graves. My brother was among them. I saw him. At that moment I thought, 'One must survive so he can tell what happened.'

Killed as Partisans

"I jumped forward. I managed to reach the end of the road."

Aviel said he joined his brother on the grave-digging detail and succeeded in returning to the ghetto. A few days later the two fled to the woods where they met their father.

His father and brother were later killed as partisans, Aviel said.

Rocky Never Played, So No Bingo Comment

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — "I've never played bingo, so I wouldn't know," Gov. Rockefeller said Thursday when asked what he thought of the game.

The question was put to the governor at a news conference at which he announced his administration would investigate criminal infiltration into bingo.

Asked how he had voted on the 1957 constitutional amendment that legalized bingo, Rockefeller said he did not recall.

"But," he added, "my hunch is that I avoided it."

Saugerties Board

& Larios, consulting engineers for the town and an engineer from the development corporation agreed on what must be done before the roads can be accepted by the town. The main objection of the town to acceptance was the installation of culverts under each driveway and deep ditches along the edge of the pavement, Supervisor Williams said. This created a dangerous condition for both cars and residents, the supervisor said.

The town asked for removal of the culverts and regrading of driveways and lawns, and the installation of a shallow paved ditch for drainage.

Supervisor Williams told the delegation that Brinnier and Larios of Kingston are in the process of preparing specifications for the work prior to advertising for bids.

Discuss Fire Coverage

The board discussed a letter received from Saugerties Village Board advising that a group of residences on Upper Esopus Creek Road and Oakledge Park are in an unprotected fire area and will not be covered by the village fire department. The area, outside the village includes 20 or 30 residences. The residents of that area must act by petition to secure fire protection and have options available to to them. They may petition to become a part of the village corporation, which would require an act of the State Legislature; they may form a fire protective district and purchase protection from the village or the adjacent Centerville Fire District, or they may petition to become a part of Centerville Fire District. The area is believed too small to support its own volunteer fire company.

Both village and Centerville fire companys have been reluctant to cover fires in the area because it is out of their assigned districts and firemen responding in the unprotected area are not covered by the blanket insurance policy provided for volunteers.

In other business, Charles Tiano of Flatbush was named to the town constable's staff.

Pope Receives Queen

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII today received Queen Elizabeth II in audience and told her that her visit crowned the friendly relations that have existed between the Holy See and Great Britain since the start of the century.

It was the second meeting between Elizabeth—who is temporal head of the Church of England—and a Pope of the Roman Catholic Church. Pope Pius XII received her and her husband, Prince Philip, in private audience in 1951, before she succeeded to the throne.

Philip accompanied her to the audience today.

Hippo Kills, Gives Birth

LONDON (AP)—Fifi, the Whipsnade Zoo female hippopotamus, killed her 5,000-pound mate Neville and then gave birth to an 85-pound bull calf.

Fifi, who weighs 4,500 pounds herself, apparently was made irritable by the approaching birth. She broke Neville's back.

Copter Fall Kills

landed on the gulf at 4:05 p.m. having run into trouble on descent. When the balloonists had dropped to an altitude of about 40,000 feet the rate suddenly and alarmingly had increased to 1,000 feet a minute, according to information relayed to Washington from the carrier.

Prather and Ross jettisoned everything, a Navy spokesman said, including their radio and a drag line which would have been a key facility in an attempt to land aboard the carrier. Loss of the drag line made the planned landing on the carrier impossible, the Navy said.

Navy officials reported the gondola landed on the water "almost perfectly" and that the huge balloon detached itself as it had been designed to do. While the gondola floated on the surface, about 1½ miles from the Antietam, the three helicopters raced toward the balloonists.

As Prather was being hoisted into the helicopter he fell from the sling. He was encumbered with a spacesuit and instrumentation weighing about 25 pounds when dry.

A Navy statement said Prather fell backward into the water and went under when the pressurized suit apparently became water-logged. The accident occurred about 140 miles south-southeast of Pensacola, Fla.

Remained Unconscious

Prather was pulled back to the still floating gondola in a few minutes by a Navy skin diver, who had dropped from one of the helicopters. Then, Prather was removed to the carrier in a motorized whale boat. He was unconscious when pulled from the water and apparently never regained consciousness before dying aboard the carrier about an hour and 20 minutes after being pulled from the water.

An autopsy was begun at the Naval Air Station at Pensacola, Fla.

Camera Thieves

Leonard Ellsworth with Officers James Scott, Robert Bonesteel, Leon Fitzgerald and Weston Hoffay were assigned to comb the area. One of the men was described as stout and the other as slender.

Last night one report noted that a car with four occupants was seen in the parking lot of the Governor Clinton Market off St. James Street. Another by Officer Sheldon O'Rourke said two men were loitering suspiciously near Lehr's Sterling Market, 36 Sterling Street.

Escapes From Car

The latter two, the report said, wore khaki or light beige jackets, and it was said they entered a yellow or cream colored car with others inside and "took off."

Officers Edward Edwards and Thomas Coffey later reported spotting two men, one on the sidewalk and the other near one side of the Lehr market. They caught one, put him in the rear of the car and he escaped out the opposite door, ran through back yards and was pursued by the officers, but they lost him in the darkness.

Report About

screaming for food, and fighting their way through a litter of filth and excrement for a chance to use the few toilets. Many became ill. At least three typhoid cases were reported.

Reports from those who saw it in person say that at one point the prisoners tried to rise up against their militia guards. Several shots were fired into the crowd. Two prisoners were wounded, but this failed to quiet the detainees.

Then bloodhounds and police dogs were paraded across the stage, and the militiamen threatened to turn the dogs on the prisoners if they failed to quiet down.

The prisoners attempted another uprising, overwhelming some militia guards and seizing their weapons. But later young Castro militiamen entered the Blanquita to serve as guards, and met no trouble. Finally, in desperation, the detainees threatened to burn the theater and everyone in it if they were not given food and some decent sanitation. Shortly afterward Castro authorities began freeing some of those under detention and taking others elsewhere.

matter of FACT

Presidential electors once voted for a dead man. Horace Greeley died shortly after the general election of 1872. When the Electoral College met, most of the 66 votes pledged to Greeley transferred to other men. But three loyal supporters stood by the great abolitionist—even in death—though the votes weren't counted.

government's determination to nail down the cease-fire proclaimed Wednesday before entering into negotiations on a coalition government for Laos and the divided kingdom's representation at the coming Geneva conference.

The Pathet Lao rebel commander agreed to a meeting at noon on the north side of the Nam Lik River, in a no-man's land within range of Communist guns and 50 miles north of Vientiane.

The Vientiane government instructed its delegation to arrange a political conference if details of the cease-fire were settled.

JFK Undecided on CIA

Dulles, 68, May Be Around Longer in Washington Post

EDITORS: The author of the following story, which includes interpretive material, is a veteran diplomatic reporter for The Associated Press.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Allen W. Dulles, Washington's grandfatherly master spy, may have a longer lease on his official life than many people here thought immediately after the Cuban invasion failure.

This possibility arises because inquiry at the highest levels of the government now strongly indicates President Kennedy has not yet decided what he wants to do with the embattled Central Intelligence Agency. Dulles 68, is head of the agency and his fate is closely linked with its future.

What does now appear to be highly probable if not absolutely certain, is a violent shakeup of the whole complex of foreign undercover activities carried on by many divisions of the federal government. CIA is the top, coordinating outfit but others exist in the military services and in other civilian agencies.

Kennedy now has appointed two boards to tell him what to do about the CIA and related operations. The first headed by retired Army Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor was named April 22. It was assigned to survey on a grand scale U.S. intelligence, semimilitary and guerrilla warfare capabilities.

The second board is actually a reorganized agency originally created by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower about six years ago. Kennedy selected Dr. James R. Killian Jr. to direct this group, which will serve as an advisory committee on all intelligence activities.

Inquiries among high administration officials in position to know the views of all the principal figures in this political drama produced the following information on these points today:

1. President Kennedy "at the moment" has no plan to make any change in Dulles' assignment. This does not mean any reassurance to Dulles about the future; it means that Kennedy is awaiting the results of the surveys he has ordered. The Taylor study is due to report in mid-June.

2. Dulles himself likes his job and has no intention of resigning or retiring, especially under fire.

3. Atty. Gen. Kennedy has no plans for going into intelligence work himself and has told friends that there is nothing to reports he may succeed Dulles.

Proposes Public Inspection of City Water Supply

A proposed public inspection of the city's water supply system was discussed by the water board Thursday night.

The board set May 21 as the date of its own and department officials' tour of the system. The public inspection proposal was made by Commissioner Donald R. Hyatt, and will be discussed further by the board.

Herbert Faurote, chairman of the committee, said the supper will be held Saturday at the firehouse in Bloomington. It will be served from 5 to 8 p. m. and the public has been invited to attend. Serving on the committee with Faurote: Cooks, Leslie Evory, John Markle, Harold Nichols and Joseph Hafner; waiters, Oscar Hahn, William vonOhlen, Charles Peterson, George Hafner, Donald Sagar, Raymond LeFever and Knneth Taylor; clean-up, Albert Schmidt Jr., and Howard Slover.

Conduct Wash Service

It was also reported at the meeting that response to the company's car washing service has been most gratifying. Every Saturday throughout the spring and summer, volunteers will continue the service. Cars are accepted from 12 noon until 4 p. m. each week and an appointment is not necessary. Pick up and delivery is also available by contacting any fireman. In case of rain, the service is automatically canceled for that day.

Chief Oscar Hahn reported that Bloomington responded to two calls during April.

He also reminded the volunteers of the drill at Stewart Air Force Base in Newburgh Sunday, May 21. He stated that all firemen should meet at the firehouse at 10:30 a. m. The drill will begin at 12 noon with an hour of classroom theory and continue on the field with actual fires. He advised each member to bring lunch and to wear old clothes, helmets, boots and raincoats.

Five Units Participating

Bloomington is participating in this drill together with the other members of the Township of Rosendale Volunteer Firemen's Association which include Tillson, Rosendale, Cottekill and Binnewater.

As all five companies of the association are participating in the drill, the association will not conduct its own drill this month but the series will continue in June with Bloomington conducting the next local drill.

A report was given that after a recess of two months, the Bloomington Fire Company Concert Band is again rehearsing Wednesday evenings at the firehouse at 7 p. m. All members of the band are requested to report this Wednesday evening. It was also stated that there are still openings in the band for interested musicians. There is no age limit and everyone is welcome. The only requirement for membership is that the applicant has an instrument. Director Barry Leavey said the band plans a spring concert shortly.

President Fred Sauer reported that Bloomington volunteers are currently planning a donkey baseball game with the tentative date set as July 23. The game will be played against the Rosendale Fire Company at Sportsmen's Park in Rosendale at 2:30 in the afternoon. Proceeds from the game would be placed in the special apparatus fund of the organization.

Instruct Auxiliary

Faurote announced that recently several members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the company had attended a meeting at which he demonstrated the use of the organization's inhalator. The ladies were also given a demonstration of artificial respiration by Joseph Hafner. Hafner explained the mouth to mouth method of resuscitation. It was explained that in the event of an emergency when only a lady might be available, she should know how to use the inhalator and give artificial respiration should it be necessary.

At the conclusion of the meeting, a prayer in memory of a recently deceased member, Floyd Evory, was offered by the chaplain, the Rev. Richard Brown of Bloomingdale Reformed Church, and refreshments were served.

Pressure for Legislation Ineffective

Rule on Grand Jury Secrecy, Except On Indictments, Likely to Remain

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — New York's Legislature is unlikely to reopen the door for grand juries to issue critical reports containing no indictments, it appeared today.

This was the outlook, despite pressure for legislation that, in effect, would overrule a recent decision by the Court of Appeals.

Controversy and confusion followed the decision, which held that grand juries in the state had no right to comment or report on investigations that had not led to formal accusations of crime.

The confusion is caused by dispute over the actual extent of the court's decision.

Silence on Those Cleared

On the theory that the opinion of the state's highest court prohibited a Grand Jury from announcing anything but indictments, one judge refused to publicize names of persons cleared by a grand jury, although the names had been made public when the persons were arrested.

Other judges disputed this interpretation.

The Court of Appeals handed down its decision—reached by a 4-3 vote—on February 23.

Majority Report

Judge Marvin R. Dye, writing for the majority, said:

"In the public mind, accusation by report is indistinguishable from accusation by indictment . . .

"The Grand Jury report. . .carries the same sense of authoritative condemnation as an indictment does, without, however, according the accused the benefit of the protections accorded to one who is indicted."

The Other Side

Chief Judge Charles S. Desmond wrote for the minority: "Nothing is more hostile to the central spirit of American philosophy than to allow any public officer to suppress and bury a relevant, non-scandalous commentary on public affairs by an authorized body of citizens."

These conflicting points of view are the basic, public arguments of those still debating the court decision.

The opponents hope for legislation that will spell out in the law, safe from any judicial challenge, that grand juries have the right to issue reports calling public attention to what they consider undesirable situations, regardless of whether there are grounds for indictments.

The Grand Jury Assn. of New York County (Manhattan) has announced it will seek that legislation next year. Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan of that county says he will support it.

Will Try to Get Report

Sen. MacNeil Mitchell, R-Manhattan, has said he will introduce legislation to allow grand juries to report.

But the Legislature's Republican majority leaders seem disinclined to act.

Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino and Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney are the two men who would have the most to say about whether such a bill would be passed.

Carlino says he agrees in general with the court decision. "The job of a Grand Jury is to indict or not to indict," the speaker said in an interview.

Mahoney holds there are arguments on both sides and has taken no stand. But in 1946, Mahoney sponsored a bill that would have put into law what the court said 15 years later—that grand juries not indicting may not report.

Must Not Impair

Thomas E. Dewey, then governor, vetoed the Mahoney bill. He said the institution of the grand jury must neither be impaired nor whittled away.

The 1961 Legislature had ample time after the court decision to enact any legislation it wished on the subjects of Grand Jury reports. But the lawmakers took no action, nor was the question discussed at legislative sessions.

Whether the results of the court's decision will change the prospects remains to be seen.

Immediate Development

Here are some of the immediate developments resulting from the decision:

In Buffalo, a grand jury that had investigated gambling for more than a year was unable to issue a final report.

In New York City, a general sessions judge told a grand jury: "Under no circumstances are you to consider the submission to this court of any. . .report relating to the conduct of any person. . .If such person's conduct falls short of a commission of a crime so as not to justify the filing of an indictment or information, then your duties as grand jurors end."

These judicial developments were a new twist in the centuries-old tradition of the grand jury as an instrument of justice.

The grand jury was created originally to protect individuals from unjust prosecution by kings.

The jury screened charges for their validity. It still carries out that function.

But juries also have evolved into agencies that often initiate charges themselves in the wake of investigations into corruption in public office, gambling and racketeering.

Judge, DA Ask Man Be Spared, Doubt on Shot

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The judge who sentenced a 21-year-old man to death and the district attorney's office that prosecuted the case have asked Gov. Rockefeller to spare his life.

The appeals were in behalf of Luis Rosario, sentenced to die next Thursday night in the electric chair in Sing Sing Prison for the holdup slaying of Philip Schickler, 65, in his delicatessen store in New York City.

Rockefeller reserved decision Thursday after a clemency hearing for Rosario.

Judge Mitchell D. Schweitzer of General Sessions Court of New York City, who imposed the mandatory death penalty upon a jury's conviction, and the New York County district attorney's office, asked for clemency.

Assistant Dist. Atty. Richard G. Denzer said the prosecution was not certain that Rosario, one of three men who participated in the holdup, had fired the fatal shot.

The other two men were sentenced to prison terms.

Denzer said the jury apparently accepted the word of a witness who said Rosario had told him he (Rosario) had fired the shot. Rosario denied it.

Think It Through

By E. F. HUTTON

MR. ROOSEVELT TO MR. KENNEDY

Dear Jack:

You will, of course, remember that I have said:

"We are not getting an adequate return for the money we are spending in Washington, or to put it another way, we are spending altogether too much money for Government services that are neither practical nor necessary. We are attempting too many functions.

E. F. Hutton

"If we do not halt this steady process of building commissions and regulatory bodies and special legislation like huge inverted pyramids over every one of the simple Constitutional provisions, we shall soon be spending many billions of dollars more.

"I ask you very simply to assign to me the task of reducing the annual operating expenses of your national government. We must move with a direct and resolute purpose now.

"Taxes are paid in the sweat of every man who labors because they are a burden on production and are paid through production. If taxes are excessive, they are reflected in idle factories, in tax-sold farms, and in hordes of hungry people, tramping the streets and seeking jobs in vain.

"If the Nation is living within its income, its credit is good. But if, like a spendthrift, it is willing to make no sacrifice at all in spending; if it extends its taxing to the limit of the people's power to pay and continues to pile up deficits, then it is on the road to bankruptcy. Stop the deficits."

Faithfully yours,
F. D. R.

Veterans Fail To Notify VA of Address Changes

George M. Vadas, manager of the Veterans Administration Albany Regional Office, notified F. William Sheehan, Officer in Charge of the local VA five-county office, that a problem involving all Veterans Administration beneficiaries in this area gradually becoming a serious one for his office.

Vadas pointed out that, month after month, checks are returned to the Veterans Administration as undeliverable because the vetern, his widow, or beneficiary has moved. During the past month in the Albany Regional Office area checks totaling over $5,000 were returned. This not only causes additional time-consuming action on the finance activities of the Veterans Administration but also creates a hardship on many beneficiaries who need and plan on timely receipts of their checks.

The solution to the problem is a simple one—VA beneficiaries should immediately notify the Albany Regional Office or the local VA Office, Main Post Office Building, Kingston, of their change of address. This cannot be accomplished by a telephone call but requires written verification over the signature of the beneficiary.

In addition, Vadas advised, beneficiaries should at the same time file a change of address form with their local post office.

Gotham to Check On Day Line's Lease of Pier

NEW YORK (AP) — The city Department of Marine and Aviation is investigating the Hudson River Day Line's 10-year lease of a city-owned pier at West 41st Street.

Commissioner Vincent A. G. O'Connor says his department's inquiry is "complicated and detailed" and covers the entire period of the lease which has just expired.

The investigation, revealed Thursday, is expected to be completed within a day or two.

George Sanders, president of the excursion boat line, was questioned last week before the State Investigation Commission.

An investigation of city pier leases led to disclosure that Sanders, a friend of Mayor Robert F. Wagner, was one of a group which paid the hotel bill for Wagner's political headquarters during the Democratic National Convention last year in Los Angeles.

Wagner and Sanders denied that either ever sought or received a favor involving the city.

Geneva Proposes Sampson Base as Peace Corps Use

WASHINGTON (AP) — Residents of Geneva, N.Y., have suggested that the former Sampson Air Force Base near that city be used as a training site for recruits of the Peace Corps, but there's a snag in the plan.

The General Services Administration says it has no more surplus land at Sampson.

New York State took over most of the old base last year for park purposes. The federal government retained some for use by the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization.

Geneva residents offered the suggestions to Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., who passed them along to Peace Corps headquarters.

Other former military installations also have been advanced as possible sites for the corps.

Backers of Sampson, a Keating aide said, pointed out that the location was within reach of Hobart Collage and Cornell, Syracuse and Rochester universities, where recruits could learn foreign languages.

Historic Day Starts Early for Astronaut

Less Tension, Expectancy Following Weather Delay

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Astronaut Alan B. Shepard Jr., dressed in his silver space suit, started for the launch pad early today for a history-making rocket flight into space.

Shepard, 37, a blue-eyed New Englander, stepped from his special quarters at 3:58 a.m. Eastern Standard Time and walked through a flood-lit lane formed by newsmen, base workers, and security officers.

First Appearance

Eleven paces from the door of hanger "S", Shepard, a Navy commander, climbed into a white and blue van, attended by his doctor and various technicians. The big vehicle promptly drove off toward the launching site about 3½ miles away.

This was Shepard's first public appearance since he and his backup pilot, Marine Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr., 39, were put under wraps last weekend.

The first scheduled space flight by an American was postponed last Tuesday because of bad weather and Shepard never appeared at that time.

Though the event was no less epochal than last Tuesday, there was less tension and expectancy today among the small band gathered outside hangar "S". This was because everybody knew the identify of the space trail-blazing astronaut.

The first U.S. space explorer was bound for his 115-mile-high trip into near space 23 days after Soviet Air Force Maj. Yuri Gagarin orbited the earth in a 5-ton space craft.

Momentous Day

On this momentous day in his life—and in history—Shepard was awakened at 1:05 a.m. In his double deck bunk on the second floor of hangar "S", backup pilot Glenn was roused at the same time. They had retired at 10:30 p.m. without sedation after watching television for a while.

First came a shower and a shave. Then Shepard donned long white underwear with big spongy patches sewn at the seat, along the thighs and elsewhere to allow circulation of air next to the body.

For about three days before the flight, the pilots had been living on a low-waste diet.

The menu for the final pre-shot breakfast: Filet mignon wrapped in bacon, two poached eggs, dry toast and orange juice.

After breakfast, the space man and his backup walked a few steps down a gallery to the medical room where the physical examination started at 2:25 a.m.

Gets Final Checkup

There, the astronauts' personal physician, Air Force Lt. Col. William K. Douglas, and his assistant, Maj. Carmaul Jackson, checked the men's eyes, ears, nose, throat, heart and lungs. They checked reflexes and took a blood sample.

LESS TENSION —2—

Dr. Douglas commented "as usual, the two are in superb physical condition."

After the checkover, Douglas and his medical aides attached biological sensors to tattoo marks on Shepard's body. These sensors, transmitting signals to ground monitors, indicate how the astronaut reacts to the heavy stresses and weightlessness encountered in his flight.

This done at 2:50 a. m. Shepard — still in his underwear—moved next door to the pressure suit room.

Helped Into Uniform

Here, suit technician Joe W. Schmitt, a slender man from O'Fallon, Tex., helped the astronaut into the special space uniform. This is a rubber garment coated with a silver spray intended to serve as an additional heat buffer and radiation shield.

Topping the outfit was a white helmet much like those worn by football players, only bigger. The helmet is fitted with transparent plastic face piece and attaches to a metal ring around the neck of the suit.

His dressing finished, Shepard was strapped into a harness and then he climbed into a form-fitting couch like that inside the capsule. There he lay, looking like a man sitting in a chair that had been tipped on its back.

After the astronaut closed his visor and hoses were hooked up, Schmitt stepped to a control panel and ran the pressure in the suit to five pounds per square inch.

The suit swelled, Shepard moved his arms and flexed his fingers. Schmitt had on a head set and he and the astronaut sealed inside his helmet conversed via a microphone connection as they checked for suit leaks.

All was ready, and Shepard clumped along the long gallery, down a flight of stairs to the van outside. With him he carried a portable air conditioner to cool his suit until he could be hooked into the capsule's cooling system. This unit is called the "black box," although it's actually gray.

Carrier Picks Up Sheppard

mer German rocketeer Dr. Kurt Debus.

Debus was assisted by Dr. Werner Von Braun, head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration space flight laboratory.

The slender rocket, stretching 83 feet tall with the capsule and 15½-foot escape tower on top, flew a true course as it knifed into a clear sky under the anxious eyes of thousands who crammed into missileland to watch as America for the first time committed a man into space.

Millions Watch on TV

Millions of Shepard's countrymen watched on live television.

As the missile accelerated, forces six times the pull of gravity pushed the astronaut against his couch.

At 141 seconds after launch, the capsule separated and the escape tower — designed to jerk the capsule free and parachute it safely to earth in case of trouble—was jettisoned.

Automatic controls then flipped the nine-foot tall capsule over 180 degrees so the blunt heat shield base led the way, with the pilot riding backward.

About four minutes after launch, Shepard tumbled, as if over a precipice, into a weird and weightless world—an exhilarating experience that lasted about five minutes.

Officials did not say whether Shepard had reported on his reactions during the weightless period.

But during the time he would have been weightless, the reports were that he was performing his tasks.

As swiftly as it came, the weightless feeling left and Shepard once again was gripped by G forces—twice the tenacity as on acceleration—as the capsule plunged back toward earth.

The pilot reported he was subjected to 11G's during the reentry period.

Chute Stabilizes Craft

Two minutes after launch, at 40,000 feet, a small parachute opened to stabilize the space craft. At 10,000 feet, a 63-foot main 'chute unfurled to lower the capsule into the water, presumably with no more force than if it had fallen off a 14-foot wall.

Recovery ships in the area reported they sighted the large red and white parachute as it lowered the capsule toward the sea.

Two helicopters from the Lake Champlain rushed immediately to the scene. One lowered a took to raise the capsule upright. It was on its side in the water.

When this was done, Shepard climbed out an escape hatch and was pulled into the other helicopter.

A few minutes later he was on the deck of the carrier.

Walks From Copter

Officials on board reported that he walked from the helicopter under his own power and immediately went to a medical facility below deck.

Due for Hero's Welcome

He is expected to remain there at least 24 hours for extensive examination and psychological tests.

Then he will be flown to Washington, probably Sunday or Monday, for a hero's welcome at the White House from President Kennedy.

He will remain in Washington about 36 hours and then will return to Cape Canaveral for further tests. These will include simulated flights in a mock capsule, so that medical men can compare the results of similar mock flights which he made before today's real thing.

A report from the carrier said Shepard "crawled out of his capsule at sea and was hoisted into a helicopter heading back to the Lake Champlain."

Newsmen Cheer Feat

The capsule later was picked up by a Marine helicopter piloted by Lt. Wayne Koons of Lyons, Kan., with Lt. George Cox of Eustis, Fla., as copilot.

When the rocket roared away from the Cape, the majority of more than 400 newsmen stood up and cheered. They also applauded as each announcement came over the loudspeaker that the flight was progressing smoothly.

Project Mercury officials announced that all rocket and capsule systems performed perfectly.

Riding a column of orange exhaust fire, the reliable Redstone rose into a hazy sky in view of thousands watching from nearby beaches and untold numbers of others over the nation with eyes glued to television screens.

As the rocket blasted off, two F106 jet planes zipped over the cape. At the controls were two other members of the astronaut team, Walter Schirra and Scott Carpenter.

Two Observe Launch

They were to observe the launch from above and then speed to the recovery area to watch operations there.

The rocket shot into a large cloud hanging over the Cape briefly, then the exhaust flame diminished until it became a pinpoint in the sky.

A puff 140 seconds later indicated the booster burned out as planned.

The astronaut reported the fuel system was OK.

Beautiful View'

At the time of launch, Shepard had been in the space cabin four hours, 16 minutes, all but 52 minutes in isolation.

The launch originally was scheduled for 7 a.m. (EST) but was held up several times for weather and technical reasons.

The pilot reported he was switching to manual control. The pilot has manual control of the capsule. Everything still OK.

Shepard said "What a beautiful view."

The pilot reported three to 4-10 cloud cover obscuring the view up to Cape Hatteras.

At 2 minutes and 10 seconds the medical monitor at the control center reported the pilot's condition appears to be excellent.

The pilot is beginning the process of firing his reverse rockets.

"Everything very smooth," he reported.

The No. 1 reverse thrust rocket has fired and the second and third retro rockets fired.

The pilot is preparing to jettison the retrorocket gear. Control center reports excellent voice communication with pilot and medical reports OK.

Reports Gravity Pressure

The retrorocket packet attached to the capsule has been jettisoned.

The Mission Mercury Control Center reported the mission was 6 minutes and 40 seconds old and Shepard reporting in normal procedure of test pilot — automatic control system operating properly.

The spacecraft is beginning to enter the atmosphere and pilot reports beginning of gravity pressure. He is now up to 9 Gs.

"OK," he reported.

Peak gravity forces now but still reporting OK.

All data of the control center is reported excellent.

Pilot reports he is at 30,000 feet on the way down.

The pilot is talking to Grand Bahama Island and they are reading him.

First parachute out.

Pilot reports all systems in the capsule OK.

Control center says pilot OK as he approaches the Atlantic.

The main parachute now has been deployed.

The capsule is now floating to the water 660 seconds from liftoff.

Shepard says he is at 7,000 feet and coming in for landing.

Communications at this point are reporting "little rough." Control center people said they expected this.

Recovery forces downrange report seeing capsule.

30 Feet a Second

The pilot reported he is coming down 30 feet a second.

The control ships reported that the capsule has landed and recovery crafts dispatched.

A helicopter took off and circled the area and is now moving in on it.

The recovery forces reported that helicopter has lifted the capsule into a normal upright position.

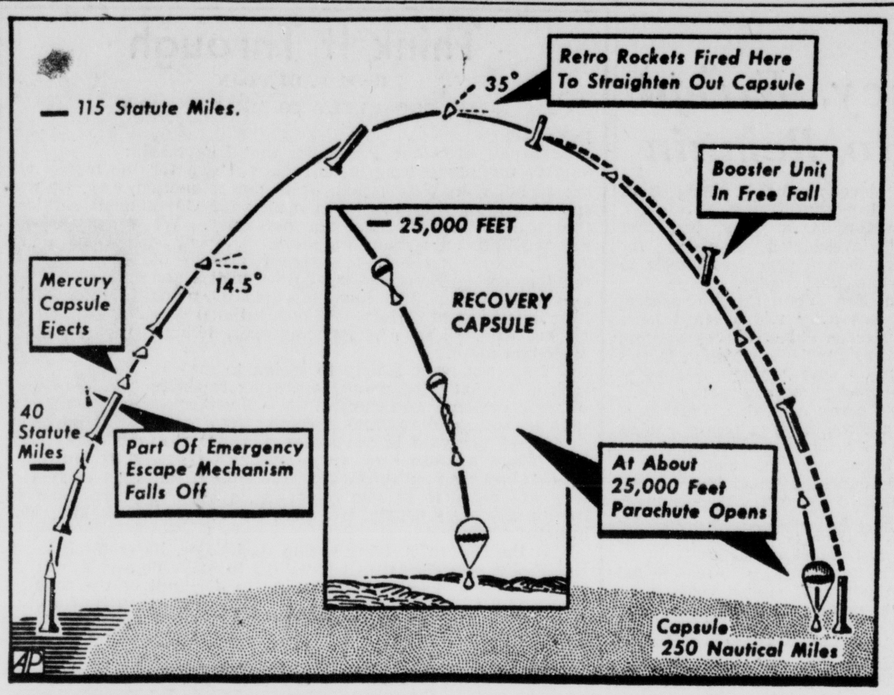
Shepard reports by voice communication he is in contact with recovery craft and he "OK."

Church Group Meets

OSWEGO, N. Y. (AP)—Approximately 300 persons plan to attend the two-day 93rd annual convention of the Episcopal Diocese of Central New York opening at Christ Church here today.

The Rt. Rev. William Crittenden, bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Erie, Pa., will speak after the dinner tonight.

The Rt. Rev. Walter M. Higley, bishop of the Central New York Diocese, will preside at the sessions.



HOW ASTRONAUT WILL MAKE SPACE FLIGHT — Diagram based on one released by NASA shows how astronaut will make space flight from Cape Canaveral. Capsule will make a ballistic arc flight over a 250 nautical mile range, with peak altitude of 115 statute miles. After separation from Redstone launch vehicle, capsule's blunt end is pitched upward to about 14,5 degrees. Angle is upped to 35 degrees for firing of retro rockets. In descent, a small parachute opens before main landing 'chute lowers capsule. (AP Wirephoto)

Some Successes, Failures

Shepard's Flight Got Start 20 Months Ago

By HOWARD CRISWELL Jr.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—On Sept. 9, 1959, an object more fiery than the brightest star flashed across the skies north of Puerto Rico in the early morning darkness.

Near the island of Antigua, it dropped into the Atlantic Ocean and a cloud of steam arose as the 3,000-degree heat of its surface dipped into the cool water. It bobbed in the waves, an odd, bell-shaped thing that had come from space.

Hard Work and Expense

This was the first Project Mercury capsule, a boiler plate model that had ridden an Atlas rocket outside the earth's atmosphere and 1,300 miles away from Cape Canaveral.

Today a man, the first American astronaut, climbed into an improved model of the same capsule for a planned ride 115 miles out into the weightless void of space.

Twenty months of hard work and heavy expense spanned the gap between the flight of the first primitive spacecraft and today's historic launching. They were marked by success and failure, joy and frustration.

The biggest disappointment came April 12, when the Soviet Union won the race into space, hurling a man into orbit.

The first Mercury capsule glowed with the heat of air friction as it plunged from nearly 100 miles back through the atmosphere. But inside its pressurized compartment the temperature never rose above 100 degrees.

Thus the first victory was scored. The problem of combating heat was solved in the first launching.

In later firings, using Little Joe and Redstone rockets, ways were found to eliminate other dangers to potential passengers, and in time two monkeys went aloft in Mercury capsules to show it could be done.

First Step for Orbit

A successful suborbital flight is only one of many steps in the United States' effort to orbit a man around the earth, the object of Project Mercury. Full orbit in the Mercury capsule could come later this year.

As a spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) points out, other suborbital attempts will be made using different astronauts as pilots, even before the attempt at full orbit is made.

Project Mercury is a big project, the ideas behind it are big, the money involved is big and the people running it are among the best in their field.

The $500-million Mercury program started 2½ years ago. The money estimate includes the cost of the entire program. from the first design to the program's final orbital flight.

JFK Salutes Astronaut

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy saluted the successful flight today of America's first astronaut and at the same time urged redoubled efforts to push America's vital space program.

The chief executive talked by telephone and radio with Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard Jr., who soared into space and safely back to a landing at sea.

Kennedy voiced his personal congratulations, received assurances from Shepard that "everything worked just about perfectly," and said he was looking forward to seeing the Navy commander here in Washington.

The White House said the meeting probably will be at the executive mansion Monday morning.

Kennedy issued a statement praising the accomplishment and promising to share with the world the scientific material obtained from the flight.

Area Engineers To Attend Parley

Processes and techniques in the manufacture of postage meters, vacuum cleaners, and cigar-making machines will be seen by many local engineers attending the 1961 convention of the American Society of Tool and Manufacturing Engineers, May 22 to 26, in New York City.

The valuable educational experience of seeing industry in action prompted the ASTME to schedule nine tours to local and metropolitan plants during the convention, Harry E. Conrad, general manager of ASTME said.

Hosts to the touring engineers wil be the Brooklyn Navy Yard, Electrolux Corp., Ford Motor Co. Mahwah Plant, Fred Heinzelman & Sons, Pitney-Bowes, Inc., American Machine & Foundry Co., Lycoming Division of Avco Corp., IBM, and Adamas Carbide Corp.

The tour of the IBM plant at Poughkeepsie will be Thursday, May 25 from 8:30 a. m. to 5:30 p. m.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — America's successful man-in-space rocket shoot lifted an irregular stock market to a moderate gain in active trading early this afternoon. Some missile-rocket-electronics issues spurted.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .60 at 247.30 with industrials up 1.10, rails unchanged and utilities up .30.

Gains of fractions to a point outbalanced losers in the over-all market. Chemicals were ahead from the start and gave the list its only substantial leadership.

McDonnell Aircraft, prime contractor for the Mercury astronaut project which thrust America's first space man aloft, was the best gainer in its group, rising more than 3 points at best before paring a point from the advance.

Nixon Readies First Broadside On JFK Regime

By ARTHUR EDSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Richard M. Nixon heads west today, ready for his first broadside attack on the Kennedy administration.

The former vice president has been reticent on what he intends to say about the man who barely beat him out of the White House. But his choice of topics for the next six days shows he will touch all political bases.

His schedule today called for a luncheon speech to the Executives Club of Chicago. Foreign policy, with what Nixon calls constructive suggestions, will be discussed.

Tonight he goes strictly political. He talks to the GOP Citizens League, in Chicago's McCormick Place Theatre, on how Republicans can build a more successful organization.

Ahead are talks on farm policy in Des Moines Saturday and on other domestic and economic issues in Detroit Tuesday and Columbus Wednesday.

Nixon spent Thursday in New York in a manner uncustomary for a politician: Nearly all of his time was behind closed doors.

After his conferences with former President Herbert Hoover and Gen. Douglas MacArthur he gave reporters accounts of the subjects covered. But he also had private appointments that he didn't discuss.

And a dinner Thursday night, given by Gardner Cowles of the Cowles Publications, was off the record.

LBJ Sees Soviet Drive at Peak Next 12 Months

NEW YORK (AP)—Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson says he expects the Communist world offensive to reach its peak during the next 12 to 18 months.

Johnson spoke Thursday night before about 1,500 persons at the annual awards dinner of the Brand Names Foundation in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

The means and methods of the Red offensive, Johnson said, "may well depend upon the Communist conclusions about the resolution of the Free World—and especially of the United States."

Warning that we are in for "a long, hard pull," Johnson said the have flexibility and freedo — — Kennedy administration must have flexibility and freedom of action which could come only from bipartisan support.

Johnson, chairman of the new space council, pledged the eventual superiority of the U. S. in space technology.

"I must tell you that the way will not be easy, the road will not be short, and the cost will not be cheap," Johnson said.

After his dinner speech, Johnson returned to Washington.

Herdman, Miller

—the prime target area—a circle 24 miles across.

But to insure against a short rocket shoot, or an over long one, Navy destroyers are strung out like beads from Cape Canaveral to cover the possible landing areas.

Like the Champlain, they carry helicopters to hover over the astronaut in the space capsule and affect recovery.

This ship is only a way station for the astronaut. After two or three hours of questions, he goes onto a full fledged medical station at Grand Bahama Island for 48 hours of tests.

Don't Buy Stocks for Quick Six-Month Gain

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "I have $7,000 in savings and $3,000 in a pension plan that I could borrow from. I hope to buy a house in about six months for my family. Do you think it is advisable to invest some of my savings in stocks for profits, until I actually buy a house?" R.N.

A) I advise you very strongly not to put your money in the stock-market with the hope that you can take it out profitably in six months time.

No one, in my opinion should ever buy a stock knowing that it must be sold within a specified time limit. If the market should happen to be in a sinking spell at the time you need your funds, you could suffer a loss of principal that would be hard to recover.

The stock market has recently been very strong, with the averages advancing to a new all-time high. I believe that this uptrend is going to continue subject, of course, to normal market corrections. This doesn't mean, though, that many individual stocks won't move down. I sincerely believe that your money belongs in the savings bank until you buy your house. In six months time, you will be able to recover it intact and with accrued interest.

Q) "With the lower trend in interest rates, it seems as if many finance companies should begin to report higher earnings. Which ones do you like best?" R.R.

A) To some extent, the market has already discounted the earnings gains forecast for the finance group this year. However, with wider margins and increased economic activity, further gains are expected.

For growth I prefer James Talcott (NYSE) and Walter Heller (NYSE), both aggressive commercial and industrial finance houses. If you are more interested in income, take a look at General Acceptance (NYSE) and Associates Investment (NYSE) two prominent consumer finance companies.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

Says State Arbitrary In Barring Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — An attorney contends New York State had no right to bar the Communist Party as a contributing employer to the state's unemployment-insurance program.

John J. Abt of New York City, representing the party, was opposed in arguments before the Supreme Court Thursday by Julius L. Sackman of Albany, who represented New York State.

Sackman said any rights the party may have had were terminated by the federal Communist Control Act in 1954.

Abt held that the state's action was arbitrary and that the federal act was unconstitutional.

He pointed out that the federal Bureau of Internal Revenue continues to tax the party as an employer and that the Social Security Administration had recognized the party as an employer within the meaning of the Social Security Act.

The Armed Forces Examining Station in the Old Post Office Building, Albany, will be open two Saturdays during May to process high school senior applicants for all armed services, it was announced today by SFC Edward Malenski, local Army Recruiter.

The special arrangements were ordered by Captain Harold P. Goodrich, station commander, in order to prevent high school students from losing valuable time prior to graduation. Saturday dates under the plan are May 6 and 27.

The Armed Forces Qualification Test and physical porfiling only will be accomplished on these days.

Interested Army applicants may obtain further information about being examined on these off-school dates by contacting SFC Malenski at municipal auditorium, 467 Broadway.

Killed Sweetheart

Accused Slayer Recovers After Wounding Self

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (AP) — An accused slayer, who had threatened to use his four boxes of shells "against pursuing police, was recovering today from a self-inflicted bullet wound, State Police said.

Troopers said 20 - year - old Charles Ducharme, charged with the first-degree murder of his sweetheart, told them he shot himself in the stomach a few hours before they closed in on him at a vacant house yesterday.

Ducharme attempted to offer resistance but quickly surrendered when a police officer fired two shots, State Police said.

Ducharme, under police guard at a hospital here, was reported in good condition today. Surgeons removed a bullet last night.

Ducharme, of West Chazy, is accused of shooting 17-year-old Betty Ann Davison in a jealous rage Sunday night.

"Is Betty dead?" was Ducharme's first question after his arrest, Lt. Edward Dienst of the State Police said.

The accused slayer—hunted in Northern New York, Canada and Vermont — was found three-quarters of a mile from his home, in a house formerly occupied by his late grandmother.

Troopers had checked the house Monday. Yesterday they noted a window had been broken.

As three troopers entered the house, Dienst said he shouted to Ducharme to surrender.

The youth, in reply, smashed an upstairs window with his rifle.

Dienst said he fired two shot quickly so Ducharme could not aim. Ducharme then threw his rifle to the ground, Dienst said.

Walking at Night

The vacant house is in a wooded area off Route 22, a few miles from the Canadian border. Ducharme said he had arrived at the house only several hours ahead of the troopers.

Troopers said he told them he had been sleeping in fields and woods during daylight hours and had been walking at night.

Ducharme, State Police said, intercepted Betty Ann and her date as the couple approached her home near Mooers Forks.

The pretty high school senior fled into a neighbor's house, where State Police said Ducharme shot her with a .22-caliber rifle.

Ducharme fled in an automobile but abandoned it, leaving this note:

Planned to Use Shells

"I have four boxes of shells and will use them if necessary."

Ducharme worked on the dairy farm of his father, Bernard. Betty Ann's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Davison, also live on a farm, about seven miles from Ducharme.

The romance between Betty Ann and Ducharme reportedly was ended at the insistence of the girl's parents.

Sheriff Emmett Ducatt of Clinton County reported Ducharme had written Betty Ann about two weeks ago and had threatened to kill her and himself.

WINNING EXHIBIT—Two Sixth Grade pupils of Lake Katrine School, Jane Southard, (left) and Lucia Wojcio display incubator exhibit with which they won blue ribbons at the recent Science Fair conducted by Kingston Schools (Consolidated). Both will compete at New Paltz in the Third Annual Mid-Hudson Study Council Science Fair on May 12.

Lake Katrine Has Four Who Will Compete at Paltz

The 10th article in the series dealing with the recent Science Fair in the Kingston (Consolidated) Schools will review the winners at Lake Katrine School.

Lake Katrine will be represented at the New Paltz competition by Jane Southard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Southard; Lucia Wojcio, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Wojcio; David Holumzer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Holumzer; and Paul Mikonis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mikonis Sr.

Four Are Successful

These four successful exhibitors will join other hundreds of successful fourth, fifth and sixth grade students from the Hudson Valley. Final plans are now completed for the Third Annual Mid-Hudson School Study Council Science Fair at the college in New Paltz on Friday, May 12.

An unusual exhibit involving chickens and eggs captured the first prize in the sixth grade at Lake Katrine. Jane Southard and Lucia Wojcio were awarded blue ribbons by the judges for an incubator exhibit. After getting the idea from a science book the two girls set out to make an incubator. Using scrap wood and a low powered electric light bulb the pair set up an incubation box and brooder. Next the pair obtained some fertilized chicken eggs, placed them in their homemade incubator and finally hatched out three eggs.

An information sheet from the American Red Cross led to the fifth grade award. David Holumzer credited one such sheet with the idea that gave him first prize in the fifth grade competition. David made a display showing the parts and actions of the human heart. He claimed to use materials he was able to find easily around his house.

Displayed Water Dropper

An article in the "Scientific American" magazine led to the fourth grade first prize. Paul Mikonis was awarded the top prize in the fourth grade for his display of Lord Kelvin's water dropper. The display used soup cans, a coat hanger, wax and rubber hose to show an interesting and unusual scientific phenomenon.

The four winners at Lake Katrine will journey to the New Paltz Fair to compete for grand prizes which include United States Savings Bonds.

The 11th article in this 13-article series will highlight the winners from Tillson School.

Rusk Still Unknown Quantity After 3½ Months in Office

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—How does Secretary of State Dean Rusk look after his first 3½ months in office?

He's still pretty much an unknown quantity because he's not very talkative, he's not dramatic, and he lets President Kennedy make the big pronouncements.

That's a switch.

Dulles Just the Opposite

The late, controversial John Foster Dulles—secretary of state through most of the Eisenhower administration—was just the opposite.

He had a lot to say, was dramatic, and seemed to make foreign policy for President Eisenhower.

Rusk has had four news conferences since Jan. 20, just as many as Dulles in the same length of time. But that's no basis for comparison.

Rusk and Dulles took office under different circumstances.. When Dulles became secretary this was the situation:

The United States was at war in Korea; Sen. Joseph McCarthy was still making the State Department his No. 1 punching bag in his anti-Communist project; and this country was still the No. 1 military power.

This was the situation confronting Rusk:

Russia was now the military equal if not the superior of the United States; the influence of communism around the world had vastly increased; and, as a result Rusk had to be less belligerent and flamboyant than Dulles.

Pressures More Visible

But the pressures on Dulles were more visible.

By necessirty he had to take actions and positions on both Korea and McCarthy almost daily. This alone would have kept him more in the public eye and provided more insight into him than Rusk's problems so far.

As for dealing with the Russians: Dulles could afford to make colorful threats—like "massive retaliation" — when the United States, not the Soviets, had the preponderance of atomic power. In short, he could bluff and get away with it.

Rusk can't, now that the Russians have enough power to wipe out both the United States and its European allies. So his statements are more guarded.

But even if Rusk had been secretary in Dulles' time he probably would have been more guarded anyway. That seems to be his nature. He tends to understate rather than overstate.

Difficult to Appraise Rusk

For this reason it is more difficult to appraise him even though difficulties are piling up for him in Cuba, Laos and South Viet Nam. He doesn't try to make news on any of those problems. He lets Kennedy make it.

Dulles was different. With President Eisenhower reluctant to get into controversy, Dulles took stands on issues affecting foreign policy. Now it's Kennedy who takes them, not Rusk.

It may turn out that Rusk is the most mature and best-balanced of Kennedy's advisors, although neither Rusk, nor Kennedy nor anyone else looked good in this government's approval of the Cuban invasion which turned into disaster.

In short, compared with Dulles, Rusk looks gray. But coloration doesn't necessarily involve judgment. And any decision on Rusk's judgment will require more evidence than is publicly available now.

The public would be in a much better position to appraise Rusk if the Kennedy administration was ever willing to reveal just what role Rusk played in the Cuban decision.

What's so important about May 13th?

St. Gregory's New Parish Building Plans Under Way

Travelers on Route 212, beyond the club house should soon see signs of springtime activity, the evidence of "men at work", and the good earth being torn up, all in a very good cause, says Mrs. Courtenay Marvin, publicity director of St. Gregory's Episcopal Church.

The dream of St. Gregory's will be in the making, a new parish house which will greatly increase church activities and general facilities and contribute generally to the interests of this village. Weather and good fortune working hand in hand, it is expected that the new building will be completed by the summer's end.

The Episcopal Diocese of New York has awarded the contract for the construction to Karl Schreeder, Woodstock builder, who is responsible for the fine building of the church itself. Schreeder tentatively has estimated that completion will take ninety-five working days.

William H. van Rensselaer, A. I. A., architect for St. Gregory's which has received national acclaim in many publications throughout this country, is also architect for the parish house. In design, the new construction is contemporary, in harmony with the church and its smooth meadow, fringed in the distance by trees and with the crest of Overlook Mountain as a backdrop. The National Episcopal Church Commission on Architecture and the Allied Arts is currently producing a slide film review of advanced contemporary church buildings which includes St. Gregory's Church.

In the words of the architect, the parish house will consist essentially of a large hall and a connecting link to house necessary functions, and will relate the new building to the existing church.

Seats 140 Persons

The hall will be covered by a mass pitched roof with eaves carried down to floor level and surfaced on the outside in hand-split cedar shingles identical to those on the church roof. Daylight and natural ventilation will be provided by inside-out bay windows penetrating the roof area. This window and roof arrangement is used for the first time in this building. The hall will seat 140 people at table and will be divided by disappearing partitions to create eight Sunday school class rooms.

The connecting link will be covered by a flat roof and will house an entry and coat-hanging space, a nursery room, a kitchen and lavatories.

Above the foundation walls, all exterior wall materials will be heart redwood, blended to driftwood gray, which will require no maintenance for the life of the building. Similarly, the cedar roof will be sound for a century and will require no finish whatsoever.

Much time, effort and painstaking care have gone into this project by the architect, the Building Committee, consisting of St. Gregory's vicar, the Rev. Lloyd H. Uyeki, John Bertschy, Fennell Franklin, and Leslie Jenkins, and parishioners are grateful, for the present accommodations have long failed to serve the space demands. St. Gregory's has grown more rapidly than anticipated since its doors were first opened on October 14, 1956.

Father Uyeki has expressed the hope and feels that the new parish house will not only aid and increase St. Gregory's interest but that it may serve the whole village for many organized efforts by youth and adults alike. Already, several groups are anticipating a future indoor place for certain of their activities.

INSURE YOUR INVESTMENT

In its open meeting on Tuesday, in the Town Hall, the Town Planning Board unfolded the urgent necessity for Woodstock to invest in a professionally-made community Growth Plan. We are mailing a digest of this talk and an outline of our plan to all residents.

* THE THREAT OF EXPLOSIVE GROWTH faces all of us in Woodstock. If this is not controlled, the qualities we treasure and the money value of our property will be depreciated. The home you live in can find itself a close neighbor of a slum—or a noisome industry.

* PLANNING, WELL CONSIDERED, can guide this rapid growth in directions that will make Woodstock an even better place to live. And still absorb the inevitable expansion!

* A GOOD GROWTH PLAN and land use ordinance will immediately increase real estate values and business. It will increase and protect your investment in your home. It will increase the income of every business. This has been proven in other towns. It can be done here.

* THE NEED IS URGENT NOW, before too many unplanned and undesirable changes have happened.

* THE COST IS RELATIVELY VERY SMALL, $20,000 is needed to contract the necessary professional services. To avoid one or two years delay, we should raise this money by voluntary private contributions. Already $2000 have been spontaneously pledged and a guarantee for the second $10,000, if the first $10,000 are pledged. We solicit your contribution to make up the missing $8000. You can pay in 3 yearly installments, and your contributions are TAX DEDUCTIBLE.

* A FEW YEARS HENCE, if we do not plan now, the cost of rehabilitation will be much greater and will fall on all taxpayers.

* MAKE OUT your check now to the Town Board. A special Planning Fund has been opened at the Bank of Orange County. Tear out and mail in the pledge coupon below. This is cheap insurance to preserve our future prosperity and well being!

SO MUCH THAT CAN'T BE COPIED

Bucket seats alone do not a sport car make. Even when they're as cozy as ours are. You also want (and darned well need, if you're after a fun-type car) things like efficiently eager steering. Steering like you get with Corvair's rear-engine design.

You want traction that keeps your car firmly attached to the road all the time—around corners, through mudholes, everywhere. You want superlatively balanced braking. You want an amiably smooth, supple ride—like Corvair's full independent suspension gives you.

As you might have guessed, you simply can't get these happy advantages in any other U.S. car. Only Corvair. Anything that gives you less is just another social climber.

Musicians' Union Presents Music Gift to College

Orange County Community College has announced that a gift of $150, honoring the memory of Edward Vollmer, a well-known Orange County musician who passed away recently, will be presented to the college music department by Middletown Local 809, American Federation of Musicians.

Henry Joseph, secretary and business agent of Local 809, will formally make the presentation to College President William G. Coach House Will Give Comedy Here May 18, 19, 20

"Janus," the comedy by Caroline Green that was one of the major successes of the Broadway season in 1955-56, has been chosen as the next play to be presented by the Coach House Players.

The play is a farce-comedy with a new twist that has the Internal Revenue Department as a major protagonist. The cast will include Jo Jolivette, Dixon McGrath, Richard Becker, Rose Helen Mellert and Scott Foster.

The Internal Revenue Department doesn't intend to snoop into the secret meetings each summer in New York of a woman from Seattle with a professor from a Massachusetts prep school, but this pair under the pseudonym of Janus has been writing some very succesesful historical novels and the field is concerned with how they report their income.

Since their income is something neither of the partners can acknowledge at home they have accepted money from their agent in $100 bills, and barely dared use any of it. This strikes the tax investigator as peculiar but not serious. They have, he points out, taken none of the customary deductions or exemptions, no traveling expenses, bad debts, charity contributions or medical expenses, he insists on helping them to pay a smaller and more correct tax.

How this predicament is worked out for the ultimate happiness of all concerned forms the plot of "Janus," which was considered one of the gayest most rollicking comedies of the season in New York.

"Janus" will be presented at the George Washington School on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, May 18, 19 and 20.

INVITING CITY FRIENDS TO WEDDING IN SUBURBS

Q: About a year ago my husband and I and our two daughters moved to the country. We have a great many friends and acquaintances living in the city. One of my daughters is going to be married shortly and we would like to invite all these friends to the church. The reception is to be limited to nearest relatives and a few life-long friends. My daughter thinks it would be wrong to expect people to travel a distance of 50 miles to be present at the ceremony and not invite them to a reception. I would like to know what you think about this.

A: If you can't afford a larger reception, it will not be improper to invite them only to the church, but I do agree with your daughter that it is a good deal to expect and you must not be disappointed or feel hurt if very few make the trip from the city.

Not Her Vocation

Q: Five months ago, my daughter aged 17 entered the convent to become a nun. It was discovered she did not have this vocation and so she returned home. I would like to know if the money and other gifts my daughter received from friends and relatives before she left, should be returned, and if so, will you please tell me how to word a note explaining why the presents are being returned.

A: Any gifts of value she received because she was to become a nun, should be returned. The notes should say in substance that she is sorry to have to tell them that she is after all not going to be a nun, and is returning the lovely gift that particular person gave her.

A Widow's Name

Q: I have been a widow for the past three months. Immediately after the death of my husband, friends started to address me as Mrs. Mary Smith. I loved my husband dearly and want to continue using his name. Will you please tell me how I can get them to address me as Mrs. John Smith without seeming to criticize them.

A :Surely you can tell them in a polite way, without making them feel that you are criticizing them, that you wish they would continue addressing you as Mrs. John Smith .

Third District Garden Club Meeting

The Spring 1961 Third District Meeting of the Federated Gardens Clubs of New York State, Inc., was held on Thursday, April 13 at the Governor Clinton Hotel, Kingston.

Mrs. W. R. King of Schenectady, newly elected director of the Third District, presided. New District Board Officers and chairmen for 1961-62 were introduced. Guests at this meeting included: Mrs. Otto H. Lanhans, state president; Mrs. Frank L. Walton, first vice president, and Mrs. Robert Crosby, past state president.

It was announced that two newly formed clubs in the 3rd district are Greenbush Garden Club of Rensselaer and Quelque Fleurs Garden Club of Schenectady.

The morning program included special committee presentations and a Flower Show Practice Panel with Mrs. Edward H. Bergles as moderator.

Guest speaker for the afternoon program was Professor Harvey Barke, associate professor of Ornamental Horticulture at the Agricultural and Technical Institute of the State University, Farmingdale, Long Island. "Roses Star in the Garden" was the topic of Professor Barke's lecture. He stated that the rose is a universal plant noted for its long flowering season and is also the flower of New York State. Professor Barke discussed the following points on roses: Planting, time, soil, PH factor, feeding, pruning, winter care, and control of pests. He said that Spring is superior to Fall to plant roses and should be done as soon as the ground is workable. Roses need good soil and drainage and should be fed four times a year. They also, according to Dr. Barke, require six hours of sun a day to blossom and are subject to many insects and diseases. The control of diseases is 98 per cent prevention.

It was announced that an article by Mrs. W. R. King will appear in the August issue of Horticulture magazine. This story will tell about the creation of the eight foot Kaleidoscope wheel that was used as a focal at the Table Setting Show in 1958 of which Mrs. King was chairman.

The Little Gardens Club of Kingston with Mrs. G. A. Nussbaum of West Hurley, president, was the hostess club for this meeting.

Those having articles for collection may call Mrs. Warren Simmons, Mrs. Paul Hoveman or Mrs. Edwin Kittle Jr.

The group is also sponsoring a bus trip to New York City on Saturday, May 20. The trip will leave the church at 8 a. m. and return from the Port Authority building at 8 p. m. Information and reservations may be obtained from Mrs. Edwin Kittle, 39 Josephine Avenue.

Thunder can be heard for a distance of about 15 miles.

Turnau Opera Tenor Is Signed by Met

George Shirley, who starred in the Turnau Opera Players' 1959 productions of Fledehmaus and La Boheme in Woodstock, was chosen winner of the Metropolitan Opera Auditions two weeks ago. The award is a contract to sing with the opera company next season plus the Stuart and Irene Chambers Scholarship of $2,000 for further study.

Mr. Shirley is the second member of the Turnau Opera Players to win the Metropolitan auditions; basso Spiro Malas won last year. Two other members of the Woodstock opera company are with the Met; mezzosopranos Joan Wall and Nancy Williams.

The Turnau Opera Players have just finished their second opera season in Sarasota, Florida and are now planning their Woodstock season which will extend for five weeks beginning July 14.

At the Markets

Meat and Poultry—Beef supplies continue heavy. Likely features include boneless chuck roast and steaks — porterhouse and sirloin. Also shop for fresh pork loin roast and chops. Heavy supplies of broilers during May enable these small, meaty birds to have low price tags.

Fish and Shellfish—The season for fresh Hudson River shad is in full swing. Firm, sweet-meated shad average from 3 to 4 pounds each in weight. Being one of the boniest fish in the herring family, boned shad fillets are a welcome sight to shoppers. Fillets weigh about ½ to 1 pound each and make about 2 servings.

Vegetables—Expect New Jersey asparagus to arrive at markets in volume during early May. Watch for price declines while you shop for quality. Economical vegetable choices include bulk beets, broccoli and broccoli rabe, green cabbage and green peas.

Shokan Reformed Church

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Shokan Reformed Church, Shokan, will have a strawberry festival with a cafeteria style supper in the church hall on Saturday, June 24.

12 Cubans Kept Under Security, From Invasion

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — U. S. officials kept 12 half-starved Cubans, believed to be survivors of the ill-fated Cuban invasion, under security wraps today.

Delirious and wild-eyed, the Cubans ended a 15-day voyage across the Gulf of Mexico in a 25-foot open sail boat Thursday.

Authorities hinted that newsmen might be allowed to talk to the men sometime today after a 24-hour quarantine ends.

They were picked up Wednesday night by the American tanker SS Atlantic Seaman about 170 miles south of the Mississippi River. Three of their companions were dead.

Officially classified as "refugees from Cuba," the 12 survivors were taken to the U. S. Public Health Service Hospital when they arrived in New Orleans after a trip up the Mississippi River in a Coast Guard boat.

They shielded their faces from newsmen and photographers.

No Cause Verdict Given in Case of Election Fight

A jury of three men and three women returned a verdict of no cause for action early this morning in a suit brought by the proprietor of the Bloomington Inn for alleged damages resulting from an altercation last November.

Lawrence Machione, the proprietor, brought suit for $500 against Joseph Reid, a Rosendale hotelman, and Robert Connell of High Falls, alleging that they caused damages to inn property in that amount during a brawl following a political quarrel on election eve last November 5.

The trial commenced at 7 p. m. yesterday before Justice of the Peace Edward Brodsky of the town of Rosendale.

At approximately 1:20 a. m. today it reached the jury which retired to deliberate. Ten minutes later the jury announced that it found no cause for action.

Attorney John Schick of Kingston represented Reid and Connell. Attorney John Gotelli appeared for Machione.

There was reported to be much conflicting testimony.

Among the witnesses were Deputy Sheriffs Thomas Mayone and Arthur Smith of the Ulster County sheriff's office. They reportedly testified that the defendants were under the influence of alcohol. The bartender took an opposing view.

In summing up, Gotelli said his client, Machione, was asking only $335.50 in damages, based on a professional estimate. The suit was brought in the amount of $500 against both defendants.

Testimony was presented by the plaintiff to show that chairs and walls had been damaged during the fight, that there had been blood on the floor, etc.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS

Blue Cheese Rolls Are Danish Delight

GAYNOR MODDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The Danes are probably the most hospitable people in the world. They love to eat, drink and share their good life with visitors to their beautiful country, the land of Hans Christian Andersen.

When we were in Denmark, we enjoyed particularly their wonderful open-face sandwiches. The variety was endless. Served with strong coffee, they are a meal in themselves.

As a variation on a Danish open-face sandwich, we suggest these blue cheese luncheon rolls. Served hot, they have enough protein (eggs and cheese) to be the main course for a meatless dinner.

Luncheon Rolls
(Makes 6 Servings)

4 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
¼ cup chopped celery
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
2 tablespoons crumbled Danish blue cheese
¼ cup mayonnaise
Salt and pepper to taste
6 hamburger rolls
Butter

Combine eggs, celery, parsley, blue cheese and mayonnaise. Toss until thoroughly blended. Hollow out center of buns slightly and spread with margarine or butter. Fill with egg mixture. Cover with roll top.

Note: For hot sandwiches, place on ungreased baking sheet and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 10 to 15 minutes or until hot and roll is crisp.

Joseph J. Orze, associate professor of art education and sculpture at the State University College of Education at New Paltz, has accepted the position of head of the department of art and art education at Middle Tennessee State College in Murfreesboro, Tenn. He will assume his new position beginning with the fall semester 1961.

Orze has been associated with the college in New Paltz since September 1959. Before coming to New Paltz, he was a dual instructor of art and education at Syracuse University, and prior to that time, he taught in the public schools in Syracuse and at the George Junior Republic in Freeville, N. Y. He has also taught in the Edward Smith Demonstration School of Syracuse University and in the Intensified Teacher Training Programs at both Syracuse and New Paltz.

As an undergraduate at Syracuse, Mr. Orze was active in many campus activities including varsity football, baseball, and boxing, and his interest in athletics showed in the success of the New Paltz College of Education's Junior Varsity basketball team, which he coached during the past season. After graduating magna cum laude from Syracuse University, he completed his master of science degree at the same institution, and he is currently completing his doctorate there also.

He has exhibited widely as a sculptor and has won a number of prizes for his wood and stone carvings, and he is represented in the permanent collection of the Munson-Williams-Proctor Institute of Utica, and in many private collections. He is also the co-author of the book, Art From Scrap, and he has published numerous articles on art education, art appreciation, and art therapy in various professional journals and periodicals.

The Eastern District 4-H Club homemaking award trip was held in New York City early this week with 22 counties in the Eastern District participating. Each county was represented by three award winning girls enrolled in Homemaking project work, an agent and leader or executive committee member. The girls were chosen in their counties from the group of age 14 and over girls who through their 4-H Club project records and contributing programs have shown outstanding achievement.

Ulster County was represented by Jean McCord and Judy Wildrick, both Wallkill, and Kathleen Gaffney, Highland. The group was accompanied by Mrs. Phyllis Milliken, Ulster County 4-H Club executive committee representative and Miss Mary Lou Rice, assistant 4-H Club agent.

The delegation of approximately 110 Homemakers stayed at the President Hotel on 48th Street. Included in the educational tours were a trip to the UN, tour of Chinatown and New York City by bus, breakfast and fashion show at B. Altman & Co., luncheons and tours at Sealtest Co. and J. C. Penny's. Other tours included were the Advance Pattern Co., the Fiberglass Center and the Tea Testing Center. The J. C. Penny Co. also provided a fashion preview show. Evening entertainment included Radio City Music Hall and the Broadway musical "Sound of Music."

This trip is another of the educational rewards which the 4-H Club program provides to club members who show outstanding interest and achievement in the knowledge and skills of the 4-H Club projects. Two of the Ulster County girls are planning to further their education in the field of home economics next year. Miss McCord who has been accepted in the Home Economics College at Buffalo and Miss Wildrick who plans to attend the College of Home Economics at Syracuse University. Miss Gaffney has been accepted at Cornell University for advance study in the pre-medical field.

We're Best Fed, But Rank 15th In Use of Milk

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans consider themselves to be among the world's best fed, but in the matter of milk they are far down the line.

The Foreign Agricultural Service says the United States ranks 15th in the per capita consumption of milk and milk products. First is Ireland, followed by such other leaders as New Zealand, Finland, Sweden, Switzerland, Denmark, Australia, Canada, Belgium and Norway.

The United States also ranks 15th in the per capita production of milk.

New Zealand is first, followed by Denmark, Ireland, Finland and Australia.

Central Ordered To Continue Runs Into Adirondacks

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—No roads lead to three Adirondack Mountain communities served by the New York Central Railroad.

Partly because of this fact, the Public Service Commission today ordered the railroad to continue passenger service on the Adirondack Division.

The railroad was unsuccessful for the second time in two years in a bid to end the service on the 142-mile run between Utica and Lake Placid. The Central contended it lost money on the division.

But the PSC said public convenience and necessity outweighed financial factors in this instance. It said the economy of Tupper Lake and other communities depended greatly on continued rail service. The communities without roads are Brandreth, Little Rapids and Beaver River.

Four trains—two single-car Beeliners and two convention trains—serve these communities and Thendara (Old Forge), Big Moose, Robinwood, Sabattis, American Legion, Floodwood, Lake Clear Junction, Saranac Lake and Ray Brook.

No More Dancing

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "No more professional dancing," vows Leslie Caron, now a dramatic star with Maurice Chevalier and Charles Boyer in the film "Fanny." "I decided one day that dancers had to subject themselves to the discipline of nuns, and that this life was irreconcilable with my role as wife, mother and actress. So I gave away all my dancing shoes."

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — George Schaefer is one of the lucky young men of television. At a time when dramatic programs are diminishing in number, when original dramatic scripts by talented professionals are just not being written, Schaefer has a budget, a sponsor and network time which allows him to produce and direct just about anything he fancies, from Shakespeare to new plays.

In spite of his own fortunate position as the man in charge of NBC's Hall of Fame series, Schaefer is worried about the future of dramatic shows on television, particularly new shows.

"There is, of course, the shortage of originals," he explained. "And you must look at it from the viewpoint of the writer. Let's say he has spent three years writing and polishing a play. There is absolutely no way in which TV could compensate him if the show is also a possibility for Broadway.

"From every aspect—financial return, challenge, excitement, and from the artistic viewpoint, television today provides limited appeal to the writer."

During the past season, Schaefer has produced a wide variety of shows—a two-hour version of "Macbeth," a 90-minute new opera, adaptations of plays by Shaw and Jean Anouilh, and two original scripts. "The Joke and the Valley," tonight's play, is the effort of a newcomer, Jerry McNeely, a University of Wisconsin teacher.

Schaefer believes that one of the reasons that new, good writers are so rare in television is because of what he calls "sponsor-thinking."

"A lot of them figure if it made a good book or if people liked it as a movie, then the wise thing is to re-make it for television. And, you know, that's not always true."

Recommended tonight: "The Joke and the Valley," NBC, 8:30-10 (Eastern Daylight Time)—an original teleplay with Dean Stockwell, Keenan Wynn and Thomas Mitchell.

Trump Leads Set South

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Here is another hand where the bidding was the same at both tables and would also have been the same in almost any normal bridge game.

At one table West decided that heroic measures were called for and opened his singleton diamond. After a low card from dummy, East played the ten and South won with the jack.

A low heart was won by West's ace and West led a trump. South won in his hand; ruffed a heart; came back to his hand with a club; ruffed his last heart with dummy's last trump; ruffed a club to get back to his own hand; drew trumps and conceded a diamond for five odd and plus 650.

At the other table West opened a trump. South won in his own hand and led a heart. West took his ace and led a second trump.

South won that trick; ruffed one heart in dummy; led a diamond and finessed the jack; drew trumps and eventually lost two diamond tricks to wind up down one and minus 100 for a net loss of 13 IMPs.

The man who led the trump is certainly to be congratulated on his lead. Of course, South could have still made the hand by finessing the nine of diamonds, but South was not looking at all the cards.

High School Baseball Team Routs Our Lady of Lourdes, 8-2

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO

Freeman Sports Editor

Gene Massa's futile attempts to get a tryout in professional football would seem to indicate two things: (1) there is a plethora of talent abounding over the nation's gridirons or (2) failure to possess a sheepskin is the unpardonable sin for any rookie trying to crash the lodge.

Either of these premises is wholly spurious, but provide no humor for the gifted kicker who was a three-time All-DUSO backfield sensation for Kingston High in the post-war period.

According to Gene all goes well in interview or in correspondence until he is indiscreet enough to admit he has never trod the hallowed sod of a college campus. He is understandably baffled and dismayed because he happens to be a young man with a wealth of natural talent and tremendous confidence in his ability to make the grade with the play for pay boys.

Massa was a phenomenal high school kicker and fine all round ball player. His best chance in pro football would be as a kicking specialist and there his record compares favorably with the big timers. Playing in the New Jersey independent league last season, Massa averaged 43.5 yards net kicking with the Paterson Pioneers. He served as linebacker and did the punting. He also had excellent luck on place kicks and booted field goals up to 45 yards.

It would be cruel indeed to have Massa denied a shot at pro football. That's why several local friends are pulling every string possible to see that he gets a chance to make it. The Los Angeles Rams, Denver Broncos and New York Titans are being contacted in the next few days.

• In Select Company:

When Warren Spahn of the Braves picks up that 300th victory around midseason, he will join a select circle of major league pitchers to achieve that rare accolade. Denton T. (Cy) Young led them all with 511 victories. Spahn's durability is also reflected in the all-time most-innings pitched department in which he now ranks 20th, with 4082 at the start of the 1961 season. Mr. Early Wynn is up there in 16th place with 4233 innings. The 300-game winners, with won and lost records, are: Grover Cleveland Alexander, 373-208; John G. Clarkson, 328-176; James F. Galvin, 365-311; Robert Moses Grove, 300-140; Walter Johnson, 416-279; Timothy J. Keefe, 340-225; Christy Mathewson, 373-188; Charles A. Nichols, 360-202; Eddie Plank, 305-181; Charles (Hoss) Radbourne, 308-191; Michael F. Welch, 310-210. Spahn has some other sturdy credentials going for him. He is fifth in all-time most shutouts in the National League with 51 and the all-time record holder for a left handed pitcher with 11 seasons of 20 victories or more. He set the mark last year.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

It had to come sooner or later. The second annual National Seniors bowling tournament the last three weekends in May at Skokie, Ill. You have to be 55 to qualify. . . . Some late season firsts: Pat Uhl 500, Ann Combs 413, Doris Langling 428, Ann Mower 130. . . . Frank Rittie made his first 500 a whopping 571 and Don Keyser finally got that first 600, a 605 in the Booster League. . . . Some cad in the International League circled a 385 by Frank Palumbo. . . . How about Alberta Bovee's first 500 series, a rousing 219-560 in the New Drop League. . . . Johnny Ferraro's Bowlerama is out of the running for the New York State franchise in the National Bowling League, but the purchase price of $50,000 for the club and $75,000 performance bond runs a little high for this size town. Kingston Woman's Bowling Association hosts the state president and secretary next Tuesday when official announcements will be made concerning the site and dates of the 1962 New York State women's tournament in Kingston.

END OF A CAREER: Let us hope not, but Bill Short, former New York Yankee pitcher, is at his Newburgh home to undergo treatment for calcium deposits in his pitching arm. The major league career that once loomed so brightly for the Port Ewen-born lad has developed into a nightmare. Very few pitchers ever overcome calcium deposits. We sincerely hope Bill Short is that one in a million.

Six Run Burst In Fifth Frame Decides Contest

Scoring six runs in a hectic fifth inning, Kingston High School won its third game in five starts, dropping Our Lady of Lourdes, 8-2, in a non-league tilt yesterday at Dietz Stadium.

Until the late outburst the contest had been a pitchers' duel between starter Terry Confer of the home side and Leo Epstein of Lourdes.

However, Frank Allen reached base on an error to start the fifth and the dam opened. After Vince Smedes flied out, catcher John Hetsco doubled and Confer was safe on a fielder's choice. Leadoff batter Richie Sickler delivered a clutch double and Ron Secreto sacrificed. Another fielder's choice and single by Mike Ferraro and Paul Natale scored the other markers.

First baseman Eric Broberg had helped his teammates overcome a 1-0 Lourdes lead when he tripled to deep right field in the third frame to score Sickler and Secreto.

Lourdes had tallied in the second inning when Gerard DeFiglio singled, went to second on a balk, to third on a passed ball and home on a hit by Larry Leary.

With Bob Dunn pitching in the seventh, Bob Corliss singled and Tony Cappilino doubled for the second marker but Dunn escaped without further damage.

Confer went the first five innings for Coach Al Gruner's club and he was impressive. He gave up three hits, walked two and struck out eight.

Kingston is slated to host Port Jervis in a DUSO League contest on Monday at Dietz stadium.

Scoring five runs in the second inning and then pushing over five more in the final two frames, the Kingston High school jayvees stopped Our Lady of Lourdes jayvees, 10-1, at Spratt Park in Poughkeepsie yesterday.

The home team didn't get a hit until the fifth frame and it tallied its run and another safety in the sixth. Wayne Johnson and Greiner did the pitching for the winners while Ralph Spadaro went all the way to take the loss.

The Nimrod's Corner

By Old Doc

Word from a long time friend in Washington discloses that President Kennedy within the next few weeks will deliver a special message to the Congress asking that the United States embark on a crash program to provide needed outdoor recreation facilities for the country, and in particular for the east. This is following the recommendations of the Commission on Outdoor Recreation Needs named by President Eisenhower. This commission was headed by Laurence Rockefeller, the Governor's brother.

The recognition of the needs of the eastern section of the nation is indeed gratifying. For too long in Washington, the use of our natural resources has been regarded as a problem peculiar to the west. The president's plans are now in the Bureau of the Budget for approval of their fiscal aspects. To date, none of the nation's press has made mention of the president's forthcoming message. Of course, there is pride in being the first to reveal the plan's existence here.

DRIFTWOOD

At the April meeting of the Ulster County Federated Sportsmen's Club at the clubhouse of the Wawarsing sportsmen, Ken Wich, acting District Fishery Manager, stated that the present trout stocking program is on a "put and take" basis. — Hatchery trout, claims Ken, don't survive well either in the warmth of summer, or the cold of winter. Only the naturally spawned fish fare well at these critical times. — The total number of deaths due to boating accidents in New York in 1960 was 70. — Of the 80 local streams on the Conservation Department's list in 1955 for full stocking of fingerling trout, 17 have been taken off, due to adequate natural spawning, and 46 went off due to less than the minimum 50 gallons of water per minute. — County agencies in the Empire State last year made more than 1,139 arrests for navigation violations. Because 1960 was the first effective year for the new state laws, police agencies issued more than 6,636 warnings Seems that if the sheriff's office were to do some of this sort of thing around here, boating would be more fun, not to mention safer.

CAMPFIRE SPARKS

The Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity of the City of New York has received a request from the Palisades Interstate Park Commission for lands for recreational purposes near the Ashokan Reservoir. These lands are not in the watershed. It's understood that the requested property includes a swamp, which when drained and then properly dammed might form a shallow lake of approximately 25 acres. This would provide a much needed area. — Haven't heard anything new about Kingston Point Park. Anybody know what's taking place? — Wonder when the City of Kingston will forward plans for state approval for the development as a park of the unused Sawkill Reservoir. Eventually this will be needed to meet the growing recreational needs of the predicted exploding population. When our post-war baby crop begins to have offspring of their own in the next 4 to 7 years, our alfacility for boating and swimming, which is long overdue in our ready overtaxed facilities for swimming, picnicing and camping will be grossly inadequate. The city should act now before the state's financial assistance of up to 75 per cent is no longer available. — Reservations for the Federation's banquet on June 10 must be made with Frank Kraus, Box 8, R. 3, Kingston, before June 4. — Trout being taken on dry flys on the Beaverkill. — Sonny Barnes and some of the Freeman's staff took 2 large browns at Downsville on Saturday. It appears that the fish are finally starting to bite at this newest of New York reservoirs.

Frisco Keglers Classic Champs

DETROIT (AP) — Brentwood Bowl of San Francisco is almost dead certain of being the American Bowling Congress' first classic team champion.

It will take a virtual scoring miracle by Dynamic Air Engineering No. 1 of Los Angeles tonight to keep Brentwood Bowl from the title in the ABC classic division's inaugural year.

The Los Angeles team is the last of the original starting field of 80 professionals clubs with an outside chance of wresting the title from the San Franciscans, who led with a six-game total of 5,983. The classic team event ends tonight.

Dynamic Air rolled 2,870 Thursday night. It would have to shoot 3,114 tonight to claim the crown.

DUSO League Stars

Joe Uhl, Albrecht Accept Scholarships to Boston U.

Joe Uhl, the DUSO League's Player of the Year in basketball and Steve Albrecht, the Player of the Year in football will enter Boston University in September on sports scholarships.

Uhl climaxed a star studded career at Kingston High School by leading the Maroon to the league championship and to second place in the Section Nine tournament. He tallied 1282 points in less than three seasons, has the single year scoring mark of 517 points and on three occasions scored 40 or more points. He had several offers from major colleges before selecting Boston University. At a shade under 6-1, it's expected that Uhl will be shifted from a forward to guard in college.

Albrecht led Poughkeepsie to the football title with his receiving and place kicking. The 6-3 end also started on the basketball and baseball clubs at the school but his scholarship is for football. Albrecht scored two touchdowns and kicked six extra points for the Pioneers during the league campaign and was one of the best all-around performers in the circuit.

Boston University is a major power in both football and basketball. The grid team plays a representative slate against the top clubs in the country and the cage squad reached the NCAA semi-final round three seasons ago before bowing to West Virginia, which had the great Jerry West as its star.

Hebert's 6-Under 66 Leads First Round in Champions

By BO BMYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LAS VEGAS (AP) — Good looking Jay Hebert, one of the most popular players in professional golf, led the parade into the second round of the $52,000 Tournament of Champions today.

Hebert, who admittedly is still taking lessons on the skills of proper shot making, demonstrated he has studied well when he fired a 6-under par 66 in the first round.

Playing against a select field of 25 rivals and bucking shifting winds that blew up to 40 miles an hour, Hebert toured the par 36-36 — 72 Desert Inn Country Club course Thursday in 33-33—66.

So today he held a lead of one stroke over his fellow pros for the $10,000 top money. The 72-hole event winds up Sunday.

Pressing Hebert at 67 were three other seasoned performers—Tommy Bolt, Doug Ford and Julius Boros.

And tied at 68 were Sam Snead and Bill Casper Jr., and if they weren't enough to give the pace setter cause for worry, the 69 bracket included Arnold Palmer, Art Wall Jr., and Stan Leonard.

South Africa's Gary Player, the 1961 Masters champion, and Doug Sanders posed a threat at 70.

Five players were tied at 71 in the group of 16 which bettered par. They were Gene Littler, Dow Finsterwald, Bill Collins, Don Fairfield and Bill Johnston.

Hebert, a native of Lafayette, La., candidly says he is still learning things about the game of golf.

His round Thursday included two eagles and three birdies—and thanks to the blustery wind, he started out poorly in his tee shots.

But at the end he had required only 30 putts and had missed but two greens.

Johnny Flach and Don Avery In Onteora Speedway Return

The field will be chasing Johnny Flach, the leaden-footed South Westerlo veteran, when Onteora Speedway Park stages its second card of auto racing Sunday at 2:30 p. m.

Flach, a 10-year veteran of the dirt tracks, scored a sensational three-length victory over Don Avery, the 1960 points champion, in a thrilling 25-lap feature last week.

Avery has vowed to renew the duel and Stretch Van Steenburg, the Saugerties whiz, has announced his big black No. 1 has been repaired and is ready to challenge both Flach and Avery.

Racing directors Ed Ryan of Hyde Park and Larry Shurter of Onteora have promised more cars and several familiar names will be making a delayed debut at the Olive Bridge track this Sunday.

Pete Keator of Kerhonkson, first heat winner last week, will be back along with other Ulster County favorites like Bucky Marl of Ellenville, Bruce Cyr of Ellenville, Art De Puy of Cottekill and Billy Stokes of Stone Ridge.

Richard (Dick) Lane, the track operator, is looking for a better break in weather. Last Sunday's inaugural started under clear skies but chilly winds set in later. The track was in excellent condition after the winter layoff and drew high praise from the drivers.

Randall Shares First ENYGA Win of Season

Leon Randall, the Wiltwyck and Hudson River golf champion, tied with Clinton Traver of the home club with a one-over-par 71 to pace the 114-player Eastern New York Golf Association field Wednesday at Columbia Country Club.

Traver, former Woodstock Open champion, had to stage a spectacular finish with birdies on the last three holes to tie Randall's steady 35-36, as he bagged 37-34. The first week winner, Emil MacKay of Troy Country Club, finished with a 79.

More than a dozen Wiltwyck Country Club players competed in the weekly circuit. Lonesome George Cosenza had 80-7-73 in the Class A division, where Charles J. Turck fired 85-6-79 and Phil Malin, 86-5-81.

Huguenots Score Winning Marker In 8th Inning

After scoring four runs in the sixth inning, highlighted by Keith Johnson's two run homer, Rondout Valley lost a tough UCAL decision, 5-4, to visitng New Paltz yesterday at the Marbletown school diamond in Stone Ridge.

The Huguenots had scored a run in the first, two in the second and one more in the fourth frame and were headed for an apparent win when the home side exploded off Biff Longfield. Johnson's blast climaxed the four run burst and sent the contest into overtime.

Glen Moore double for New Paltz in the eighth and with one out, catcher George Bond lined to left field and the ball was dropped. Moore, running on the hit, tallied from second base.

The home side came back in the last of the eighth when Keith Johnson doubled. However, he was left stranded at second base and the Ganders were tagged with their first league setback while New Paltz won its second straight.

Longfield went the distance for the Huguenots. He surrendered seven hits, walked two and struck out 11 batters. Williams was the tough luck loser for the home side. He walked three, fanned six and was picked for six safeties.

New Paltz will host Wallkill in a circuit test today while Rondout visits Onteora in another league attraction.

Yankees Debut Against Angels

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Letting the New York Yankees play in Wrigley Field may be like letting a channel swimmer work out in a bathtub.

But that's where the American League champions will be tonight, playing their first American League game on the Pacific Coast in the opener of a weekend series with the Los Angeles Angels.

To give you an idea of what might happen, 15 home runs were hit in the three-game series the Angels just played against the Baltimore Orioles. And neither the Angels nor the Orioles have the power the Yankees can develop on a good night.

The last time the Yankees came to town—for a Coliseum exhibition game against the Dodgers in 1959—they drew a crowd of 93,103, the largest in U.S. baseball history.

They can't draw more than 22,000 tonight because that's all the park will hold. The game is a sellout.

Joey Jay Pitches One-Hitter; Tigers, Yankees Notch Wins

Reds Get Win, 4-0, Over Phils; Giants in First

By ED WILKS

Joe Jay pitched a one-hit shutout—giving up a first-inning single by Johnny Callison—and allowed only two men to reach base as the Cincinnati Reds defeated Philadelphia 4-0 Thursday night for their fifth straight victory. San Francisco padded its National League lead to a full game over idle Pittsburgh by beating the Chicago Cubs 9-3.

Joe Adcock's bases-loaded home run gave Milwaukee a 10-6 victory over Los Angeles in 10 innings in the only other game scheduled in the NL.

Jay, 25, is a Little League graduate who had a 24-24 record, including a two-hitter and one three-hitter, in seven seasons with Milwaukee. He was traded to the Reds for shortstop Roy McMillan last December.

The Reds scored in two-run bursts in the first and third inwho allowed seven hits and five walks.

Adcock's slam, the eighth of his career, capped a five-run 10th off Roseboro homered for the Dodgers, who blew a 4-1 lead behind starter Don Drysdale.

Carl Willey (1-0), the fourth Milwaukee pitcher to follow starter Bob Buhl, won it.

A five-run sixth inning gave it to the Giants, who came from behind on Orlando Cepeda's two-run single off loser Glen Hobbie (1-3). Sam Jones (3-1) went all the way for the Giants.

Mossi Pitches Two-Hitter; Mantle Homers

By ED WILKS

Detroit southpaw Don Mossi won his third without defeat by pitching a two-hitter for a 6-0 decision at Washington Thursday night. That kept the Tigers in a tie with New York for the American League lead after the Yankees had beaten Minnesota 5-2 in an afternoon game.

In the only other AL game scheduled, Baltimore defeated Los Angeles 8-7 in 13 innings on Ron Hansen's two-run single.

Mossi, 31, walked three and struck out five in the best performance of his eight-year career, which has included a trio of three-hitters. He had a no-hit game until Gene Green singled with two out in the seventh inning. The other hit, also a single, was by Willie Tasby with two out in the ninth.

The Tigers handed winless Benny Daniels his third defeat.

Ninth Homer

Mickey Mantle blasted his ninth home run, tops in the majors, for the Yankees, but it was a three-run first inning that sent the defending champs to their seventh victory in the last eight games. Two walks, Mantle's single and an infield out scored the first two runs and Elston Howard's single brought in the clincher. Whitey Ford (4-1) was the winner, but withdrew due to the effects of a cold and Jim Coates came on for a one-hit, shutout mop-up over the last three frames. Jim Kaat (1-2) was the loser.

Hansen drove in four runs for the Orioles, who twice came from three runs behind, and triggered the ninth-inning rally with a one-on homer. His winning single, off reliever Ned Garver (0-2), followed a walk and a double by Gus Triandos, who also belted a two-run homer. Reliever Hoyt Wilhelm won his fourth.

Olean Red Sox Tie In New York-Penn

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Olean's Red Sox moved into a first-place tie with the Geneva Redlegs Thursday night in the young Class D New York-Penn Baseball League race with a twin-bill sweep over the Erie Sailors.

Geneva, meantime, was dropping its first game in four starts, 2-1, to the Elmira Pioneers at Elmira.

Olean took Erie, 7-6 and 11-6, while the Jamestown Tigers downed the Wellsville Braves at Wellsville, 11-5, and the Batavia Pirates beat the Auburn Yankees at Auburn, 8-6.

Individual Record

Buster Ferraro Rolls 752 in Major League

Buster Ferraro, who takes his 700 triples in good stride, blasted a 752 series for a new individual record in the Ferraro Major League last night. By co-incidence, Buster held the old mark of 743 which went by the boards, as he rocketed games of 225, 279 and 248.

The 752 helped his Rheingold Beer squad to a new team record of 3059, eclipsing the 3034 held by Utica Club. The team slams were 1050, 1012 and 997.

Ferraro was balked by a 4-pin tap in the 278 game and had one miss for the night. The 752 was the third highest series recorded in the city this season. Phil Battaglia of IBM Superior fired 765 and Harold Broskie had 757.

Ferraro's hefty series overshadowed some excellent pinning by other members of the league. A teammate, George Shufeldt, shot 258-224-679. Chris Gallo, anchoring the rival Miron Lumber team, slammed 247-223-215.

Jim Amendola decked 231-267-667 and Jack Ferraro matched it with 213-209-245 for the Schoentag Hotel squad. Harold Broskie posted 210-211-600, John Ferraro 224-227-219-670.

In the mere 500 group were: Joe Micozzi 560, Ray Ashdown 215-583, Bruce Hinkley 211-508, John Spada 234-569, Vince Carpino 216-557, Bill Lawrence 226-559, Larry Petersen 203-584, Ed Ebel 232-587, Bob Coisson 528, Nick Carl 530, Fred Ferraro 513, Kildy Corrado 220-567, Ad Jones 540, Harry Smith 528, Clifton Quick 214-523, Angelo Fondino 570, Joe Schrowang 232-201-598, Tony Kordich 203-513, John Schatzel 527, George Magley 205-214-571, Sheldon Levy 500, Joe Ausanio 507, Mike Rienzo 204-589, Don Herdman 214-578, George Robinson 509, Tim Schussler 201-546, George Glaser 200-539.

Team results:
Rheingold Beer 2, Miron Lumber 1; Schoentag's 3, Petersens 0; Hurley Sand and Grave 2, James Dairy 1; Dole Brothers 1, Utica

Springfield Stays Hot in Eastern Loop

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The hottest club in the Eastern League today is the league-leading Springfield Giants. The biggest disappointment is the Johnstown Red Sox.

Springfield won its fourth game in a row Thursday night with an 11-1 victory over Johnstown. The victory, the Giants' fifth in their last six games, kept them in first place—33 percentage points ahead of Binghamton.

For Johnstown, which returned to the EL after a four-year absence, it marked the sixth straight defeat.

In other games Thursday night, Binghamton defeated Reading 6-1 to shove the third-place Indians two games off the pace and Williamsport beat Lancaster 9-7.

Search Resumed For Fishermen In Oswego Area

ORWELL, N.Y. (AP)—A search resumed today for two fishermen believed drowned Thursday when their outboard motorboat overturned on the Salmon River Reservoir near this Oswego County village.

The sheriff's department identified them as Allan Russell, about 44, and Joseph Armstrong, 22, both of Camden.

George Dahl, another fishermen, said the men and their boat had disappeared by the time he arrived in response to their cries for help. Dahl said he had seen the men in the water near a capsized boat.

At Ithaca, three men tossed into Cayuga Lake when their 15-foot sailboat overturned were rescued by a man and a youth in another boat.

John Allen and Peter Maxson Jr., son of an FBI agent at Ithaca, rescued Horst Cynare, 26, Karl Selke, 31, and Johan Gebauer, 29, all of Ithaca.

The three spent about 20 minutes in the water. The rescuers pulled them into the other boat three miles north of Ithaca, and a larger police boat took them ashore.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Gary Cooper, cheered by the many messages well-wishers have sent him since the full extent of his illness became known, says: "I am not afraid of the future."

The famed actor, under sedation for cancer which has spread throughout his body, also said in a memo to newsmen Thursday: "I know what is happening is God's will."

Cooper, 59, is confined to his home and has received messages of sympathy from all over the world.

Dr. Rexford Kennamer, the actor's physician, said there has been no significant change in Cooper's condition during the past week.

Worker Suffocated

GLOVERSVILLE, N. Y. (AP)—Anthony L. Ponticello, 37, of Gloversville, was suffocated Thursday when trapped by an earth slide in an eight-foot-deep excavation. Ponticello, a contractor, had been laying soil pipe.

'Residents' Evicted

ST. ALBANS, England (AP)—City workmen grimly loaded 300 unwelcome "residents" of St. Albans into a truck, drove out into the country and threw them all into a pond Thursday.

The "residents" were frogs. They were removed from a pond inside the city limits because their croaking kept people awake.

Siren Fail to Sound For Village CD Test

WESTFIELD, N.Y. (AP)—Civil defense officials are not too happy with the results of a drill to gauge how this Chautauqua County village would react in the event of an enemy attack.

The village's sirens failed to sound on schedule last week and wailed only when Fire Chief William Hiller cranked them by hand.

Kiwanis Inducts 5 New Members

The Kingston Kiwanis Club inducted five new members at its regular meeting Thursday, with Dr. Julius I. Gifford, chairman of the Kiwanis Education committee, in charge of the program.

New members included James W. Elder, William H. Brown, Ellis H. Griffith, Michael C. Starkman and Arne Aho.

Gifford spoke briefly concerning "Real Kiwanis Education," and emphasized the "Wisdom of the humble," and then introduced Attorney Roger H. Lougharn who presented an amusing history of the Kingston Kiwanis Club and the participation of its members.

In conclusion, William F. Leehive, also a member of the education committee, gave the "charge" to the new members. Each member received his education kit and his signature apron, and was then requested to present a thumbnail sketch of himself before the club.

Milk Strike Now In Fifth Day, No Break Seen

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Housewives on the Niagara Frontier still hunted for dairies and stores where they could purchase milk today as a strike of truck drivers that has cut milk deliveries about 70 per cent entered its fifth day.

No break in the dispute was in sight as federal and state mediators continued their negotiations with representatives of the milk dealers and Local 39 of the Teamsters' Milk, Ice Cream & Dairy Employes Union.

The key issues in the controversy are job security and work rules, according to a spokesman for the 1,200 striking union members.

Most of the milk produced for the 30 struck dairies in Erie and Niagara counties is being diverted to dry-milk plants. There have been no reports of dumping.

In Albany, meanwhile, milk-truck drivers today accepted a two-year contract and averted a strike against 11 dairies in the Albany-Troy-Schenectady area.

The drivers went to work about two hours after their normal starting time.

Edward Contento, business agent for Local 787 of the Teamsters Milk, Ice Cream Drivers & Dairy Employes Union, said the contract provided for a $14-a-week pay raise over a two-year period for the drivers. Plant workers received a $7 weekly increase.

The union also agreed to the employers' proposal to discontinue Sunday deliveries.

The old contract expired April 30.

The union claims to represent 650 workers.

Contento said that, under the old contract, drivers received a weekly base pay of $47.50, plus commissions. Plant workers were paid approximately $90 a week, depending on classification.

U.S. Seen Ready to Aid Diem to Block Conquest

WASHINGTON (AP)—The major Communist drive for control of Southeast Asia is reported shifting from Laos to South Viet Nam, with the prospect of a prolonged struggle. Both the Soviet Union and the United States are involved to some degree.

Even before a cease-fire in Laos is nailed down, there is renewed talk in official quarters here of the possible use of U. S. forces in Southeast Asia primarily because of the determined Communist effort through guerrilla warfare to overthrow the South Viet Nam government of Premier Ngo Dinh Diem.

The issue is a matter of grave concern within the administration and could be one of the subjects up for discussion at a National Security Council meeting at the White House today.

President Kennedy has an opportunity at a news conference later in the day to set forth his views on the newly developing crisis.

Kennedy conferred Thursday night with Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Fulbright said after the meeting that in his judgment the administration stands ready to offer direct support to Diem's forces if that becomes necessary to block Red conquest of the Southeast Asian country.

Fulbright also endorsed the use of U. S. military force, if necessary to support either South Viet Nam or Thailand, which is a U.S. ally in the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization. Both countries border Laos.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk told a news conference Thursday that Communist guerrilla forces in South Viet Nam now number 12,000 men. They are supported by Communist North Viet Nam.

Two Are Arrested In Liquor Store Bogus Check Case

Two men were booked Thursday on forgery charges after they had allegedly passed a bogus check at a local liquor store.

John Lee Grant, 24, of 157 Hasbrouck Avenue, was arrested yesterday afternoon by detectives Leonard Ellsworth and Albert Hutton, and Vernon Eugene Grant, 29, of Lanesville, picked up by state police at that place last night, was turned over to local police and booked by Officer Thomas Coffey at police headquarters.

Case Postponed

City Judge Aaron E. Klein today put their case over to Saturday to permit them time to obtain counsel. Bail, fixed at $2,500 for Vernon and at $5,000 for John, was not posted. Bail was higher for the latter because he had been on probation.

Police said the check allegedly involved was for $25 and was drawn on the Phoenicia branch of the Kingston Trust Company, and cashed at the Empire Wine & Liquor Store, 600 Broadway. It is charged that John Lee Grant "with intent to defraud," had made out the check to Vernon E. Grant and it was signed with the name of another person as maker of the check.

The arrests resulted of an investigation by Lt. Lemuel Howard and detectives Albert Hutton and Leonard Ellsworth.

Everything Fine, Astronaut Says

Sends Back Facts, Figures; Capsule Rides True Course

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The United States' first spaceman, Alan B. Shepard Jr., rocketed briefly across the threshold of space today and landed safely after a 5,100 mile-an-hour journey that carried him 115 miles high and 302 miles down range.

The pickup occurred at 9:53 a.m. (EST), 19 minutes after the Redstone booster rocket blasted off from Cape Canaveral at 9:34 a.m.

Describes Earth Below

The flight reached an altitude of about 115 miles and lasted 15 minutes.

The 37-year-old Navy commander's good condition was evident throughout the flight when Shepard reported such things as:

"What a beautiful sight!" in describing the earth below.

He radioed back that he could see the outline of the entire East Coast of the United States.

Throughout the rest of the journey, he said everything was OK."

Ships, planes and helicopters raced to attempt recovery of the astronaut when his cabin plopped into the water.

Back in Space Race

Crewmen of the Lake Champlain were told not to speak to the astronaut. Doctors and psychologists want him to tell his story without having it colored by ideas conveyed to him on his return.

The successful shot puts the United States back into the space race with Russia.

Soviet scientists copped the first big prize 23 days ago when they boosted the world's first space traveler, Yuri Gagarin, into a 188-mile high orbit and returned him to earth 108 minutes later.

Today's suborbital shot does not match the Russian achievement but is a major step toward orbiting an American which the National Space Agency plans to do later this year.

The purpose of today's flight was to determine if man can perform useful chores in space.

Does Assigned Tasks

He reported constantly throughout the flight that he was able to do certain tasks, such as pushing levers and buttons and operating manual controls.

All the way through he told the control center at Cape Canaveral by radio that everything was okay.

During the flight, Mercury officials said that Shepard was reporting facts and figures just like a test pilot would.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration made this official announcement: "Test No. 108 is terminated. This was the pioneer U.S. man in space flight. The Mercury spacecraft is on the deck of the aircraft carrier Lake Champlain and the helicopter is about to land. Shepard is about to come out of helicopter."

Shepard's reports on the "beautiful view" came only three minutes following launch, after a periscope in the capsule protruded to give the space pilot a view of the earth.

In Cabin 4 Hours

Shepard had entered his space cabin at 5:18 a.m. (EST), after a final medical examination and a breakfast of filet mignon, scrambled eggs, sherbet and peaches.

He remained there 4 hours, 18 minutes, during a countdown that had been delayed several times by technical troubles and weather.

The Redstone throbbed to life after a countdown directed by for-

Herdman, Muller Are Proud Of Champlain Recovery Job

Two area men were happy today about the part the USS Lake Champlain played in the launching at Cape Canaveral, Fla.

The 40,000-ton aircraft carrier picked up the capsule bearing astronaut Alan B. Shepard after it arched into the Atlantic Ocean.

The two are Herbert Russell Herdman of Vincent Street, a heating mechanic with the Kingston Coal Company, and Albert F. Muller, Allaben carpenter contractor.

Near to their hearts is the carrier Champlain. They served on it as first class seamen during World War 2, having been members of the original crew.

Built at the Norfolk Navy Yard, Portsmouth, Va., the carrier was commissioned June 3, 1946. The Champlain was sponsored by war bonds bought by the people of New York State according to records treasured by Herdman and Muller.

The two are particularly proud of having sailed on the carrier when it established a speed record in 1945. Making an average of 32.048 knots, the Champlain crossed the Atlantic in four days, 51 minutes, fastest time up until her trip's end on November 26.

For five days the big carrier prowled the seas 290 miles off the Florida Coast, waiting for today.

Its job: Pluck the first U.S. astronaut to be shot into space from his landing spot in the sea.

Of all the ships in the recovery fleet, this ship has the key spot

Just Wonderful: Astronaut's Wife

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP)—Mrs. Alan Shepard, who watched her husband on television as he took off into space today, emerged from the privacy of her curtained house triumphant and happy.

Although she had not spoken with her husband, she had been told by Col. John Powers at Cape Canaveral that everything went all right with his rocket ship trip to the fringe of space and back.

"It was just wonderful, wonderful, wonderful," she told the mob of cameramen, reporters and curious neighbors gathered around her porch.

She had been watching the rocket blast on television with a transistor radio in her lap.

With her were her parents, the R. P. Brewers of Kennett Square, Pa., a friend, Mrs. John Matthews, and her daughter, Jean Matthews.

A niece, Alice Williams, who celebrated her 10th birthday today, and the Shepard daughter, Julia, stayed home from school to see the history-making blastoff.

Mrs. Shepard told reporters she had talked to Alan at 9 o'clock Thursday night.

Alan said everything was in good shape, and he sounded fine, she said.

Seek Drainage Correction

Saugerties Board Told Of Barclay Hts. Plight

A group of residents in the Barclay Heights Development reported on a number of drainage problems and road conditions in their area at the Thursday night meeting of Saugerties Town Board.

The delegation pointed out that a drainage condition has existed in the area for nearly three years.

Cites Muskrat Problem

A spokesman for the delegation told The Freeman the area is so badly drained that muskrats have made it their habitat. One of the residents complained that a muskrat had built a nest in one of the road's drainage pipes.

In December the Town Board approved a resolution to use the $40,000 performance bond held by the town for the reconstruction of roads and drainage in the Barclay Heights Development to meet town specifications.

The town has refused to accept the roads from the developer until all conditions and specifications have been met.

The work would be let out to competitive bidding and was expected to start this spring. The town has held a performance bond provided by Jack and Charles Davis of Barclay Heights Development Corp., to guarantee satisfactory completion of roads and drainage before acceptance of the thoroughfares by the township. The bond was issued by Maryland Casualty Company.

Given Last Opportunity

At the December meeting Supervisor Peter M. Williams said the developers were given a last opportunity to complete the work to meet town highway specifications last summer, and since that time nothing has been done.

During last summer Brinnier

Camera Thieves Sought, Also Two Seen Near Market

Theft of two cameras valued at $359 from the Artcraft Camera Shop, 75 North Front Street, by two men was reported to the police Thursday afternoon.

The report was followed by others indicating that suspicious young men were seen in an uptown parking lot and near a market and one stopped by police for questioning escaped in a run through back yards. Police had no information indicating that the theft of cameras and the later incidents might have been connected.

Walk Out of Store

A report early yesterday afternoon said the two men, one dressed in light, and the other in dark clothing, walked out of the North Front Street store with the cameras, one of which was valued at $189.50 and the other at $169.50. Detective

Rocky, Lottery Commission at Odds

Special Probe Ordered To Clean Up N.Y. Bingo

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Rockefeller administration, at odds with the state agency charged with supervising bingo laws, will set up a special commission to investigate all bingo operations in the state in a move to clean up the scandal-ridden games.

Gov. Rockefeller said Thursday he had ordered a thorough study by a Moreland Act Commission. He said he was acting on the basis of testimony at recent hearings of the State Investigation Commission that criminal elements had infiltrated legalized bingo and that public officials had aided them.

Calls Proposals Inadequate

Legislative proposals the State Lottery Control Commission submitted earlier this year to revise the bingo laws "were entirely inadequate," Rockefeller said.

He fired back at comments earlier Thursday by Richards W. Hannah, chairman of the lottery control commission. Hannah said in New York City bingo scandals could have been averted, had the commission's legislative proposals been adopted.

The governor accused the commission of attempting to "shift responsibility" for what he said were its shortcomings.

However, Rockefeller told a news conference he saw nothing in the disclosures at the bingo hearings to warrant any recommendations that bingo be outlawed.

He said the Moreland investigation would lead to legislative recommendations, to be acted upon in 1962, to assure that games are conducted properly and criminal elements are kept out.

A one-member commission, with a staff of investigators and other aides, will conduct the probe under the Moreland Act which authorizes such investigations and provides for broad authority in conducting them.

The individual who will head the bingo investigation has not yet been chosen, Rockefeller said.

He made these comments on other topics at the news conference:

Special Session—A special session of the Legislature will be called late in the fall to reapportion the state's congressional districts, probably after the November election. The Republican-controlled Legislature must reduce the number of congressional seats from 43 to 41, on the basis of more rapid population gains in other states.

In Washington, Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., said he planned to sound out Rockefeller on the question of public reapportionment hearings. There is widespread belief Stratton's 32nd District may be reapportioned out of existence.

Reports About Terror Are Seeping Out of Cuba Now

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Reports of mass terror against opponents of Fidel Castro's regime are seeping out of Cuba despite a curtain of total censorship on news communications and mail.

These reports tell of suffering among thousands of detainees rounded up in the wake of the abortive anti-Castro invasion of mid-April. They tell of thousands inhumanely crowded without food and sanitation in detention centers; of uprisings born of desperation among the prisoners; bloodhounds and police dogs used to threaten the prisoners.

It is now confirmed that the regime has imposed complete censorship on all outgoing news messages which must be cleared through the chief of telecommunications. Mail censorship, long in existence behind the scenes, now is out in the open. Huge piles of mail await censorship at the office of the telecommunications chief, apparently in charge of that job, too.

This is the story of what has been happening to thousands suspected of opposing the regime, as pieced together from the reports from the island:

Between 25,000 and 30,000 Cubans and foreigners, including a number of Americans, were rounded up in Havana alone after the invasion. The detainees were herded into requisitioned buildings, such as the Sports Palace and the Blanquita Theater.

At the Blanquita, there were between 6,000 and 7,500 prisoners, jammed into the auditorium, without any arrangements for food or sanitation. The only food available was that brought by relatives of persons held there.

Midway through the first week of their detention, prisoners were

Chipp Withholds Verdicts In Ellenville Fire Deaths

A verdict as to the cause of death of the two small children of Mrs. Mulvina Merchant, 51 Chapel Street, Ellenville, who died in a flash fire Tuesday, was still being withheld by Coroner Arthur C. Chipp of Kerhonkson, pending completion of an investigation.

The two tots, Leon Merchant, 7 months old, and William Henry Merchant, 19-months old, apparently died of suffocation during the absence of their mother, who reportedly had gone to a neighbors to pick up clothing for the family.

Francine Merchant, 5-year old daughter, who was with the two tots went to a neighbor's apartment in the house and notified the neighbor of the fire which had apparently started from a kerosene stove. The fire was in the living room in which one of the small children was in a crib and the other was in a carriage in an adjoining room.

Funeral services for the two children were held today at 10 o'clock from the Louck's Funeral Home, Inc., North Main Street, Ellenville.

Meanwhile, an investigation is also continuing as to the cause of a fire early Thursday morning which gutted the Ulster Motors establishment at 44 Canal Street, Ellenville, and for a time threatened other structures.

Estimates of the damage done by the two-alarm fire varied from $100,000 to upwards of $150,000. There is a belief that the fire may have started in or near the office.

In addition to thirteen cars in the garage, a large stock of tires and accessories were also lost.

Copter Fall Kills Ballonist After Setting Record Ascent

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Navy medical officer soared higher than man has ever gone in a balloon—113,500 feet up—and then met a tragic death in a 25-foot fall from a rescuing helicopter.

Lt. Cmdr. Victor G. Prather, 34, of Bethesda, Md., fell backward from the sling of the helicopter that had picked him up Thursday in the Gulf of Mexico after an almost perfect landing. He died aboard the carrier Antietam 7½ hours after he and Cmdr. Malcolm Ross, of Washington, soared to their record hight.

Ross was lifted to the carrier by one of three hovering rescue helicopters without injury. He stood on the deck awaiting his companion's rescue.

Hours earlier they were sharing the drama of the record flight, 21½ miles above the gulf. Shortly before reaching maximum altitude, Ross, the pilot, had radioed the carrier that he could see the Atlantic Ocean on the other side of Florida.

Asked on another transmission how things were going, Prather, father of two children, replied: "Things are great. Come on up."

The huge plastic balloon had been launched from the carrier's flight deck off the mouth of the Mississippi River at 7:08 a.m. (Central Standard Time). It reached its maximum altitude 2 hours and 36 minutes later at a point about 136 miles south of Mobile, Ala.

The carrier followed the balloon as it drifted down across the gulf on a southeasterly course. It

By Roger W. Babson

BABSON PARK, Mass., May 5 — The biggest headache of any corporation official in the United States will be suffered, not by General Electric officials, or even those of the AT&T, but by the man who must operate a Northern Pacific-Great Northern-Burlington Railroad Merger.

First, this man may sometime have the ill will of the former Northern Pacific stockholders who may feel they have been robbed. I will not brag of the railway traffic of the Northern Pacific. Like most railroads, the passenger business is a big loss; but even the freight is declining. But the Northern Pacific has very valuable mineral, oil, gas, and other properties with great potential wealth. The only real hedge against inflation is land, of which the Northern Pacific has some of the most valuable.

Second, let me refer to the size of the planned merged railroad. I roughly figure that this will have the greatest mileage of any railroad in the United States. A large part of this mileage should never have been built. Yet with millions of bonds outstanding on these rails, it will be very difficult to get the necessary agreements by bondholders to dismantle a major part of a railroad and liquidate the rails, bridges and rights-of-way. A legal merger is simple, but a division of the "spoils" is exceedingly complicated.

Labor and Small Towns

The only way to prevent such a great merged railroad system from going into bankruptcy is to dismantle at least one-third of the mileage, and reduce the number of employes proportionately. This causes great consternation among the labor unions. They will not only fight for their own jobs; but will feel in doing so they are fighting a battle for every railroad in the country which is now talking merger. But the expected discharge of railway workers likewise angers the thousands of little towns along the lines which should be abandoned. These towns and way stations think their life depends on having a railroad station, especially for freight. To a certain extent every railroad merger will have these handicaps.

As the abandonment of a railroad's main line or branch lines usually means that the roadbed will revert to the county, state, or federal government, the newly merged lines will continue to operate such portions of the Northern Pacific as have the mineral rights. This creates another paradox. Handling of the freight by trucks would ordinarily be the answer; but trucks would not enable the Northern Pacific to hold ownership of all its valuable mineral and oil assets.

What Stockholders May Do

Such a merger awakens a sentimental recollection in my life which should be a lesson to all investors. An uncle of mine was once the operating vice president of the Northern Pacific, with his home in St. Paul. Once when I was going to St. Paul to visit the family of my late wife—Grace K. Babson—my father, Nathaniel Babson of Gloucester, Mass., asked me to call upon my "Uncle John" and ask his opinion as to the value of Northern Pacific securities. My uncle replied:—"Tell Cousin Nat that the Northern Pacific bonds are good; that the preferred stocks will probably work out fairly satisfactorily; but that the common stock today is not worth the paper upon which the certificates are printed." Yet within two years this common stock sold for one thousand dollars per share!

With this personal experience it is difficult for me to advise a present holder of Northern Pacific what to do. I think, however, that a good many Northern Pacific holders will sell their stock and switch into the stock of Union Pacific. The latter sells at about 32 and pays $1.60 dividend per year. Union Pacific is both rich in management and has great mineral, oil, gas and other hidden assets. It is the shortest line between Chicago and the Pacific Coast and has the least mileage to maintain when making the trip—largely on double track. I do not recommend any railroad or other stocks in this column; but I can report what I think large stockholders are doing.

Japanese Clerics Want to Preach Christ Themselves

By ALAN CLINE

TOKYO (AP)—A Southern California evangelist is bringing a Christian crusade here Saturday amid smouldering opposition from many Japanese Christians.

Heading the crusade is Dr. Bob Pierce, president of World Vision of Pasadena, Calif. A colleague calls the May 6-June 4 nightly affair a "soft sell," a new approach to reaching the Japanese.

Not all Japanese agree and a few Japanese pastors have been vocal in their opposition. One newspaper ran a cartoon showing a cleric pouring tea on a typical Japanese. The caption said: "The crusade is going to make instant Christians." Instant products are a current craze here.

One American missionary said most of the opposition centers on the issue of nationalism, the Japanese Christian leaders feeling they must do their own evangelism.

Pierce's staff contends such argument is invalid. Roy Nicholson, director of World Vision said, "We're simply making a platform to deliver a Christian message through music and a message by Dr. Pierce. It's a very soft sell, and yet the pitch is there."

Nicholson said there would be plenty of music from a chorus of 1,000 and a 75-piece orchestra, all Japanese.

World Vision promised, Nicholson said, that no baptisms or other rituals would be made on the site—the 10,000-seat Metropolitan gymnasium—because officials did not want rituals performed there and the organization did not feel it was the place for such sites anyway.

The Rev. Teruji Hirayama, pastor of the Yamate Church here and one of the vocal opponents, objected to the use of the gym and contended the cost of the crusade, $277,000, was tantamount to doing "missionary work by banquet."

Nicholson said the money came mostly from small, individual donations in the United States. He added Japanese Christians are putting up $40,000 and two Japanese Christian church councils invited World Vistion to stage the crusade.

Young Angstrom lit a candle representing each step in his scouting trail as those steps were read aloud to the audience and Scouts by Scoutmaster Angstrom, the boy's father.

Following the awarding of the Eagle Badge to young Angstrom by Edward Gardner, the scout presented his mother, who started him on the trail of scouting as his den mother in Cub Scouts, with a miniature Eagle badge.

Thomas Wadnola, Life Scout from Troop 10, Kingston, and a member of the Order of the Arrow, performed a colorful Indian ordeal dance in honor of the new Eagle Scout who is also a member of the Order of the Arrow.

The final presentation of the troop honor medals was made by Committeeman Thurin. Thurin asked previous recipients of the honor medals, Lansing Naylor and Peter Tongue to escort Gary Terwilliger, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Terwilliger of 4 Washington Avenue, to the platform where he was presented with the second place Honor Medal award. Then he asked Honor Medal holders, Michael Angstrom, John Cranston and Thomas Policano to escort Robert Kelly, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Kelly, High Woods, Saugerties, to the platform where he was presented with the first place Honor Medal which completed the presentation of the awards and the evening's ceremonies.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MAY 5, 1961

COST OF PUBLIC WELFARE

Public assistance costs in Ulster County were $1,430,944 last year, according to a report released by the Citizens Public Expenditure Survey. This is an increase of three per cent compared with the bill in 1959.

The cost of public assistance here continued to increase despite a slight drop in the number of people receiving assistance. Last year the number of recipients was 2,056. In 1959 it was 2,080.

The report pointed out that the cost for every man, woman and child in Ulster County was $12.04 an increase of 1.2 per cent over 1959's per capita cost of $11.90.

Public assistance costs reached $339.1 million in 1960, a 1.7 per cent increase over 1959, although the number of people who received assistance in an average month declined to 512,691.

The survey, basing its report on official state figures, said 1960 was the seventh consecutive year expenditures have increased.

There are five public assistance programs in New York State. They are old age assistance, aid to dependent children, aid to the blind, aid to the disabled and home relief. Home relief is paid for by state and local funds while the other programs are supported by a combination of federal, state and local money.

Although public assistance makes up the bulk of welfare spending, it does not represent total welfare spending in New York. There are welfare programs for children in foster homes, hospital care for persons not on relief and other programs. When these programs are considered, it brings total welfare spending in New York to $576.9 million in 1960.

Welfare on a state and federal basis today is a vast program. In a few years, federal welfare has grown from a small burden to become the second most expensive in the government. Only national defense costs more.

SAFETY BEGINS WITH YOU

For long years we have heard, quite properly, the steady note of alarm struck over huge traffic death tolls and other accident fatalities. All too little is the massive total of accident injuries impressed upon us.

From all accident causes, about 90,000 Americans lose their lives every year. Not much less than half are the result of automobile mishaps.

But nearly 47 million persons suffer injury in accidents each year. This means that more than a quarter of the nation's population gets involved. It seems almost incredible.

The U.S. surgeon general, Luther Terry, points out, too, that many of these millions of injured are crippled, disfigured, made dependent on wheel chairs and crutches, even confined to bed for life.

The worst of it is that a surprisingly high percentage of accidents happen to individuals who are approaching or enjoying their most productive years.

Surely we as a people can do a vastly better job than this in protecting our own life and limb.

The coffee industry recommends its products for making pies, cookies and cakes. This may call for longer coffee breaks.

THAT JUDICIAL CALM

Much was made of the recent open disagreement between Chief Justice Warren and Justice Franfurter. News accounts emphasized the asperity of this Supreme Court dispute. Yt the most striking thing about the set-to was the judicial calm that prevailed. This despite keen differences of opinion apparently steamed up by mutual feelings of outrage.

The chief justice and his colleague did tangle in open court. They spoke with some heat. But discipline and control were the watchwords. Not long after the exchange, the two were conversing without apparent rancor.

The incident is instructive. Most of us, when involved in a controversy about which we have strong feelings, are likely to be mastered by emotion before many words have been said. The hot blood rises, and soon we are saying things both stupid and unfair instead of holding to rational argument. The trick of disagreeing without being disagreeable is something for everyone, and not only judges, to learn.

'These Days'

HOW MUCH MUST WE LOSE?

There is no use going into a fight unless the intention is to win. To lose is to strengthen the enemy. The only reason why Soviet Russia has defeated the United States in Korea, Cuba, Laos, as we shall lose in other parts of the world, is that the Russians are intent and aggressive whereas the United States prefers to retreat, to abnegate, to avoid direct action, to talk, talk, talk until the vapor of words fills the air.

All this talk of doing nothing about Cuba is childish because if the United States does not do something about Cuba, the Russians, using Cuba as a fortress, will do something about the United States. The logic which produced our defeat in Korea, is producing our defeat in Cuba. The same men who brought about our defeat in Korea are bringing on our defeat in Cuba.

The argument runs that if we protect the United States in Cuba, Soviet Russia will seize Berlin. In fact, Khrushchev said so. The answer to that can only be, "seize and be damned." Those who are afraid are already dead. When a nation shudders at the thought of war, it is already in the process of being conquered.

This is the basis of Soviet strategy against the United States. It is to defeat us step by step without war and to isolate us. In Laos, the British confused us by the proposition that they would act as brokers to effectuate a truce. Meanwhile, the Red Chinese-directed Laotian rebels steadily moved forward. The game is nearly over but the truce is still in the making. Perhaps we shall get around to a truce when the Red Chinese will move into Cambodia and Thailand. Shall we retreat from there, too?

If we have neither the courage nor the technique to defend our word, why don't we quit altogether? The Russians will isolate us in a year or two unless we choose a place to fight them and stop this process. It is our isolation that is their target. The Russians and Red Chinese are building Empire and are not wasting time with petty conversations either at the United Nations or any other conference. While they make speeches, they also march forward.

Their argument is:

"You want to talk, so talk. We have plenty of delegates to send to meetings. Let them talk. It counts for nothing but you Westerners are so bogged down in a swamp of words that you talk because it gives you pleasure, like a debating society in college. You talk to each other and you talk to us. But we are very busy men.

"With us, it is different. We are attending to business. Our business. Your business. It does not matter. We have men for talking and men for acting. If we have a man who jumps on a horse and rides furiously until he comes to a ditch; then he turns around and goes back slowly — if we have such a man, like some of my colleagues were, we send them far away. We do not need those who dare not take the next inevitable step. We get rid of them.

"The West objects that Khrushchev said, 'We will bury you.' So, he talked too much! So what! You are burying yourself by being afraid. And the more afraid you are, the more we will say, Boo!"

And it is all a correct position. Our President has chosen as his advisers those who advised President Roosevelt and President Truman. The results of their period of political activity have thus far been disastrous. During his campaign, President Kennedy said that we had reached a low prestige. He would raise our prestige, but many of those whom he chose to help him raise our prestige were among those who helped lower our prestige.

President John F. Kennedy is nobody's fool. Sooner or later, he will weary of the supercilious advice which he receives from those who are always proved to be wrong by the course of events. He will ask himself why the course of events proves them to be wrong. He will then set up his own policy without the counsellors of defeat. When he does, the United States will again go forward. It will not go forward by retreating.

Give Baby Extra Feedings To Increase Milk Supply

Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—"I am 23 years old and the mother of a two-year-old boy. I am husky and strong and made both the basketball and hockey teams while I was at high school. But I was unable to nurse my son and when we put him on a cow's milk formula he broke out with a terrible rash on his face that lasted for months, even after we put him on a goat milk formula. I'm going to have my second child in a few months and I don't want to go through that experience again. Is there anything I can do to increase my milk supply? Is it true that I can get hormone shots like those given cows?

A—I don't know about hormone shots to increase milk secretion in cattle but I do know there is no generally approved product for use in humans. However, a recent study in the Journal of the American Academy of Pediatrics may furnish a much simpler and happier solution to the writer's problem. Briefly stated, a team of doctors from the University of Mississippi Medical School observed the effects of changed frequencies on mother's milk production. What they discovered was just about the opposite of what you might have predicted. "When the number of feedings and the total nursing time were decreased, significantly LESS milk was obtained by the baby.

"But when the number of feedings and the total nursing time were increased, the amount of milk obtained by the baby did not change for 48 hours, but then it rose to the control level observed at the beginning of the study"—that is to say, before noting the effects of decreasing the number of feedings and the total nursing time.

From their studies, the doctors recommended that mothers who wish to increase their milk supply should feed their infants two or three EXTRA times each day.

I hope my correspondent will take heed of this fascinating study. Indeed, the more you think about the results, the surer you are that they're correct in their conclusions. I rather imagine any experienced "wet nurse" could have predicted the outcome in advance.

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON, (NEA)—Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall has asked that oil and gas industry representatives, lobbyists and public relations executives in Washington be solicited to buy $100 tickets or ten tickets for a full table at $1,000 to a dinner honoring President Kennedy here on May 27.

THIS BECAME KNOWN today through an original copy of a circular letter sent to 56 oilmen in the capital by J. K. Evans of Asiatic Petroleum Co., on April 5. Evans maintains offices at 5709 K St., N. W., but the letter was sent out on one of his personal letterheads from his residence at 3005 Normanstonestone Drive, N. W. A copy of the letter has just come into the possession of this writer, and is reproduced in adjoining columns.

Interest in this letter centers in the fact that most of the U. S. government's oil and gas programs are administered by the Department of Interior, headed by Secretary Udall of Arizona.

At the bottom of the letter is a stenographer's file line, "cc: The Honorable Stuart L. Udall," indicating that a copy of the letter was sent to him. But the opening paragraph of the letter clearly associates the secretary with the solicitation.

At the top of the letter are the names of the 56 oil and gas men to whom it was sent.

After the letters were mailed out, somebody must have had a twinge of doubt or conscience about them, for an effort was made to call them back or have them destroyed.

THIS IS THE THIRD BIT of trouble Udall has become involved in during his first 100 days in office. Shortly after he was sworn in, he admitted that he had urged some of his former congressional colleagues in the House to vote for the proposed Rules Committee reorganization.

In a recent television interview Udall declared the Cuban Invasion plan had been made during the Eisenhower administration. He was severely criticized by Republicans for attempting to blame the Cuban fiasco on Eisenhower.

The Evans letter to oil and gas men is almost certain to backfire on Udall. As one prominent Republican declares, "If we had attempted anything like this, everybody would have jumped all over us."

The Kennedy administration is already under criticism for failing to include any provision for reducing oil and gas depletion allowances in its new tax reform program.

Revelation of the existence of the Evans letter just a few days after President Kennedy's message to Congress recommending a new code of ethics for government officials seems certain to be mentioned by GOP critics.

HERE IS A LIST of names of 56 oil and gas men at the top of the letter, and their business affiliations:

Curtis Morris, American Gas Assn.; Fred M. McIntyre, American Natural Gas System; L. H. Welsh, American Oil Co.; John E. Kane and Frank L. Dennis, American Petroleum Institute; Garry Owen, Arabian American Oil Co.; William J. Hull, Ashland Oil & Refining Co.; R. H. Fulton, Ball Associates, oil and gas consultants; E. P. Kavanaugh, California-Texas Oil Corp.; Narvin B. Weaver, Cities Service Co.

Minimum-Wage 'Victory' Seen as Business Setback

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, May 4—The possibility of a setback in business is not a pleasant thing to discuss. But what has just been hailed as a "victory" for President Kennedy, when Congress passed the new minimum-wage bill, could turn out to be a measure that actually prolongs the present recession.

Up to now, it has always been thought to be the better part of wisdom to keep wage rates stable during a recession and wait for better times. But the Democrats in Congress have just taken a step which not only affects the 24,000,000 workers who are covered by minimum-wage but provides labor unions with the excuse to start a demand for a general wage increase.

Spurs Wage Demands

Instead of permitting the nation to treat the wounds it has received as a result of the dislocation of the national economy by the steel strike, the unions which have the support of the Kennedy administration now have driven ahead to start a wave of wage increases.

The larger businesses will not be hurt as much as will small business. The new minimum-wage law will cause the loss of jobs to many persons now employed. Small businesses generally will not be able to pay the increased wage and will have to cut down the number of their employes.

Layoffs Ahead

Congress knew that a serious disruption would occur and did heed the pleas of some small businesses when laundry workers and cotton-gin employes were exempted from the provisions of the proposed law. There is no doubt that small businesses will have to lay off employes so as to meet the higher payroll imposed on an already narrow margin of profit.

It was something of a surprise to see the House vote go up to 230 from the 216 affirmative votes cast on March 24. The opposition vote dropped from 203 to 196. What caused this shift?

The answer is that the administration played its political cards shrewdly especially among House members from the South. The White House announced the other day that it is going to do something to alleviate the woes of the textile industry by providing quotas on foreign imports. This interests the South. Likewise, cotton-gin employes were exempted. This also helped to win southern votes.

Laundries Exempt

A concession was also made to operators of laundries by exempting their workers. Though this hurts Negro employes, the result nevertheless was to gain votes in the South. The whole incident is being pictured as a blow to the coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats. Apparently the Administration has the political wherewithal to break down the Democratic party's conservatives in the South. The significance of what has just happened is that, by throwing a bone here and there, a number of votes in the House were obtained by the Administration for the minimum-wage bill.

The first of a series of increases will go into effect within four months for at least 2,500,000 workers. The proprietors of the business establishments involved will have to begin soon to make provision for the increased compensation, and this will mean considerable readjustment. For something more than a wage increase for the regular work week is involved. The rate goes up also on the time-and-a-half basis for overtime.

Affects Other Wage Scales

Perhaps the biggest consequence will come in handling wage scales above the minimum. Differentials are maintained between different worker classes. Hence, when the minimum goes up, it affects workers all along the line above the minimum, too. This is hardly the opportune moment for readjusting wage scales on a broad basis. But the Administration has plowed ahead irrespective of consequences. The unemployment compensation rolls will soon tell the story in increased applicants.

But shouldn't the minimum wage be increased? Certainly there is every reason for providing higher and higher compensation for everyone who has to face the decreasing purchasing power of the dollar. But there is a good time for such an adjustment and a bad time. Recession months are not an occasion for further deterioration of the employment rolls. The period should be used to build a sound and stable economy so that wage increases will be paid out of an expanding prosperity and increased national growth.

The tragic part of the story is that, when the present recession drags or is followed after a brief recovery by another dip, the cry will be for more spending by government. Yet the incentives so essential to a genuine recovery are being neglected and the drift is toward more and more makeshift remedies and distortions of the wage structure.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

It is often surprising for me what subjects bring response from the readers. James Rigney Jr. of 2 South Washington Avenue first loaned me the "Poems of Henry Abbey" which was published here in Kingston. Attorney Henry Klein had just come in and he said he liked Abbey's poem, "May in Kingston."

Then I received a letter from Mrs. Joseph Welch of Brooklyn, who asked for a poem about a mother and sons. I did not know this Abbey Poem, so received a card from Henry Klein who said it was "Ballad of Consolation" on page 69.

Now Miss Ella Reynolds of 40 Kiersted Avenue phoned me, she is looking for the column in which I mention Mrs. Welch and Abbey's poems. She sends these columns to Mrs. Joseph Welch, who was formerly Helen Anglin of Ponckhockie.

"Ballad of Consolation" is a very long poem. Here is one on page 11 called "Recompense," I liked. Perhaps it is written about Abbey's neighborhood. It starts: "In spring, two robins from the southern lands, Built a brown nest upon an unsafe limb. Of the large tree that by my window stands, And every morn they praised God with a hymn; And when a certain season passed away, Five light-green eggs within the building lay."

Abbey further wrote, (before 1885) "Above the rush and clatter of the street, Devotedly was guarded each green trust, And the round house was an abode most sweet, Roofed with expectant wings: . . . But one dread day, before the sun went down, A cloud arose, a black and monstrous hand, That robbed the sunset of its golden crown."

Abbey then described our wild summer thunderstorms which will always be with us: "The portals of the storm were opened wide, And pealing thunder rolled on every side. Then was it some unchained, malicious gust, Broke off the limb on which the nest was stayed, And to the ground the tender dwelling thrust, The birds' dismayed, Were shrill with grief, and beat the moving air, With wings whose frantic whir was like despair."

"At dawn," Abbey continued, "My friends who live across the way, Sent me the whisper that their child was dead: And, when they led to where the body lay—The free, winged spirit's shell, untimely shed—And the wild cries of their distress I heard', My sympathy again was deeply stirred."

"Yet grief is but a cloud that soon is past; Hither the mated robins came once more, And built, with cunning architecture, fast, In the same tree besides my friendly door; And in the soft-floored building could be seen, Five sources of sweet music, new and clean."

And the poet's last verse reads: "Time passed, and to the good home opposite, Another babe was born, and all the love, That was bereft that fierce and stormy night, Fell to the latter child as from above: And in the nest five yellow mouths one day, Of their impatient hunger made display."

The first printing of this book of poems by Abbey was in 1896. I own a copy of Henry Abbey's poems through the graciousness of Tom Walsh, a dealer of Hudson River and Ulster County history books of 37 Boulevard, Kingston.

Excellent, Word On Jail Check

A very complimentary report on the condition of the Ulster County Jail has been submitted by Richard E. Woodward, senior inspector, State Commission of Correction, following an inspection made on February 16, 1961.

The general condition and supervision of the jail was found to be excellent and the manner or administrating the affairs of the office by Sheriff Claude Bell and the maintenance of records as required by regulations was found to be excellent.

One Recommendation

One recommendation is contained in the report, that of providing additional space so that there may be proper classification of prisoners during periods of high population.

The report states that the county officials should "give serious consideration to providing adequate detention facilities so that the sheriff will not be obliged to violate the Correction Law in regard to classification."

This recommendation arises out of lack of space in the jail at times of high population and makes references to a portion of the jail has never been equipped with cells.

In his report, Woodard recommends that consideration be given to this fourth or top tier which has the corridor grating but no cells. He suggests the county officials give this consideration "as there is no indication that it (jail population) will decrease in the foreseeable future."

Under present conditions at the jail in times of high population, the report states, prisoners are classified by utilizing the "flats" as a domitory, allowing five inmates to sleep in the basement room and having tier men sleep in the cell room.

Some Thought on Cost

Some consideration has been given as regards the cost of completing the cells on the fourth tier, or constructing a wing on the present structure, the report states.

Custodial staff consists of the undersheriff, who is at the jail during the daytime, a jailer or assistant jailer and two deputies on each of the three eight hour tours of duty. Three officers are on duty at all hours and on Thursdays, Saturdays and Sundays, there are four men on all shifts. A matron is in attendance whenever a female is detained. There are four deputies who care for the reliefs on all tours and the personnel work forty hours, five day weeks.

At the time of the inspection there was a total population of 39 inmates. There were 16 adult males, one minor and one female serving sentence and 13 male adults, seven minors and one female awaiting court action.

Records in Orderly Manner

At the time of inspection all records were being kept in "orderly manner" and prisoners were properly classified in accordance with the Correction Law but at or near capacity it is "necessary to place cots on the "flats" at the rear of the first floor cell sections, the report states.

All areas of the jail were inspected and found "in a clean and orderly condition." Bedding, cells and sanitary facilities were "satisfactory." The cells were found free of unnecessary articles and all inmates were provided with neat institution uniforms on admission.

The report comments on the clean, newly painted condition of the jail and the good quality of food served inmates. Posted menus indicated a variety of food being served.

Keys Properly Handled

All keys to the jail were "properly handled" when not in use and all safety devices and manner of deputies entering the jail received approval. Manner of receiving visitors in smuggle-proof visiting booths on Tuesdays and Saturdays were also approved.

Storage of personal articles of inmates, censorship of mail and other routine matters including freedom of prisoners in exercise corridors until 9:30 p. m. when they are locked in their cells and lights are extinguished, were also referred to.

Female prisoners are properly detained with the key to the quarters in possession at all times of the matron.

Bares New Terror At Eichmann Trial

JERUSALEM, Israel (AP) — The terror of the "Einsatzgruppen," the Nazi death commandos who rounded up the Jews during World War II for bloody massacres, was resurrected today by prosecution witnesses in the trial of Adolf Eichmann.

Atty. Gen. Gideon Hausner told the court he had evidence that "Eichmann's department was in the very center of this plan."

An official report on the Einsatzgruppen activities in the Baltic, made by Eichmann's "old friend" Franz Walter Stahlbecker, was introduced by Hausner as evidence.

Boy of 14 at Time

He said the report spoke of killing more than 100,000 Jews as if it were "speaking of the canning of sardines or of herring."

Testimony on an Einsatzgruppen operation in Poland came from Abraham Aviel, who said he was a boy of 14 when the Germans occupied his village near Radom, Poland.

"In April 1942, the Germans closed off the ghetto," Aviel said. "About 100 Jews were given spades and were marched off to the west. My father was in that group. After about half an hour we heard automatic weapons fired.

"We knew what was in store for us, but there was nothing we could do. Then a second group was marched off. This included my brother. I tried to join him. The Germans would not let me. Hours went by. I tried to hide my family in the attic."

Eventually, Aviel said, the Germans discovered his family and they all were marched out to join about 1,000 other Jews who were led away to a graveyard.

"When we got there, we were told to kneel, heads down.

"I was small so I could raise my head without being discovered. In front of me there was a large trench, about 30 yards long. People were made to undress on the edge of the trench. Then there was a machine gun burst.

"I saw a group of Jews digging graves. My brother was among them. I saw him. At that moment I thought, 'One must survive so he can tell what happened.'

Killed as Partisans

"I jumped forward. I managed to reach the end of the road."

Aviel said he joined his brother on the grave-digging detail and succeeded in returning to the ghetto. A few days later the two fled to the woods where they met their father.

His father and brother were later killed as partisans, Aviel said.

Rocky Never Played, So No Bingo Comment

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — "I've never played bingo, so I wouldn't know," Gov. Rockefeller said Thursday when asked what he thought of the game.

The question was put to the governor at a news conference at which he announced his administration would investigate criminal infiltration into bingo.

Asked how he had voted on the 1957 constitutional amendment that legalized bingo, Rockefeller said he did not recall.

"But," he added, "my hunch is that I avoided it."

Saugerties Board

& Larios, consulting engineers for the town and an engineer from the development corporation agreed on what must be done before the roads can be accepted by the town. The main objection of the town to acceptance was the installation of culverts under each driveway and deep ditches along the edge of the pavement, Supervisor Williams said. This created a dangerous condition for both cars and residents, the supervisor said.

The town asked for removal of the culverts and regrading of driveways and lawns, and the installation of a shallow paved ditch for drainage.

Supervisor Williams told the delegation that Brinnier and Larios of Kingston are in the process of preparing specifications for the work prior to advertising for bids.

Discuss Fire Coverage

The board discussed a letter received from Saugerties Village Board advising that a group of residences on Upper Esopus Creek Road and Oakledge Park are in an unprotected fire area and will not be covered by the village fire department. The area, outside the village includes 20 or 30 residences. The residents of that area must act by petition to secure fire protection and have options available to them. They may petition to become a part of the village corporation, which would require an act of the State Legislature; they may form a fire protective district and purchase protection from the village or the adjacent Centerville Fire District, or they may petition to become a part of Centerville Fire District. The area is believed too small to support its own volunteer fire company.

Both village and Centerville fire companys have been reluctant to cover fires in the area because it is out of their assigned districts and firemen responding in the unprotected area are not covered by the blanket insurance policy provided for volunteers.

In other business, Charles Tiano of Flatbush was named to the town constable's staff.

landed on the gulf at 4:05 p.m. having run into trouble on descent. When the balloonists had dropped to an altitude of about 40,000 feet the rate suddenly and alarmingly had increased to 1,000 feet a minute, according to information relayed to Washington from the carrier.

Prather and Ross jettisoned everything, a Navy spokesman said, including their radio and a drag line which would have been a key facility in an attempt to land aboard the carrier. Loss of the drag line made the planned landing on the carrier impossible, the Navy said.

Navy officials reported the gondola landed on the water "almost perfectly" and that the huge balloon detached itself as it had been designed to do. While the gondola floated on the surface, about 1½ miles from the Antietam, the three helicopters raced toward the balloonists.

As Prather was being hoisted into the helicopter he fell from the sling. He was encumbered with a spacesuit and instrumentation weighing about 25 pounds when dry.

A Navy statement said Prather fell backward into the water and went under when the pressurized suit apparently became water-logged. The accident occurred about 140 miles southsoutheast of Pensacola, Fla.

Remained Unconscious

Prather was pulled back to the still floating gondola in a few minutes by a Navy skin diver, who had dropped from one of the helicopters. Then, Prather was removed to the carrier in a motorized whale boat. He was unconscious when pulled from the water and apparently never regained consciousness before dying aboard the carrier about an hour and 20 minutes after being pulled from the water.

An autopsy was begun at the Naval Air Station at Pensacola, Fla.

Camera Thieves

Leonard Ellsworth with Officers James Scott, Robert Bonesteel, Leon Fitzgerald and Weston Hoffay were assigned to comb the area. One of the men was described as stout and the other as slender.

Last night one report noted that a car with four occupants was seen in the parking lot of the Governor Clinton Market off St. James Street. Another by Officer Sheldon O'Rourke said two men were loitering suspiciously near Lehr's Sterling Market, 36 Sterling Street.

Escapes From Car

The latter two, the report said, wore khaki or light beige jackets, and it was said they entered a yellow or cream colored car with others inside and "took off."

Officers Edward Edwards and Thomas Coffey later reported spotting two men, one on the sidewalk and the other near one side of the Lehr market. They caught one, put him in the rear of the car and he escaped out the opposite door, ran through back yards and was pursued by the officers, but they lost him in the darkness.

Report About

screaming for food, and fighting their way through a litter of filth and excrement for a chance to use the few toilets. Many became ill. At least three typhoid cases were reported.

Reports from those who saw it in person say that at one point the prisoners tried to rise up against their militia guards. Several shots were fired into the crowd. Two prisoners were wounded, but this failed to quiet the detainees.

Then bloodhounds and police dogs were paraded across the stage, and the militiamen threatened to turn the dogs on the prisoners if they failed to quiet down.

The prisoners attempted another uprising, overwhelming some militia guards and seizing their weapons. But later young Castro militiamen entered the Blanquita to serve as guards, and met no trouble. Finally, in desperation, the detainees threatened to burn the theater and everyone in it if they were not given food and some decent sanitation. Shortly afterward Castro authorities began freeing some of those under detention and taking others elsewhere.

matter of FACT

Presidential electors once voted for a dead man. Horace Greeley died shortly after the general election of 1872. When the Electoral College met, most of the 66 votes pledged to Greeley transferred to other men. But three loyal supporters stood by the great abolitionist—even in death—though the votes weren't counted.

Bloomington Vols List Activities PlanSupperEvent

Final plans for a pancake and sausage supper, sponsored by the Bloomington Fire Co., Inc., were announced at the regular meeting held this week at the firehouse.

Herbert Faurote, chairman of the committee, said the supper will be held Saturday at the firehouse in Bloomington. It will be served from 5 to 8 p. m. and the public has been invited to attend. Serving on the committee with Faurote: Cooks, Leslie Evory, John Markle, Harold Nichols and Joseph Hafner; waiters, Oscar Hahn, William vonOhlen, Charles Peterson, George Hafner, Donald Sagar, Raymond LeFever and Kneth Taylor; clean-up, Albert Schmidt Jr., and Howard Slover.

Conduct Wash Service

It was also reported at the meeting that response to the company's car washing service has been most gratifying. Every Saturday throughout the spring and summer, volunteers will continue the service. Cars are accepted from 12 noon until 4 p. m. each week and an appointment is not necessary. Pick up and delivery is also available by contacting any fireman. In case of rain, the service is automatically canceled for that day.

Chief Oscar Hahn reported that Bloomington responded to two calls during April.

He also reminded the volunteers of the drill at Stewart Air Force Base in Newburgh Sunday, May 21. He stated that all firemen should meet at the firehouse at 10:30 a. m. The drill will begin at 12 noon with an hour of classroom theory and continue on the field with actual fires. He advised each member to bring lunch and to wear old clothes, helmets, boots and raincoats.

Five Units Participating

Bloomington is participating in this drill together with the other members of the Township of Rosendale Volunteer Firemen's Association which include Tillson, Rosendale, Cottekill and Binnewater.

As all five companies of the association are participating in the drill, the association will not conduct its own drill this month but the series will continue in June with Bloomington conducting the next local drill.

A report was given that after a recess of two months, the Bloomington Fire Company Concert Band is again rehearsing Wednesday evenings at the firehouse at 7 p. m. All members of the band are requested to report this Wednesday evening. It was also stated that there are still openings in the band for interested musicians. There is no age limit and everyone is welcome. The only requirement for membership is that the applicant has an instrument. Director Barry Leavey said the band plans a spring concert shortly.

President Fred Sauer reported that Bloomington volunteers are currently planning a donkey baseball game with the tentative date set as July 23. The game will be played against the Rosendale Fire Company at Sportsmen's Park in Rosendale at 2:30 in the afternoon. Proceeds from the game would be placed in the special apparatus fund of the organization.

Instruct Auxiliary

Faurote announced that recently several members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the company had attended a meeting at which he demonstrated the use of the organization's inhalator. The ladies were also given a demonstration of artificial respiration by Joseph Hafner. Hafner explained the mouth to mouth method of resuscitation. It was explained that in the event of an emergency when only a lady might be available, she should know how to use the inhalator and give artificial respiration should it be necessary.

At the conclusion of the meeting, a prayer in memory of a recently deceased member, Floyd Evory, was offered by the chaplain, the Rev. Richard Brown of Bloomingdale Reformed Church, and refreshments were served.

JFK Undecided on CIA

Dulles, 68, May Be Around Longer in Washington Post

EDITORS: The author of the following story, which includes interpretive material, is a veteran diplomatic reporter for The Associated Press.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Allen W. Dulles, Washington's grandfatherly master spy, may have a longer lease on his official life than many people here thought immediately after the Cuban invasion failure.

This possibility arises because inquiry at the highest levels of the government now strongly indicates President Kennedy has not yet decided what he wants to do with the embattled Central Intelligence Agency. Dulles 68, is head of the agency and his fate is closely linked with its future.

What does now appear to be highly probable if not absolutely certain, is a violent shakeup of the whole complex of foreign undercover activities carried on by many divisions of the federal government. CIA is the top coordinating outfit but others exist in the military services and in other civilian agencies.

Kennedy now has appointed two boards to tell him what to do about the CIA and related operations. The first headed by retired Army Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor was named April 22. It was assigned to "survey on a grand scale U.S. intelligence, semimilitary and guerrilla warfare capabilities."

The second board is actually a reorganized agency originally created by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower about six years ago. Kennedy selected Dr. James R. Killian Jr. to direct this group, which will serve as an advisory committee on all intelligence activities.

Inquiries among high administration officials in position to know the views of all the principal figures in this political drama produced the following information on these points today:

1. President Kennedy "at the moment" has no plan to make any change in Dulles' assignment. This does not mean any reassurance to Dulles about the future; it means that Kennedy is awaiting the results of the surveys he has ordered. The Taylor study is due to report in mid-June.

2. Dulles himself likes his job and has no intention of resigning or retiring, especially under fire.

3. Atty. Gen. Kennedy has no plans for going into intelligence work himself and has told friends that there is nothing to reports he may succeed Dulles.

Pressure for Legislation Ineffective

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — New York's Legislature is unlikely to reopen the door for grand juries to issue critical reports containing no indictments, it appeared today.

This was the outlook, despite pressure for legislation that, in effect, would overrule a recent decision by the Court of Appeals.

Controversy and confusion followed the decision, which held that grand juries in the state had no right to comment or report on investigations that had not led to formal accusations of crime.

The confusion is caused by dispute over the actual extent of the court's decision.

Silence on Those Cleared

On the theory that the opinion of the state's highest court prohibited a Grand Jury from announcing anything but indictments, one judge refused to publicize names of persons cleared by a grand jury, although the names had been made public when the persons were arrested.

Other judges disputed this interpretation.

The Court of Appeals handed down its decision—reached by a 4-3 vote—on February 23.

Majority Report

Judge Marvin R. Dye, writing for the majority, said:

"In the public mind, accusation by report is indistinguishable from accusation by indictment . . .

"The Grand Jury report . . . carries the same sense of authoritative condemnation as an indictment does, without, however, according the accused the benefit of the protections accorded to one who is indicted."

The Other Side

Chief Judge Charles S. Desmond wrote for the minority: "Nothing is more hostile to the central spirit of American philosophy than to allow any public officer to suppress and bury a relevant, non-scandalous commentary on public affairs by an authorized body of citizens."

These conflicting points of view are the basic, public arguments of those still debating the court decision.

The opponents hope for legislation that will spell out in the law, safe from any judicial challenge, that grand juries have the right to issue reports calling public attention to what they consider undesirable situations, regardless of whether there are grounds for indictments.

The Grand Jury Assn. of New York County (Manhattan) has announced it will seek that legislation next year. Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan of that county says he will support it.

Will Try to Get Report

Sen. MacNeil Mitchell, R-Manhattan, has said he will introduce legislation to allow grand juries to report.

But the Legislature's Republican majority leaders seem disinclined to act.

Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino and Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney are the two men who would have the most to say about whether such a bill would be passed.

Carlino says he agrees in general with the court decision. "The job of a Grand Jury is to indict or not to indict," the speaker said in an interview.

Mahoney holds there are arguments on both sides and has taken no stand. But in 1946, Mahoney sponsored a bill that would have put into law what the court said 15 years later—that grand juries not indicting may not report.

Must Not Impair

Thomas E. Dewey, then governor, vetoed the Mahoney bill. He said the institution of the grand jury must neither be impaired nor whittled away.

The 1961 Legislature had ample time after the court decision to enact any legislation it wished on the subjects of Grand Jury reports. But the lawmakers took no action, nor was the question discussed at legislative sessions.

Whether the results of the court's decision will change the prospects remains to be seen.

Immediate Development

Here are some of the immediate developments resulting from the decision:

In Buffalo, a grand jury that had investigated gambling for more than a year was unable to issue a final report.

In New York City, a general sessions judge told a grand jury: "Under no circumstances are you to consider the submission to this court of any . . . report relating to the conduct of any person. . . . If such person's conduct falls short of a commission of a crime so as not to justify the filing of an indictment or information, then your duties as grand jurors end."

These judicial developments were a new twist in the centuries-old tradition of the grand jury as an instrument of justice.

The grand jury was created originally to protect individuals from unjust prosecution by kings.

The jury screened charges for their validity. It still carries out that function.

But juries also have evolved into agencies that often initiate charges themselves in the wake of investigations into corruption in public office, gambling and racketeering.

Judge, DA Ask Man Be Spared, Doubt on Shot

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The judge who sentenced a 21-year-old man to death and the district attorney's office that prosecuted the case have asked Gov. Rockefeller to spare his life.

The appeals were in behalf of Luis Rosario, sentenced to die next Thursday night in the electric chair in Sing Sing Prison for the holdup slaying of Philip Schickler, 65, in his delicatessen store in New York City.

Rockefeller reserved decision Thursday after a clemency hearing for Rosario.

Judge Mitchell D. Schweitzer of General Sessions Court of New York City, who imposed the mandatory death penalty upon a jury's conviction, and the New York County district attorney's office, asked for clemency.

Assistant Dist. Atty. Richard G. Denzer said the prosecution was not certain that Rosario, one of three men who participated in the holdup, had fired the fatal shot.

The other two men were sentenced to prison terms.

Denzer said the jury apparently accepted the word of a witness who said Rosario had told him he (Rosario) had fired the shot. Rosario denied it.

Think It Through

By E. F. HUTTON

MR. ROOSEVELT TO MR. KENNEDY

Dear Jack:

You will, of course, remember that I have said:

"We are not getting an adequate return for the money we are spending in Washington, or to put it another way, we are spending altogether too much money for Government services that are neither practical nor necessary. We are attempting too many functions.

"If we do not halt this steady process of building commissions and regulatory bodies and special legislation like huge inverted pyramids over every one of the simple Constitutional provisions, we shall soon be spending many billions of dollars more.

"I ask you very simply to assign to me the task of reducing the annual operating expenses of your national government. We must move with a direct and resolute purpose now.

"Taxes are paid in the sweat of every man who labors because they are a burden on production and are paid through production. If taxes are excessive, they are reflected in idle factories, in tax-sold farms, and in hordes of hungry people, tramping the streets and seeking jobs in vain.

"If the Nation is living within its income, its credit is good. But if, like a spendthrift, it is willing to make no sacrifice at all in spending; if it extends its taxing to the limit of the people's power to pay and continues to pile up deficits, then it is on the road to bankruptcy. Stop the deficits."

Faithfully yours,

F. D. R.

Veterans Fail To Notify VA of Address Changes

George M. Vadas, manager of the Veterans Administration Albany Regional Office, notified F. William Sheehan, Officer in Charge of the local VA five-county office, that a problem involving all Veterans Administration beneficiaries in this area gradually becoming a serious one for his office.

Vadas pointed out that, month after month, checks are returned to the Veterans Administration as undeliverable because the vetern, his widow, or beneficiary has moved. During the past month in the Albany Regional Office area checks totaling over $5,000 were returned. This not only causes additional time-consuming action on the finance activities of the Veterans Administration but also creates a hardship on many beneficiaries who need and plan on timely receipts of their checks.

The solution to the problem is a simple one—VA beneficiaries should immediately notify the Albany Regional Office or the local VA Office, Main Post Office Building, Kingston, of their change of address. This cannot be accomplished by a telephone call but requires written verification over the signature of the beneficiary.

In addition, Vadas advised, beneficiaries should at the same time file a change of address form with their local post office.

Gotham to Check On Day Line's Lease of Pier

NEW YORK (AP) — The city Department of Marine and Aviation is investigating the Hudson River Day Line's 10-year lease of a city-owned pier at West 41st Street.

Commissioner Vincent A. G. O'Connor says his department's inquiry is "complicated and detailed" and covers the entire period of the lease which has just expired.

The investigation, revealed Thursday, is expected to be completed within a day or two.

George Sanders, president of the excursion boat line, was questioned last week before the State Investigation Commission.

An investigation of city pier leases led to disclosure that Sanders, a friend of Mayor Robert F. Wagner, was one of a group which paid the hotel bill for Wagner's political headquarters during the Democratic National Convention last year in Los Angeles.

Wagner and Sanders denied that either ever sought or received a favor involving the city.

Geneva Proposes Sampson Base as Peace Corps Use

WASHINGTON (AP) — Residents of Geneva, N.Y., have suggested that the former Sampson Air Force Base near that city be used as a training site for recruits of the Peace Corps, but there's a snag in the plan.

The General Services Administration says it has no more surplus land at Sampson.

New York State took over most of the old base last year for park purposes. The federal government retained some for use by the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization.

Geneva residents offered the suggestions to Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., who passed them along to Peace Corps headquarters.

Other former military installations also have been advanced as possible sites for the corps.

Backers of Sampson, a Keating aide said, pointed out that the location was within reach of Hobart Collage and Cornell, Syracuse and Rochester universities, where recruits could learn foreign languages.

Historic Day Starts Early for Astronaut

Less Tension, Expectancy Following Weather Delay

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —Astronaut Alan B. Shepard Jr., dressed in his silver space suit, started for the launch pad early today for a history-making rocket flight into space.

Shepard, 37, a blue-eyed New Englander, stepped from his special quarters at 3:58 a.m. Eastern Standard Time and walked through a flood-lit lane formed by newsmen, base workers, and security officers.

First Appearance

Eleven paces from the door of hanger "S", Shepard, a Navy commander, climbed into a white and blue van, attended by his doctor and various technicians. The big vehicle promptly drove off toward the launching site about 3½ miles away.

This was Shepard's first public appearance since he and his backup pilot, Marine Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr., 39, were put under wraps last weekend.

The first scheduled space flight by an American was postponed last Tuesday because of bad weather and Shepard never appeared at that time.

Though the event was no less epochal than last Tuesday, there was less tension and expectancy today among the small band gathered outside hangar "S". This was because everybody knew the identify of the space trail-blazing astronaut.

The first U.S. space explorer was bound for his 115-mile-high trip into near space 23 days after Soviet Air Force Maj. Yuri Gagarin orbited the earth in a 5-ton space craft.

Momentous Day

On this momentous day in his life—and in history—Shepard was awakened at 1:05 a.m. In his double deck bunk on the second floor of hangar "S", backup pilot Glenn was roused at the same time. They had retired at 10:30 p.m. without sedation after watching television for a while.

First came a shower and a shave. Then Shepard donned long white underwear with big spongy patches sewn at the seat, along the thighs and elsewhere to allow circulation of air next to the body.

For about three days before the flight, the pilots had been living on a low-waste diet.

The menu for the final pre-shot breakfast: Filet mignon wrapped in bacon, two poached eggs, dry toast and orange juice.

After breakfast, the space man and his backup walked a few steps down a gallery to the medical room where the physical examination started at 2:25 a.m.

Gets Final Checkup

There, the astronauts' personal physician, Air Force Lt. Col. William K. Douglas, and his assistant, Maj. Carmaul Jackson, checked the men's eyes, ears, nose, throat, heart and lungs. They checked reflexes and took a blood sample.

LESS TENSION —2—

Dr. Douglas commented "as usual, the two are in superb physical condition."

After the checkover, Douglas and his medical aides attached biological sensors to tattoo marks on Shepard's body. These sensors, transmitting signals to ground monitors, indicate how the astronaut reacts to the heavy stresses and weightlessness encountered in his flight.

This done at 2:50 a. m. Shepard — still in his underwear— moved next door to the pressure suit room.

Helped Into Uniform

Here, suit technician Joe W. Schmitt, a slender man from O'Fallon, Tex., helped the astronaut into the special space uniform. This is a rubber garment coated with a silver spray intended to serve as an additional heat buffer and radiation shield.

Topping the outfit was a white helmet much like those worn by football players, only bigger. The helmet is fitted with transparent plastic face piece and attaches to a metal ring around the neck of the suit.

His dressing finished, Shepard was strapped into a harness and then he climbed into a form-fitting couch like that inside the capsule. There he lay, looking like a man sitting in a chair that had been tipped on its back.

After the astronaut closed his visor and hoses were hooked up, Schmitt stepped to a control panel and ran the pressure in the suit to five pounds per square inch.

The suit swelled, Shepard moved his arms and flexed his fingers. Schmitt had on a head set and he and the astronaut sealed inside his helmet conversed via a microphone connection as they checked for suit leaks.

All was ready, and Shepard clumped along the long gallery, down a flight of stairs to the van outside. With him he carried a portable air conditioner to cool his suit until he could be hooked into the capsule's cooling system. This unit is called the "black box," although it's actually gray.

Carrier Picks Up Sheppard

mer German rocketeer Dr. Kurt Debus.

Debus was assisted by Dr. Werner Von Braun, head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration space flight laboratory.

The slender rocket, stretching 83 feet tall with the capsule and 15½-foot escape tower on top, flew a true course as it knifed into a clear sky under the anxious eyes of thousands who crammed into missileland to watch as America for the first time committed a man into space.

Millions Watch on TV

Millions of Shepard's countrymen watched on live television.

As the missile accelerated, forces six times the pull of gravity pushed the astronaut against his couch.

At 141 seconds after launch, the capsule separated and the escape tower — designed to jerk the capsule free and parachute it safely to earth in case of trouble—was jettisoned.

Automatic controls then flipped the nine-foot tall capsule over 180 degrees so the blunt heat shield base led the way, with the pilot riding backward.

About four minutes after launch, Shepard tumbled, as if over a precipice, into a weird and weightless world—an exhilarating experience that lasted about five minutes.

Officials did not say whether Shepard had reported on his reactions during the weightless period.

But during the time he would have been weightless, the reports were that he was performing his tasks.

As swiftly as it came, the weightless feeling left and Shepard once again was gripped by G forces—twice the tenacity as on acceleration—as the capsule plunged back toward earth.

The pilot reported he was subjected to 11G's during the re-entry period.

Chute Stabilizes Craft

Two minutes after launch, at 40,000 feet, a small parachute opened to stabilize the space craft. At 10,000 feet, a 63-foot main 'chute unfurled to lower the capsule into the water, presumably with no more force than if it had fallen off a 14-foot wall.

Recovery ships in the area reported they sighted the large red and white parachute as it lowered the capsule toward the sea.

Two helicopters from the Lake Champlain rushed immediately to the scene. One lowered a took to raise the capsule upright. It was on its side in the water.

When this was done, Shepard climbed out an escape hatch and was pulled into the other helicopter.

A few minutes later he was on the deck of the carrier.

Walks From Copter

Officials on board reported that he walked from the helicopter under his own power and immediately went to a medical facility below deck.

Due for Hero's Welcome

He is expected to remain there at least 24 hours for extensive examination and psychological tests.

Then he will be flown to Washington, probably Sunday or Monday, for a hero's welcome at the White House from President Kennedy.

He will remain in Washington about 36 hours and then will return to Cape Canaveral for further tests. These will include simulated flights in a mock capsule, so that medical men can compare the results of similar mock flights which he made before today's real thing.

A report from the carrier said Shepard "crawled out of his capsule at sea and was hoisted into a helicopter heading back to the Lake Champlain."

Newsmen Cheer Feat

The capsule later was picked up by a Marine helicopter piloted by Lt. Wayne Koons of Lyons, Kan., with Lt. George Cox of Eustis, Fla., as copilot.

When the rocket roared away from the Cape, the majority of more than 400 newsmen stood up and cheered. They also applauded as each announcement came over the loudspeaker that the flight was progressing smoothly.

Project Mercury officials announced that all rocket and capsule systems performed perfectly.

Riding a column of orange exhaust fire, the reliable Redstone rose into a hazy sky in view of thousands watching from nearby beaches and untold numbers of others over the nation with eyes glued to television screens.

As the rocket blasted off, two F106 jet planes zipped over the cape. At the controls were two other members of the astronaut team, Walter Schirra and Scott Carpenter.

Two Observe Launch

They were to observe the launch from above and then speed to the recovery area to watch operations there.

The rocket shot into a large cloud hanging over the Cape briefly, then the exhaust flame diminished until it became a pinpoint in the sky.

A puff 140 seconds later indicated the booster burned out as planned.

The astronaut reported the fuel system was OK.

The periscope came out and the ship was moving into proper attitude.

Beautiful View'

At the time of launch, Shepard had been in the space cabin four hours, 16 minutes, all but 52 minutes in isolation.

The launch, originally was scheduled for 7 a.m. (EST) but was held up several times for weather and technical reasons.

The pilot reported he was switching to manual control. The pilot has manual control of the capsule. Everything still OK.

Shepard said "What a beautiful view."

The pilot reported three to 4-10 cloud cover obscuring the view up to Cape Hatteras.

At 2 minutes and 10 seconds the medical monitor at the control center reported the pilot's condition appears to be excellent.

The pilot is beginning the process of firing his reverse rockets.

"Everything very smooth," he reported.

The No. 1 reverse thrust rocket has fired and the second and third retro rockets fired.

The pilot is preparing to jettison the retrorocket gear. Control center reports excellent voice communication with pilot and medical reports OK.

Reports Gravity Pressure

The retrorocket packet attached to the capsule has been jettisoned.

The Mission Mercury Control Center reported the mission was 6 minutes and 40 seconds old and Shepard reporting in normal procedure of test pilot — automatic control system operating properly.

The spacecraft is beginning to enter the atmosphere and pilot reports beginning of gravity pressure. He is now up to 9 Gs.

"OK," he reported.

Peak gravity forces now but still reporting OK.

All data of the control center is reported excellent.

Pilot reports he is at 30,000 feet on the way down.

The pilot is talking to Grand Bahama Island and they are reading him.

First parachute out.

Pilot reports all systems in the capsule OK.

Control center says pilot OK as he approaches the Atlantic.

The main parachute now has been deployed.

The capsule is now floating to the water 660 seconds from liftoff.

Shepard says he is at 7,000 feet and coming in for landing.

Communications at this point are reporting "little rough." Control center people said they expected this.

Recovery forces downrange report seeing capsule.

30 Feet a Second

The pilot reported he is coming down 30 feet a second.

The control ships reported that the capsule has landed and recovery crafts dispatched.

A helicopter took off and circled the area and is now moving in on it.

The recovery forces reported that helicopter has lifted the capsule into a normal upright position.

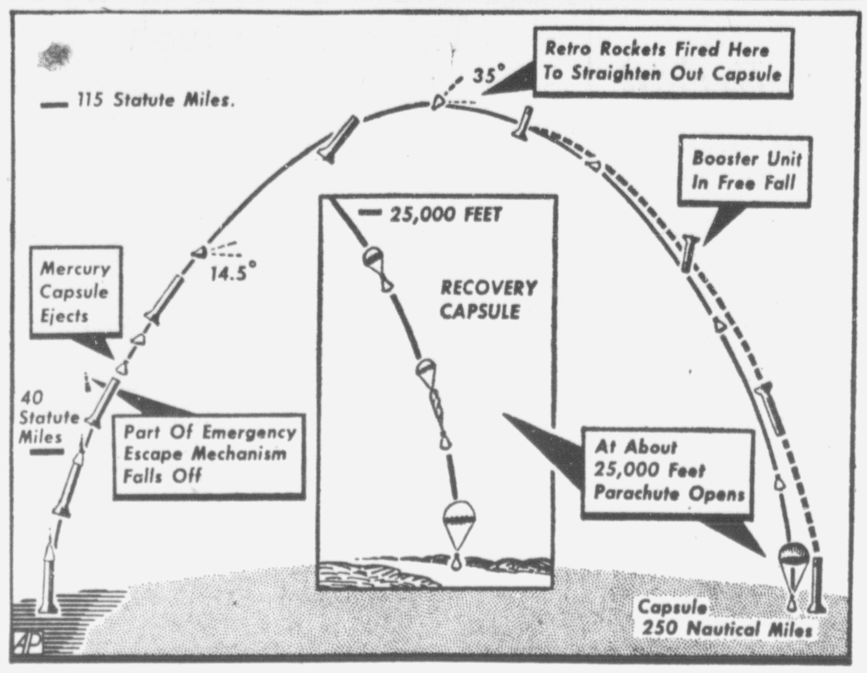
Shepard reports by voice communication he is in contact with recovery craft and he "OK."

Church Group Meets

OSWEGO, N. Y. (AP)—Approximately 300 persons plan to attend the two-day 93rd annual convention of the Episcopal Diocese of Central New York opening at Christ Church here today.

The Rt. Rev. William Crittenden, bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Erie, Pa., will speak after the dinner tonight.

The Rt. Rev. Walter M. Higley, bishop of the Central New York Diocese, will preside at the sessions.



HOW ASTRONAUT WILL MAKE SPACE FLIGHT — Diagram based on one released by NASA shows how astronaut will make space flight from Cape Canaveral. Capsule will make a ballistic arc flight over a 250 nautical mile range, with peak altitude of 115 statute miles. After separation from Redstone launch vehicle, capsule's blunt end is pitched upward to about 14.5 degrees. Angle is upped to 35 degrees for firing of retro rockets. In descent, a small parachute opens before main landing 'chute lowers capsule. (AP Wirephoto)

Some Successes, Failures

Shepard's Flight Got Start 20 Months Ago

By HOWARD CRISWELL Jr.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —On Sept. 9, 1959, an object more fiery than the brightest star flashed across the skies north of Puerto Rico in the early morning darkness.

Near the island of Antigua, it dropped into the Atlantic Ocean and a cloud of steam arose as the 3,000-degree heat of its surface dipped into the cool water. It bobbed in the waves, an odd, bell-shaped thing that had come from space.

Hard Work and Expense

This was the first Project Mercury capsule, a boiler plate model that had ridden an Atlas rocket outside the earth's atmosphere and 1,300 miles away from Cape Canaveral.

Today a man, the first American astronaut, climbed into an improved model of the same capsule for a planned ride 115 miles out into the weightless void of space.

Twenty months of hard work and heavy expense spanned the gap between the flight of the first primitive spacecraft and today's historic launching. They were marked by success and failure, joy and frustration.

The biggest disappointment came April 12, when the Soviet Union won the race into space, hurling a man into orbit.

The first Mercury capsule glowed with the heat of air friction as it plunged from nearly 100 miles back through the atmosphere. But inside its pressurized compartment the temperature never rose above 100 degrees.

Thus the first victory was scored. The problem of combating heat was solved in the first launching.

In later firings, using Little Joe and Redstone rockets, ways were found to eliminate other dangers to potential passengers, and in time two monkeys went aloft in Mercury capsules to show it could be done.

First Step for Orbit

A successful suborbital flight is only one of many steps in the United States' effort to orbit a man around the earth, the object of Project Mercury. Full orbit in the Mercury capsule could come later this year.

As a spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) points out, other suborbital attempts will be made using different astronauts as pilots, even before the attempt at full orbit is made.

Project Mercury is a big project, the ideas behind it are big, the money involved is big and the people running it are among the best in their field.

The $500-million Mercury program started 2½ years ago. The money estimate includes the cost of the entire program from the first design to the program's final orbital flight.

JFK Salutes Astronaut

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy saluted the successful flight today of America's first astronaut and at the same time urged redoubled efforts to push America's vital space program.

The chief executive talked by telephone and radio with Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard Jr., who soared into space and safely back to a landing at sea.

Kennedy voiced his personal congratulations, received assurances from Shepard that "everything worked just about perfectly," and said he was looking forward to seeing the Navy commander here in Washington.

The White House said the meeting probably will be at the executive mansion Monday morning.

Kennedy issued a statement praising the accomplishment and promising to share with the world the scientific material obtained from the flight.

Area Engineers To Attend Parley

Processes and techniques in the manufacture of postage meters, vacuum cleaners, and cigar-making machines will be seen by many local engineers attending the 1961 convention of the American Society of Tool and Manufacturing Engineers, May 22 to 26, in New York City.

The valuable educational experience of seeing industry in action prompted the ASTME to schedule nine tours to local and metropolitan plants during the convention, Harry E. Conrad, general manager of ASTME said.

Hosts to the touring engineers wil be the Brooklyn Navy Yard, Electrolux Corp., Ford Motor Co. Mahwah Plant, Fred Heinzelman & Sons, Pitney-Bowes, Inc., American Machine & Foundry Co., Lycoming Division of Avco Corp., IBM, and Adamas Carbide Corp.

The tour of the IBM plant at Poughkeepsie will be Thursday, May 25 from 8:30 a. m. to 5:30 p. m.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — America's successful man-in-space rocket shoot lifted an irregular stock market to a moderate gain in active trading early this afternoon. Some missile-rocket-electronics issues spurted.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .60 at 247.30 with industrials up 1.10, rails unchanged and utilities up .30.

Gains of fractions to a point outbalanced losers in the over-all market. Chemicals were ahead from the start and gave the list its only substantial leadership.

McDonnell Aircraft, prime contractor for the Mercury astronaut project which thrust America's first space man aloft, was the best gainer in its group, rising more than 3 points at best before paring a point from the advance.

Nixon Readies First Broadside On JFK Regime

By ARTHUR EDSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Richard M. Nixon heads west today, ready for his first broadside attack on the Kennedy administration.

The former vice president has been reticent on what he intends to say about the man who barely beat him out of the White House. But his choice of topics for the next six days shows he will touch all political bases.

His schedule today called for a luncheon speech to the Executives Club of Chicago. Foreign policy, with what Nixon calls constructive suggestions, will be discussed.

Tonight he goes strictly political. He talks to the GOP Citizens League, in Chicago's McCormick Place Theatre, on how Republicans can build a more successful organization.

Ahead are talks on farm policy in Des Moines Saturday and on other domestic and economic issues in Detroit Tuesday and Columbus Wednesday.

Nixon spent Thursday in New York in a manner uncustomary for a politician: Nearly all of his time was behind closed doors.

After his conferences with former President Herbert Hoover and Gen. Douglas MacArthur he gave reporters accounts of the subjects covered. But he also had private appointments that he didn't discuss.

And a dinner Thursday night, given by Gardner Cowles of the Cowles Publications, was off the record.

LBJ Sees Soviet Drive at Peak Next 12 Months

NEW YORK (AP)—Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson says he expects the Communist world offensive to reach its peak during the next 12 to 18 months.

Johnson spoke Thursday night before about 1,500 persons at the annual awards dinner of the Brand Names Foundation in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

The means and methods of the Red offensive, Johnson said, "may well depend upon the Communist conclusions about the resolution of the Free World—and especially of the United States."

Warning that we are in for "a long, hard pull," Johnson said the have flexibility and freedo — — Kennedy administration must have flexibility and freedom of action which could come only from bipartisan support.

Johnson, chairman of the new space council, pledged the eventual superiority of the U. S. in space technology.

"I must tell you that the way will not be easy, the road will not be short, and the cost will not be cheap," Johnson said.

After his dinner speech, Johnson returned to Washington.

Herdman, Miller

—the prime target area—a circle 24 miles across.

But to insure against a short rocket shoot, or an over long one, Navy destroyers are strung out like beads from Cape Canaveral to cover the possible landing areas.

Like the Champlain, they carry helicopters to hover over the astronaut in the space capsule and affect recovery.

This ship is only a way station for the astronaut. After two or three hours of questions, he goes onto a full fledged medical station at Grand Bahama Island for 48 hours of tests.

Don't Buy Stocks for Quick Six-Month Gain

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "I have $7,000 in savings and $3,000 in a pension plan that I could borrow from. I hope to buy a house in about six months for my family. Do you think it is advisable to invest some of my savings in stocks for profits, until I actually buy a house?" R.N.

A) I advise you very strongly not to put your money in the stock-market with the hope that you can take it out profitably in six months time.

No one, in my opinion should ever buy a stock knowing that it must be sold within a specified time limit. If the market should happen to be in a sinking spell at the time you need your funds, you could suffer a loss of principal that would be hard to recover.

The stock market has recently been very strong, with the averages advancing to a new all-time high. I believe that this uptrend is going to continue subject, of course, to normal market corrections. This doesn't mean, though, that many individual stocks won't move down. I sincerely believe that your money belongs in the savings bank until you buy your house. In six months time, you will be able to recover it intact and with accrued interest.

Q) "With the lower trend in interest rates, it seems as if many finance companies should begin to report higher earnings. Which ones do you like best?" R.R.

A) To some extent, the market has already discounted the earnings gains forecast for the finance group this year. However, with wider margins and increased economic activity, further gains are expected.

For growth I prefer James Talcott (NYSE) and Walter Heller (NYSE), both aggressive commercial and industrial finance houses. If you are more interested in income, take a look at General Acceptance (NYSE) and Associates Investment (NYSE) two prominent consumer finance companies.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

Says State Arbitrary In Barring Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — An attorney contends New York State had no right to bar the Communist Party as a contributing employer to the state's unemployment-insurance program.

John J. Abt of New York City, representing the party, was opposed in arguments before the Supreme Court Thursday by Julius L. Sackman of Albany, who represented New York State.

Sackman said any rights the party may have had were terminated by the federal Communist Control Act in 1954.

Abt held that the state's action was arbitrary and that the federal act was unconstitutional.

He pointed out that the federal Bureau of Internal Revenue continues to tax the party as an employer and that the Social Security Administration had recognized the party as an employer within the meaning of the Social Security Act.

Killed Sweetheart

Accused Slayer Recovers After Wounding Self

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (AP) — An accused slayer, who had threatened to use his four boxes of shells "against pursuing police, was recovering today from a self-inflicted bullet wound, State Police said.

Troopers said 20 - year - old Charles Ducharme, charged with the first-degree murder of his sweetheart, told them he shot himself in the stomach a few hours before they closed in on him at a vacant house yesterday.

Ducharme attempted to offer resistance but quickly surrendered when a police officer fired two shots, State Police said.

Ducharme, of West Chazy, is accused of shooting 17-year-old Betty Ann Davison in a jealous rage Sunday night.

"Is Betty dead?" was Ducharme's first question after his arrest, Lt. Edward Dienst of the State Police said.

The accused slayer—hunted in Northern New York, Canada and Vermont — was found three-quarters of a mile from his home, in a house formerly occupied by his late grandmother.

Troopers had checked the house Monday. Yesterday they noted a window had been broken.

As three troopers entered the house, Dienst said he shouted to Ducharme to surrender.

The youth, in reply, smashed an upstairs window with his rifle.

Dienst said he fired two shot quickly so Ducharme could not aim. Ducharme then threw his rifle to the ground, Dienst said.

Walking at Night

The vacant house is in a wooded area off Route 22, a few miles from the Canadian border. Ducharme said he had arrived at the house only several hours ahead of the troopers.

Troopers said he told them he had been sleeping in fields and woods during daylight hours and had been walking at night.

Ducharme, State Police said, intercepted Betty Ann and her date as the couple approached her home near Mooers Forks.

The pretty high school senior fled into a neighbor's house, where State Police said Ducharme shot her with a .22-caliber rifle.

Ducharme fled in an automobile but abandoned it, leaving this note:

Planned to Use Shells

"I have four boxes of shells and will use them if necessary."

Ducharme worked on the dairy farm of his father, Bernard. Betty Ann's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Davison, also live on a farm, about seven miles from Ducharme.

The romance between Betty Ann and Ducharme reportedly was ended at the insistence of the girl's parents.

Sheriff Emmett Ducatt of Clinton County reported Ducharme had written Betty Ann about two weeks ago and had threatened to kill her and himself.

WINNING EXHIBIT—Two Sixth Grade pupils of Lake Katrine School, Jane Southard, (left) and Lucia Wojcio display incubator exhibit with which they won blue ribbons at the recent Science Fair conducted by Kingston Schools (Consolidated). Both will compete at New Paltz in the Third Annual Mid-Hudson Study Council Science Fair on May 12.

Lake Katrine Has Four Who Will Compete at Paltz

The 10th article in the series dealing with the recent Science Fair in the Kingston (Consolidated) Schools will review the winners at Lake Katrine School.

Lake Katrine will be represented at the New Paltz competition by Jane Southard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Southard; Lucia Wojcio, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Wojcio; David Holumzer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Holumzer; and Paul Mikonis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mikonis Sr.

Four Are Successful

These four successful exhibitors will join other hundreds of successful fourth, fifth and sixth grade students from the Hudson Valley. Final plans are now completed for the Third Annual Mid-Hudson School Study Council Science Fair at the college in New Paltz on Friday, May 12.

An unusual exhibit involving chickens and eggs captured the first prize in the sixth grade at Lake Katrine. Jane Southard and Lucia Wojcio were awarded blue ribbons by the judges for an incubator exhibit. After getting the idea from a science book the two girls set out to make an incubator. Using scrap wood and a low powered electric light bulb the pair set up an incubation box and brooder. Next the pair obtained some fertilized chicken eggs, placed them in their homemade incubator and finally hatched out three eggs.

An information sheet from the American Red Cross led to the fifth grade award. David Holumzer credited one such sheet with the idea that gave him first prize in the fifth grade competition. David made a display showing the parts and actions of the human heart. He claimed to use materials he was able to find easily around his house.

Displayed Water Dropper

An article in the "Scientific American" magazine led to the fourth grade first prize. Paul Mikonis was awarded the top prize in the fourth grade for his display of Lord Kelvin's water dropper. The display used soup cans, a coat hanger, wax and rubber hose to show an interesting and unusual scientific phenomenon.

The four winners at Lake Katrine will journey to the New Paltz Fair to compete for grand prizes which include United States Savings Bonds.

Rusk Still Unknown Quantity After 3½ Months in Office

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—How does Secretary of State Dean Rusk look after his first 3½ months in office?

He's still pretty much an unknown quantity because he's not very talkative, he's not dramatic, and he lets President Kennedy make the big pronouncements.

That's a switch.

Dulles Just the Opposite

The late, controversial John Foster Dulles—secretary of state through most of the Eisenhower administration—was just the opposite.

He had a lot to say, was dramatic, and seemed to make foreign policy for President Eisenhower.

Rusk has had four news conferences since Jan. 20, just as many as Dulles in the same length of time. But that's no basis for comparison.

Rusk and Dulles took office under different circumstances. When Dulles became secretary this was the situation:

The United States was at war in Korea; Sen. Joseph McCarthy was still making the State Department his No. 1 punching bag in his anti-Communist project; and this country was still the No. 1 military power.

This was the situation confronting Rusk:

Russia was now the military equal if not the superior of the United States; the influence of communism around the world had vastly increased; and, as a result Rusk had to be less belligerent and flamboyant than Dulles.

Pressures More Visible

But the pressures on Dulles were more visible.

By necessity he had to take actions and positions on both Korea and McCarthy almost daily. This alone would have kept him more in the public eye and provided more insight into him than Rusk's problems so far.

As for dealing with the Russians: Dulles could afford to make colorful threats—like "massive retaliation" — when the United States, not the Soviets, had the preponderance of atomic power. In short, he could bluff and get away with it.

Rusk can't, now that the Russians have enough power to wipe out both the United States and its European allies. So his statements are more guarded.

But even if Rusk had been secretary in Dulles' time he probably would have been more guarded anyway. That seems to be his nature. He tends to understate rather than overstate.

Difficult to Appraise Rusk

For this reason it is more difficult to appraise him even though difficulties are piling up for him in Cuba, Laos and South Viet Nam. He doesn't try to make news on any of those problems. He lets Kennedy make it.

Dulles was different. With President Eisenhower reluctant to get into controversy, Dulles took stands on issues affecting foreign policy. Now it's Kennedy who takes them, not Rusk.

It may turn out that Rusk is the most mature and best-balanced of Kennedy's advisors, although neither Rusk, nor Kennedy nor anyone else looked good in this government's approval of the Cuban invasion which turned into disaster.

In short, compared with Dulles, Rusk looks gray. But coloration doesn't necessarily involve enlightenment. And any decision on Rusk's judgment will require more evidence than is publicly available now.

The public would be in a much better position to appraise Rusk if the Kennedy administration was ever willing to reveal just what role Rusk played in the Cuban decision.

What's so important about May 13th?

St. Gregory's New Parish Building Plans Under Way

Travelers on Route 212, beyond the club house should soon see signs of springtime activity, the evidence of "men at work", and the good earth being torn up, all in a very good cause, says Mrs. Courtenay Marvin, publicity director of St. Gregory's Episcopal Church.

The dream of St. Gregory's will be in the making, a new parish house which will greatly increase church activities and general facilities and contribute generally to the upkeep of this village. Weather and good fortune working hand in hand, it is expected that the new building will be completed by the summer's end.

The Episcopal Diocese of New York has awarded the contract for the construction to Karl Schroeder, Woodstock builder, who is responsible for the fine building of the church itself. Schroeder tentatively has estimated that completing will take ninety-five working days.

William H. van Rensselaer, A. I. A., architect for St. Gregory's which has received national acclaim in many publications throughout this country, is also architect for the parish house. In design, the new construction is contemporary, in harmony with the church and its smooth meadow, fringed in the distance by trees and with the crest of Overlook Mountain as a backdrop. The National Episcopal Church Commission on Architecture and the Allied Arts is currently producing a slide film review of advanced contemporary church buildings which includes St. Gregory's Church.

In the words of the architect, the parish house will consist essentially of a large hall and a connecting link to house necessary functions, and will relate the new building to the existing church.

Seats 140 Persons

The hall will be covered by a risen pitched roof with eaves carried down to floor level and surfaced on the outside in hand-split cedar shingles identical to those on the church roof. Daylight and natural ventilation will be provided by translucent bay windows penetrating the roof area. This window and roof organization is used for the first time in this building. The hall will seat 140 people at table and will be divided by disappearing partitions to create eight Sunday school class rooms.

The connecting link will be covered by a flat roof and will house an entry and coat-hanging space, a nursery room, a kitchen and lavatories.

Above the foundation walls, all exterior wall materials will be heart redwood, bleached to driftwood gray, which will require no maintenance for the life of the building. Similarly, the cedar roof will be sound for a century and will require no finish whatsoever.

Much time, effort and painstaking care have gone into this project by the architect, the Building Committee, consisting of St. Gregory's vestry, the Rev. Lloyd H. Gyger, John Bertolphy, Fennell Frankling and Leslie Jenkins, and parishioners are grateful for the present accommodations have long failed to serve the space demands. St. Gregory's has grown more rapidly than anticipated since its doors were first opened on October 14, 1956.

Father Gyger has expressed the hope and faith that the new parish house will not only aid and increase St. Gregory's interests but that it may serve the whole village for many organized efforts by youth and adults alike. Already, several groups are anticipating a future indoor place for certain of their activities.

No Help Here

ENDICOTT, N. Y. (AP)—With the Kentucky Derby on tomorrow, the woman had a hunch she wanted to bet on. But where to find a bookie?

The telephone rang at Endicott police headquarters and a female voice inquired "Where can I find a trustworthy, 'licensed' bookmaker?"

Lt. Charles Garland answered that the police too were interested in locating bookmakers—to arrest them, not to make wagers.

INSURE YOUR INVESTMENT

In its open meeting on Tuesday, in the Town Hall, the Town Planning Board unfolded the urgent necessity for Woodstock to invest in a professionally-made community Growth Plan. We are mailing a digest of this talk and an outline of our plan to all residents.

* THE THREAT OF EXPLOSIVE GROWTH faces all of us in Woodstock. If this is not controlled, the qualities we treasure and the money value of our property will be depreciated. The home you live in can find itself a close neighbor of a slum—or a noisome industry.

* PLANNING, WELL CONSIDERED, can guide this rapid growth in directions that will make Woodstock an even better place to live. And still absorb the inevitable expansion!

* A GOOD GROWTH PLAN and land use ordinance will immediately increase real estate values and business. It will increase and protect your investment in your home. It will increase the income of every business. This has been proven in other towns. It can be done here.

* THE NEED IS URGENT NOW, before too many unplanned and undesirable changes have happened.

* THE COST IS RELATIVELY VERY SMALL. $20,000 is needed to contract the necessary professional services. To avoid one or two years delay, we should raise this money by voluntary private contributions. Already $2000 have been spontaneously pledged and a guarantee for the second $10,000, if the first $10,000 are pledged. We solicit your contribution to make up the missing $8000. You can pay in 3 yearly installments, and your contributions are TAX DEDUCTIBLE.

* A FEW YEARS HENCE, if we do not plan now, the cost of rehabilitation will be much greater and will fall on all taxpayers.

* MAKE OUT your check now to the Town Board. A special Planning Fund has been opened at the Bank of Orange County. Tear out and mail in the pledge coupon below. This is cheap insurance to preserve our future prosperity and well being!

SO MUCH THAT CAN'T BE COPIED

Bucket seats alone do not a sport car make. Even when they're as cozy as ours are. You also want (and darned well need, if you're after a fun-type car) things like efficiently eager steering. Steering like you get with Corvair's rear-engine design.

You want traction that keeps your car firmly attached to the road all the time—around corners, through mudholes, everywhere. You want superlatively balanced braking. You want an amiably smooth, supple ride—like Corvair's full independent suspension gives you.

As you might have guessed, you simply can't get these happy advantages in any other U.S. car. Only Corvair. Anything that gives you less is just another social climber.

Musicians' Union Presents Music Gift to College

Orange County Community College has announced that a gift of $150, honoring the memory of Edward Vollmer, a well-known Orange County musician who passed away recently, will be presented to the college music department by Middletown Local 809, American Federation of Musicians.

The gift, in the form of special listening equipment, will enable music students at the college to listen to recordings of music being studied in class. Marvin K. Feman, chairman of the music department, has indicated that the new installation will be used by students in music appreciation, music history, piano, voice and instrumental classes.

Henry Joseph, secretary and business agent of Local 809, will formally make the presentation to College President William G. Dwyer at a special Edward Vollmer Memorial Concert to be given in the college theatre on Thursday, May 11 at 7:30 p. m. by the Middletown Concert Orchestra. Joseph Stellato Sr., directs the orchestra which is made up of members of the union.

Mr. Vollmer conducted the Middletown Concert Orchestra for many years until he retired in 1959. Many of the players who will participate in the May 11 program performed under Mr. Vollmer's direction.

The public is invited to attend the concert.

Coach House Will Give Comedy Here May 18, 19, 20

"Janus," the comedy by Caroline Green that was one of the major successes of the Broadway season in 1955-56, has been chosen as the next play to be presented by the Coach House Players.

The play is a farce-comedy with a new twist that has the Internal Revenue Department as a major protagonist. The cast will include Jo Jolivette, Dixon McGrath, Richard Becher, Rose Helen Mellert and Scott Foster.

The Internal Revenue Department doesn't intend to snoop into the secret meetings each summer in New York of a woman from Seattle with a professor from a Massachusetts prep school, but this pair under the pseudonym of Janus has been writing some very successful historical novels and the field is concerned with how they report their income.

Since their income is something neither of the partners can acknowledge at home they have accepted money from their agent in $100 bills, and barely dared use any of it. This strikes the tax investigator as peculiar but not serious. They have, he points out, taken none of the customary deductions or exemptions, no traveling expenses, bad debts, charity contributions or medical expenses, he insists on helping them to pay a smaller and more correct tax.

How this predicament is worked out for the ultimate happiness of all concerned forms the plot of "Janus," which was considered one of the gayest most rollicking comedies of the season in New York.

"Janus" will be presented at the George Washington School on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, May 18, 19 and 20.

INVITING CITY FRIENDS TO WEDDING IN SUBURBS

Q: About a year ago my husband and I and our two daughters moved to the country. We have a great many friends and acquaintances living in the city. One of my daughters is going to be married shortly and we would like to invite all these friends to the church. The reception is to be limited to nearest relatives and a few life-long friends. My daughter thinks it would be wrong to expect people to travel a distance of 50 miles to be present at the ceremony and not invite them to a reception. I would like to know what you think about this.

A: If you can't afford a larger reception, it will not be improper to invite them only to the church, but I do agree with your daughter that it is a good deal to expect and you must not be disappointed or feel hurt if very few make the trip from the city.

Not Her Vocation

Q: Five months ago, my daughter aged 17 entered the convent to become a nun. It was discovered she did not have this vocation and so she returned home. I would like to know if the money and other gifts my daughter received from friends and relatives before she left, should be returned, and if so, will you please tell me how to word a note explaining why the presents are being returned.

A: Any gifts of value she received because she was to become a nun, should be returned. The notes should say in substance that she is sorry to have to tell them that she is after all not going to be a nun, and is returning the lovely gift that particular person gave her.

A Widow's Name

Q: I have been a widow for the past three months. Immediately after the death of my husband, friends started to address me as Mrs. Mary Smith. I loved my husband dearly and want to continue using his name. Will you please tell me how I can get them to address me as Mrs. John Smith without seeming to criticize them.

A :Surely you can tell them in a polite way, without making them feel that you are criticizing them, that you wish they would continue addressing you as Mrs. John Smith.

Third District Garden Club Meeting

The Spring 1961 Third District Meeting of the Federated Gardens Clubs of New York State, Inc., was held on Thursday, April 13 at the Governor Clinton Hotel, Kingston.

Mrs. W. R. King of Schenectady, newly elected director of the Third District, presided. New District Board Officers and chairmen for 1961-62 were introduced. Guests at this meeting included: Mrs. Otto H. Lanhans, state president; Mrs. Frank L. Walton, first vice president, and Mrs. Robert Crosby, past state president.

It was announced that two newly formed clubs in the 3rd district are Greenbush Garden Club of Rensselaer and Quelque Fleurs Garden Club of Schenectady.

The morning program included special committee presentations and a Flower Show Practice Panel with Mrs. Edward H. Bergles as moderator.

Guest speaker for the afternoon program was Professor Harvey Barke, associate professor of Ornamental Horticulture at the Agricultural and Technical Institute of the State University, Farmingdale, Long Island. "Roses Star in the Garden" was the topic of Professor Barke's lecture. He stated that the rose is a universal plant noted for its long flowering season and is also the flower of New York State. Professor Barke discussed the following points on roses: Planting, time, soil, PH factor, feeding, pruning, winter care, and control of pests. He said that Spring is superior to Fall to plant roses and should be done as soon as the ground is workable. Roses need good soil and drainage and should be fed four times a year. They also, according to Dr. Barke, require six hours of sun a day to blossom and are subject to many insects and diseases. The control of diseases is 98 per cent prevention.

It was announced that an article by Mrs. W. R. King will appear in the August issue of Horticulture magazine. This story will tell about the creation of the eight foot Kaleidoscope wheel that was used as a focal at the Table Setting Show in 1958 of which Mrs. King was chairman.

The Little Gardens Club of Kingston with Mrs. G. A. Nussbaum of West Hurley, president, was the hostess club for this meeting.

Turnau Opera Tenor Is Signed by Met

The award is a contract to sing with the opera company next season plus the Stuart and Irene Chambers Scholarship of $2,000 for further study.

At the Markets

Meat and Poultry—Beef supplies continue heavy. Likely features include boneless chuck roast and steaks — porterhouse and sirloin. Also shop for fresh pork loin roast and chops. Heavy supplies of broilers during May enable these small, meaty birds to have low price tags.

Fish and Shellfish—The season for fresh Hudson River shad is in full swing. Firm, sweet-meated shad average from 3 to 4 pounds each in weight. Being one of the boniest fish in the herring family, boned shad fillets are a welcome sight to shoppers. Fillets weigh about ½ to 1 pound each and make about 2 servings.

Vegetables—Expect New Jersey asparagus to arrive at markets in volume during early May. Watch for price declines while you shop for quality. Economical vegetable choices include bulk beets, broccoli and broccoli rabe, green cabbage and green peas.

AEC to Provide $94,000 for Feul AtCornellReactor

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission will provide $94,000 for the cost of fuel fabrication in connection with Cornell University's zero power reactor now under construction.

The AEC also announced Thursday it will lend the university 37.2 kilograms of uranium 235 and a plutonium-berryllium source for use in the reactor.

In addition, the AEC will provide money or services for reprocessing the reactor fuel after use.

The total value of the assistance, which Cornell will receive through June 30, 1964, is estimated at $146,500. This figure does not include $88,000 for fuel reprocessing, which is expected to occur after that date.

State Mediation Job Is Going to J. F. Finnegan

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Joseph F. Finnegan, federal mediation director in the Eisenhower administration, will become chairman of the New York State Mediation Board, a $21,199-a-year post, June 1.

Gov. Rockefeller named Finnegan Thursday to succeed George Moskowitz of New York City, who declined to continue in the post after the 1961 Legislature made the chairmanship a full-time job.

Finnegan, 56, of New York City, headed the Federal Mediation Service from 1955 to April 1, 1961, under an appointment by former President Eisenhower.

Moskowitz, who will serve as a special consultant to the state board, told Rockefeller obligations to his private law practice and his family prevented him from serving as a full-time chairman.

The state board assists in attempts to settle labor-management disputes.

The governor today:

Appointed Dr. Corneille O. Strother, of Dobbs Ferry, a member of the General Advisory Committee on Atomic Energy of the State Office of Atomic Development, for a term ending March 31, 1962. Strother, vice president for research at the Union Carbide Nuclear Co., succeeds Dr. Lloyd V. Berkner, who resigned last year when he moved from New York City to Texas. The post is unsalaried.

Reappointed to the committee, for terms ending March 31, 1964, Earl J. Machold of Syracuse, Dr. James Sterner of Rochester, Oscar M. Ruebhausen of New York City and George Wunder of Port Washington.

This marks the sixth consecutive year that the patient population in the state's 18 mental hospitals has shown a drop, Dr. Hoch said. 12 Cubans Kept Under Security, From Invasion

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — U. S. officials kept 12 half-starved Cubans, believed to be survivors of the ill-fated Cuban invasion, under security wraps today.

Delirious and wild-eyed, the Cubans ended a 15-day voyage across the Gulf of Mexico in a 25-foot open sail boat Thursday.

Authorities hinted that newsmen might be allowed to talk to the men sometime today after a 24-hour quarantine ends.

They were picked up Wednesday night by the American tanker SS Atlantic Seaman about 170 miles south of the Mississippi River. Three of their companions were dead.

Officially classified as "refugees from Cuba," the 12 survivors were taken to the U. S. Public Health Service Hospital when they arrived in New Orleans after a trip up the Mississippi River in a Coast Guard boat.

They shielded their faces from newsmen and photographers.

No Cause Verdict Given in Case of Election Fight

A jury of three men and three women returned a verdict of no cause for action early this morning in a suit brought by the proprietor of the Bloomington Inn for alleged damages resulting from an altercation last November.

Lawrence Machione, the proprietor, brought suit for $500 against Joseph Reid, a Rosendale hotelman, and Robert Connell of High Falls, alleging that they caused damages to inn property in that amount during a brawl following a political quarrel on election eve last November 5.

The trial commenced at 7 p. m. yesterday before Justice of the Peace Edward Brodsky of the town of Rosendale.

At approximately 1:20 a. m. today it reached the jury which retired to deliberate. Ten minutes later the jury announced that it found no cause for action.

Attorney John Schick of Kingston represented Reid and Connell. Attorney John Gotelli appeared for Machione.

There was reported to be much conflicting testimony.

Among the witnesses were Deputy Sheriffs Thomas Mayone and Arthur Smith of the Ulster County sheriff's office. They reportedly testified that the defendants were under the influence of alcohol. The bartender took an opposing view.

In summing up, Gotelli said his client, Machione, was asking only $335.50 in damages, based on a professional estimate. The suit was brought in the amount of $500 against both defendants.

Testimony was presented by the plaintiff to show that chairs and walls had been damaged during the fight, that there had been blood on the floor, etc.

1,400 Phone Men Are on Strike, Service Goes on

ROCHESTER N.Y. (AP) — About 1,100 Rochester Telephone Co. repair and maintenance workers were on strike today after voting to reject a company contract offer.

Telephone service was not expected to be affected immediately because operators are not members of the union. A lengthy strike could cause a disruption of repairs and installations, one company spokesman said.

There had been a dispute between union and company officials on a sick pay issued before the offer was made.

There was no major interruption of service when the union struck for six days in 1956.

A social hour was held following the dinner.

DAR Chapter Hears Report

The Saugerties Chapter, National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution met Wednesday, May 3, at the home of Mrs. Chester B. Glunt on Lighthouse Road. Mrs. Carroll Nieffer, regent, presided and introduced two guests, Mrs. Adam Porter of Kingston and Mrs. W. A. Milne of Rhinebeck.

It was reported 16 essays on the American Flag from the 7 and 8 grades of the central schools and St. Mary's School had been received and a winner will be announced at the June meeting. It was voted to send $10 to the Indian girl sponsored by the DAR at Syracuse University. Caroline Nickerson of Katsbaan, a seventh grader, won the dress contest for the DAR Girl Homemakers and was given an award. Mrs. Emerson Hull read reports on National Defense, with warnings of many subversive groups.

The guest speaker, Mrs. Adam Porter of Wiltwyck Chapter, Kingston, talked on her recent attendance in Washington, D. C. at the 70th Continental Congress of the DAR. She gave the highlights of her full week there and also described the unusual new buildings and exhibits in the city. Many important speakers talked on world problems at the DAR Congress and gave first hand information of the complicated political situation. Mrs. Porter relayed much that alerted all members, in all the chapters throughout the country, there are now nearly 200,000 members. She urged they write their Senators or congressmen.

Miss Helen M. Vrooman, a member of the Saugerties Chapter, sent a written report of her week's attendance at the Congress. Her description of the Memorial Service for DAR members who have died in the past year, was very impressive. The theme this year, for the DAR is Evil Triumphs When Good Men Do Nothing. Edmund Burke, noted British barrister, made this statement when American Colonists were struggling for Liberty. Mrs. Porter emphasized this holds true today, when many talk but do nothing.

The next meeting will be June 10, at the home of Mrs. William Young, Lighthouse Drive. This will be a noon picnic and both Flag Day and the 60th anniversary of the Saugerties Chapter will be observed. A special program will be prepared with Mrs. Lyle J. Howland state vice regent, from Rome, as guest speaker.

Refreshments were served by Miss Carrie Hallenbeck, Mrss Grace Snyder and Mrs. W. A. Milne, daughter of Mrs. Glunt.

Kennedy to Sign Wage Bill Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy plans to sign into law today the minimum wage bill, which represents the major legislative triumph of his administration.

The bill raises the $1 an hour minimum wage to $1.25 by 1963 and brings under the wages and hours act an additional 3.62 million workers, most of them in retail stores.

The new law takes effect in 120 days.

The wage floor goes to $1.15 on the effective date of the new law. This will mean a wage boost for an estimated 1.9 million of the 23.9 million workers now under the act.

Two years later the $1.25 minimum will take effect. About 1.1 million additional employes are expected to receive higher pay from this.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS

Blue Cheese Rolls Are Danish Delight

GAYNOR MODDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The Danes are probably the most hospitable people in the world. They love to eat, drink and share their good life with visitors to their beautiful country, the land of Hans Christian Andersen.

When we were in Denmark, we enjoyed particularly their wonderful open-face sandwiches. The variety was endless. Served with strong coffee, they are a meal in themselves.

As a variation on a Danish open-face sandwich, we suggest these blue cheese luncheon rolls. Served hot, they have enough protein (eggs and cheese) to be the main course for a meatless dinner.

Luncheon Rolls
(Makes 6 Servings)

4 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
¼ cup chopped celery
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
2 tablespoons crumbled Danish blue cheese
¼ cup mayonnaise
Salt and pepper to taste
6 hamburger rolls
Butter

Combine eggs, celery, parsley, blue cheese and mayonnaise. Toss until thoroughly blended. Hollow out center of buns slightly and spread with margarine or butter. Fill with egg mixture. Cover with roll top.

Note: For hot sandwiches, place on ungreased baking sheet and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 10 to 15 minutes or until hot and roll is crisp.

We're Best Fed, But Rank 15th In Use of Milk

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans consider themselves to be among the world's best fed, but in the matter of milk they are far down the line.

The Foreign Agricultural Service says the United States ranks 15th in the per capita consumption of milk and milk products. First is Ireland, followed by such other leaders as New Zealand, Finland, Sweden, Switzerland, Denmark, Australia, Canada, Belgium and Norway.

The United States also ranks 15th in the per capita production of milk.

New Zealand is first, followed by Denmark, Ireland, Finland and Australia.

Central Ordered To Continue Runs Into Adirondacks

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—No roads lead to three Adirondack Mountain communities served by the New York Central Railroad.

Partly because of this fact, the Public Service Commission today ordered the railroad to continue passenger service on the Adirondack Division.

The railroad was unsuccessful for the second time in two years in a bid to end the service on the 142-mile run between Utica and Lake Placid. The Central contended it lost money on the division.

But the PSC said public convenience and necessity outweighed financial factors in this instance. It said the economy of Tupper Lake and other communities depended greatly on continued rail service. The communities without roads are Brandreth, Little Rapids and Beaver River.

Four trains—two single-car Beeliners and two convention trains—serve these communities and Thendara (Old Forge), Big Moose, Robinwood, Sabattis, American Legion, Floodwood, Lake Clear Junction, Saranac Lake and Ray Brook.

No More Dancing

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "No more professional dancing," vows Leslie Caron, now a dramatic star with Maurice Chevalier and Charles Boyer in the film "Fanny." "I decided one day that dancers had to subject themselves to the discipline of nuns, and that this life was irreconcilable with my role as wife, mother and actress. So I gave away all my dancing shoes."

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — George Schaefer is one of the lucky young men of television. At a time when dramatic programs are diminishing in number, when original dramatic scripts by talented professionals are just not being written, Schaefer has a budget, a sponsor and network time which allows him to produce and direct just about anything he fancies, from Shakespeare to new plays.

In spite of his own fortunate position as the man in charge of NBC's Hall of Fame series, Schaefer is worried about the future of dramatic shows on television, particularly new shows.

"There is, of course, the shortage of originals," he explained. "And you must look at it from the viewpoint of the writer. Let's say he has spent three years writing and polishing a play. There is absolutely no way in which TV could compensate him if the show is also a possibility for Broadway.

"From every aspect—financial return, challenge, excitement, and from the artistic viewpoint, television today provides limited appeal to the writer."

During the past season, Schaefer has produced a wide variety of shows—a two-hour version of "Macbeth," a 90-minute new opera, adaptations of plays by Shaw and Jean Anouilh, and two original scripts. "The Joke and the Valley," tonight's play, is the effort of a newcomer, Jerry McNeely, a University of Wisconsin teacher.

Schaefer believes that one of the reasons that new, good writers are so rare in television is because of what he calls "sponsor-thinking."

"A lot of them figure if it made a good book or if people liked it as a movie, then the wise thing is to re-make it for television. And you know, that's not always true."

Recommended tonight: "The Joke and the Valley," NBC, 8:30-10 (Eastern Daylight Time)—an original teleplay with Dean Stockwell, Keenan Wynn and Thomas Mitchell.

Trump Leads Set South

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Here is another hand where the bidding was the same at both tables and would also have been the same in almost any normal bridge game.

At one table West decided that heroic measures were called for and opened his singleton diamond. After a low card from dummy, East played the ten and South won with the jack.

A low heart was won by West's ace and West led a trump. South won in his hand; ruffed a heart; came back to his hand with a club; ruffed his last heart with dummy's last trump; ruffed a club to get back to his own hand; drew trumps and conceded a diamond for five odd and plus 650.

At the other table West opened a trump. South won in his own hand and led a heart. West took his ace and led a second trump.

South won that trick; ruffed one heart in dummy; led a diamond and finessed the jack; drew trumps and eventually lost two diamond tricks to wind up down one and minus 100 for a net loss of 13 IMPs.

The man who led the trump is certainly to be congratulated on his lead. Of course, South could have still made the hand by finessing the nine of diamonds, but South was not looking at all the cards.

High School Baseball Team Routs Our Lady of Lourdes, 8-2

By CHARLES J. TIANO

Freeman Sports Editor

Gene Massa's futile attempts to get a tryout in professional football would seem to indicate two things: (1) there is a plethora of talent abounding over the nation's gridirons or (2) failure to possess a sheepskin is the unpardonable sin for any rookie trying to crash the lodge.

Either of these premises is wholly spurious, but provide no humor for the gifted kicker who was a three-time All-DUSO backfield sensation for Kingston High in the post-war period.

According to Gene all goes well in interview or in correspondence until he is indiscreet enough to admit he has never trod the hallowed sod of a college campus. He is understandably baffled and dismayed because he happens to be a young man with a wealth of natural talent and tremendous confidence in his ability to make the grade with the play for pay boys.

Massa was a phenomenal high school kicker and fine all round ball player. His best chance in pro football would be as a kicking specialist and there his record compares favorably with the big timers. Playing in the New Jersey independent league last season, Massa averaged 43.5 yards net kicking with the Paterson Pioneers. He served as linebacker and did the punting. He also had excellent luck on place kicks and booted field goals up to 45 yards.

It would be cruel indeed to have Massa denied a shot at pro football. That's why several local friends are pulling every string possible to see that he gets a chance to make it. The Los Angeles Rams, Denver Broncos and New York Titans are being contacted in the next few days.

• In Select Company:

When Warren Spahn of the Braves picks up that 300th victory around midseason, he will join a select circle of major league pitchers to achieve that rare accolade. Denton T. (Cy) Young led them all with 511 victories. Spahn's durability is also reflected in the all-time most-innings pitched department in which he now ranks 20th, with 4082 at the start of the 1961 season. Mr. Early Wynn is up there in 16th place with 4233 innings. The 300-game winners, with won and lost records, are: Grover Cleveland Alexander, 373-208; John G. Clarkson, 328-176; James F. Galvin, 365-311; Robert Moses Grove, 300-140; Walter Johnson, 416-279; Timothy J. Keefe, 340-225; Christy Mathewson, 373-188; Charles A. Nichols, 360-202; Eddie Plank, 305-181; Charles (Hoss) Radbourne, 308-191; Michael F. Welch, 310-210. Spahn has some other sturdy credentials going for him. He is fifth in all-time most shutouts in the National League with 51 and the all-time record holder for a left handed pitcher with 11 seasons of 20 victories or more. He set the mark last year.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

It had to come sooner or later. The second annual National Seniors bowling tournament the last three weekends in May at Skokie, Ill. You have to be 55 to qualify. . . . Some late season firsts: Pat Uhl 500, Ann Combs 413, Doris Langling 428, Ann Mower 430. . . . Frank Rittie made his first 500 a whopping 571 and Don Keyser finally got that first 600, a 605 in the Booster League. . . . Some cad in the International League circled a 385 by Frank Palumbo. . . . How about Alberta Bovee's first 500 series, a rousing 219-560 in the New Drop League. . . . Johnny Ferraro's Bowlerama is out of the running for the New York State franchise in the National Bowling League, but the purchase price of $50,000 for the club and $75,000 performance bond runs a little high for this size town. Kingston Woman's Bowling Association hosts the state president and secretary next Tuesday when official announcements will be made concerning the site and dates of the 1962 New York State women's tournament in Kingston.

END OF A CAREER: Let us hope not, but Bill Short, former New York Yankee pitcher, is at his Newburgh home to undergo treatment for calcium deposits in his pitching arm. The major league career that once loomed so brightly for the Port Ewen-born lad has developed into a nightmare. Very few pitchers ever overcome calcium deposits. We sincerely hope Bill Short is that one in a million.

Six Run Burst In Fifth Frame Decides Contest

Scoring six runs in a hectic fifth inning, Kingston High School won its third game in five starts, dropping Our Lady of Lourdes, 8-2, in a non-league tilt yesterday at Dietz Stadium.

Until the late outburst the contest had been a pitchers' duel between starter Terry Confer of the home side and Leo Epstein of Lourdes.

However, Frank Allen reached base on an error to start the fifth and the dam opened. After Vince Smedes flied out, catcher John Hetsco doubled and Confer was safe on a fielder's choice. Leadoff batter Richie Sickler delivered a clutch double and Ron Secreto sacrificed. Another fielder's choice and single by Mike Ferraro and Paul Natale scored the other markers.

First baseman Eric Broberg had helped his teammates overcome a 1-0 Lourdes lead when he tripled to deep right field in the third frame to score Sickler and Secreto.

Lourdes had tallied in the second inning when Gerard DeFiglio singled, went to second on a balk, to third on a passed ball and home on a hit by Larry Leary.

With Bob Dunn pitching in the seventh, Bob Corliss singled and Tony Cappilino doubled for the second marker but Dunn escaped without further damage.

Confer went the first five innings for Coach Al Gruner's club and he was impressive. He gave up three hits, walked two and struck out eight.

Kingston is slated to host Port Jervis in a DUSO League contest on Monday at Dietz stadium.

The Nimrod's Corner

By Old Doc

Word from a long time friend in Washington discloses that President Kennedy within the next few weeks will deliver a special message to the Congress asking that the United States embark on a crash program to provide needed outdoor recreation facilities for the country, and in particular for the east. This is following the recommendations of the Commission on Outdoor Recreation Needs named by President Eisenhower. This commission was headed by Laurence Rockefeller, the Governor's brother.

The recognition of the needs of the eastern section of the nation is indeed gratifying. For too long in Washington, the use of our natural resources has been regarded as a problem peculiar to the west. The president's plans are now in the Bureau of the Budget for approval of their fiscal aspects. To date, none of the nation's press has made mention of the president's forthcoming message. Of course, there is pride in being the first to reveal the plan's existence here.

DRIFTWOOD

At the April meeting of the Ulster County Federated Sportsmen's Club at the clubhouse of the Wawarsing sportsmen, Ken Wich, acting District Fishery Manager, stated that the present trout stocking program is on a "put and take" basis. — Hatchery trout, claims Ken, don't survive well either in the warmth of summer, or the cold of winter. Only the naturally spawned fish fare well at these critical times. — The total number of deaths due to boating accidents in New York in 1960 was 70. — Of the 80 local streams on the Conservation Department's list in 1955 for full stocking of fingerling trout, 17 have been taken off, due to adequate natural spawning, and 46 went off due to less than the minimum 50 gallons of water per minute. — County agencies in the Empire State last year made more than 1,139 arrests for navigation violations. Because 1960 was the first effective year for the new state laws, police agencies issued more than 6,636 warnings Seems that if the sheriff's office were to do some of this sort of thing around here, boating would be more fun, not to mention safer.

CAMPFIRE SPARKS

The Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity of the City of New York has received a request from the Palisades Interstate Park Commission for lands for recreational purposes near the Ashokan Reservoir. These lands are not in the watershed. It's understood that the requested property includes a swamp, which when drained and then properly dammed might form a shallow lake of approximately 25 acres. This would provide a much needed area. — Haven't heard anything new about Kingston Point Park. Anybody know what's taking place? — Wonder when the City of Kingston will forward plans for state approval for the development as a park of the unused Sawkill Reservoir. Eventually this will be needed to meet the growing recreational needs of the predicted exploding population. When our post-war baby crop begins to have offspring of their own in the next 4 to 7 years, our alfacility for boating and swimming, which is long overdue in our ready overtaxed facilities for swimming, picnicing and camping will be grossly inadequate. The city should act now before the state's financial assistance of up to 75 per cent is no longer available. — Reservations for the Federation's banquet on June 10 must be made with Frank Kraus, Box 8, R. 3, Kingston, before June 4. — Trout being taken on dry flys on the Beaverkill. — Sonny Barnes and some of the Freeman's staff took 2 large browns at Downsville on Saturday. It appears that the fish are finally starting to bite at this newest of New York reservoirs.

Frisco Keglers Classic Champs

DETROIT (AP) — Brentwood Bowl of San Francisco is almost dead certain of being the American Bowling Congress' first classic team champion.

It will take a virtual scoring miracle by Dynamic Air Engineering No. 1 of Los Angeles tonight to keep Brentwood Bowl from the title in the ABC classic division's inaugural year.

The Los Angeles team is the last of the original starting field of 80 professionals clubs with an outside chance of wresting the title from the San Franciscans, who led with a six-game total of 5,983. The classic team event ends tonight.

Dynamic Air rolled 2,870 Thursday night. It would have to shoot 3,114 tonight to claim the crown.

DUSO League Stars

Joe Uhl, Albrecht Accept Scholarships to Boston U.

Joe Uhl, the DUSO League's Player of the Year in basketball and Steve Albrecht, the Player of the Year in football will enter Boston University in September on sports scholarships.

Uhl climaxed a star studded career at Kingston High School by leading the Maroon to the league championship and to second place in the Section Nine tournament. He tallied 1282 points in less than three seasons, has the single year scoring mark of 517 points and on three occasions scored 40 or more points. He had several offers from major colleges before selecting Boston University. At a shade under 6-1, it's expected that Uhl will be shifted from a forward to guard in college.

Albrecht led Poughkeepsie to the football title with his receiving and place kicking. The 6-3 end also started on the basketball and baseball clubs at the school but his scholarship is for football. Albrecht scored two touchdowns and kicked six extra points for the Pioneers during the league campaign and was one of the best all-around performers in the circuit.

Boston University is a major power in both football and basketball. The grid team plays a representative slate against the top clubs in the country and the cage squad reached the NCAA semi-final round three seasons ago before bowing to West Virginia, which had the great Jerry West as its star.

Hebert's 6-Under 66 Leads First Round in Champions

By BO BMYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LAS VEGAS (AP) — Good looking Jay Hebert, one of the most popular players in professional golf, led the parade into the second round of the $52,000 Tournament of Champions today.

Hebert, who admittedly is still taking lessons on the skills of proper shot making, demonstrated he has studied well when he fired a 6-under par 66 in the first round.

Playing against a select field of 25 rivals and bucking shifting winds that blew up to 40 miles an hour, Hebert toured the par 36-36 — 72 Desert Inn Country Club course Thursday in 33-33—66.

So today he held a lead of one stroke over his fellow pros for the $10,000 top money. The 72-hole event winds up Sunday.

Pressing Hebert at 67 were three other seasoned performers—Tommy Bolt, Doug Ford and Julius Boros.

And tied at 68 were Sam Snead and Bill Casper Jr., and if they weren't enough to give the pace setter cause for worry, the 69 bracket included Arnold Palmer, Art Wall Jr., and Stan Leonard.

South Africa's Gary Player, the 1961 Masters champion, and Doug Sanders posed a threat at 70.

Five players were tied at 71 in the group of 16 which bettered par. They were Gene Littler, Dow Finsterwald, Bill Collins, Don Fairfield and Bill Johnston.

Hebert, a native of Lafayette, La., candidly says he is still learning things about the game of golf.

His round Thursday included two eagles and three birdies—and thanks to the blustery wind, he started out poorly in his tee shots.

But at the end he had required only 30 putts and had missed but two greens.

Johnny Flach and Don Avery In Onteora Speedway Return

The field will be chasing Johnny Flach, the leaden-footed South Westerlo veteran, when Onteora Speedway Park stages its second card of auto racing Sunday at 2:30 p. m.

Flach, a 10-year veteran of the dirt tracks, scored a sensational three-length victory over Don Avery, the 1960 points champion, in a thrilling 25-lap feature last week.

Avery has vowed to renew the duel and Stretch Van Steenburg, the Saugerties whiz, has announced his big black No. 1 has been repaired and is ready to challenge both Flach and Avery.

Racing directors Ed Ryan of Hyde Park and Larry Shurter of Onteora have promised more cars and several familiar names will be making a delayed debut at the Olive Bridge track this Sunday.

Pete Keator of Kerhonkson, first heat winner last week, will be back along with other Ulster County favorites like Bucky Marl of Ellenville, Bruce Cyr of Ellenville, Art De Puy of Cottekill and Billy Stokes of Stone Ridge.

Richard (Dick) Lane, the track operator, is looking for a better break in weather. Last Sunday's inaugural started under clear skies but chilly winds set in later. The track was in excellent condition after the winter layoff and drew high praise from the drivers.

Randall Shares First ENYGA Win of Season

Leon Randall, the Wiltwyck and Hudson River golf champion, tied with Clinton Traver of the home club with a one-over-par 71 to pace the 114-player Eastern New York Golf Association field Wednesday at Columbia Country Club.

Traver, former Woodstock Open champion, had to stage a spectacular finish with birdies on the last three holes to tie Randall's steady 35-36, as he bagged 37-34. The first week winner, Emil MacKay of Troy Country Club, finished with a 79.

More than a dozen Wiltwyck Country Club players competed in the weekly circuit. Lonesome George Cosenza had 80-7-73 in the Class A division, where Charles J. Turck fired 85-6-79 and Phil Malin, 86-5-81.

Huguenots Score Winning Marker In 8th Inning

After scoring four runs in the sixth inning, highlighted by Keith Johnson's two run homer, Rondout Valley lost a tough UCAL decision, 5-4, to visitng New Paltz yesterday at the Marbletown school diamond in Stone Ridge.

The Huguenots had scored a run in the first, two in the second and one more in the fourth frame and were headed for an apparent win when the home side exploded off Biff Longfield. Johnson's blast climaxed the four run burst and sent the contest into overtime.

Glen Moore double for New Paltz in the eighth and with one out, catcher George Bond lined to left field and the ball was dropped. Moore, running on the hit, tallied from second base.

The home side came back in the last of the eighth when Keith Johnson doubled. However, he was left stranded at second base and the Ganders were tagged with their first league setback while New Paltz won its second straight.

Longfield went the distance for the Huguenots. He surrendered seven hits, walked two and struck out 11 batters. Williams was the tough luck loser for the home side. He walked three, fanned six and was picked for six safeties.

New Paltz will host Wallkill in a circuit test today while Rondout visits Onteora in another league attraction.

Yankees Debut Against Angels

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Letting the New York Yankees play in Wrigley Field may be like letting a channel swimmer work out in a bathtub.

But that's where the American League champions will be tonight, playing their first American League game on the Pacific Coast in the opener of a weekend series with the Los Angeles Angels.

To give you an idea of what might happen, 15 home runs were hit in the three-game series the Angels just played against the Baltimore Orioles. And neither the Angels nor the Orioles have the power the Yankees can develop on a good night.

The last time the Yankees came to town—for a Coliseum exhibition game against the Dodgers in 1959—they drew a crowd of 93,103, the largest in U.S. baseball history.

They can't draw more than 22,000 tonight because that's all the park will hold. The game is a sellout.

Joey Jay Pitches One-Hitter; Tigers, Yankees Notch Wins

Reds Get Win, 4-0, Over Phils; Giants in First

By ED WILKS

Joe Jay pitched a one-hit shutout—giving up a first-inning single by Johnny Callison—and allowed only two men to reach base as the Cincinnati Reds defeated Philadelphia 4-0 Thursday night for their fifth straight victory. San Francisco padded its National League lead to a full game over idle Pittsburgh by beating the Chicago Cubs 9-3.

Joe Adcock's bases-loaded home run gave Milwaukee a 10-6 victory over Los Angeles in 10 innings in the only other game scheduled in the NL.

Jay, 25, is a Little League graduate who had a 24-24 record, including a two-hitter and one three-hitter, in seven seasons with Milwaukee. He was traded to the Reds for shortstop Roy McMillan last December.

The Reds scored in two-run bursts in the first and third inwho allowed seven hits and five walks.

Adcock's slam, the eighth of his career, capped a five-run 10th off Roseboro homered for the Dodgers, who blew a 4-1 lead behind starter Don Drysdale.

Carl Willey (1-0), the fourth Milwaukee pitcher to follow starter Bob Buhl, won it.

A five-run sixth inning gave it to the Giants, who came from behind on Orlando Cepeda's two-run single off loser Glen Hobbie (1-3). Sam Jones (3-1) went all the way for the Giants.

Mossi Pitches Two-Hitter; Mantle Homers

By ED WILKS

Detroit southpaw Don Mossi won his third without defeat by pitching a two-hitter for a 6-0 decision at Washington Thursday night. That kept the Tigers in a tie with New York for the American League lead after the Yankees had beaten Minnesota 5-2 in an afternoon game.

In the only other AL game scheduled, Baltimore defeated Los Angeles 8-7 in 13 innings on Ron Hansen's two-run single.

Mossi, 31, walked three and struck out five in the best performance of his eight-year career, which has included a trio of three-hitters. He had a no-hit game until Gene Green singled with two out in the seventh inning. The other hit, also a single, was by Willie Tasby with two out in the ninth.

The Tigers handed winless Benny Daniels his third defeat.

Ninth Homer

Mickey Mantle blasted his ninth home run, tops in the majors, for the Yankees, but it was a three-run first inning that sent the defending champs to their seventh victory in the last eight games. Two walks, Mantle's single and an infield out scored the first two runs and Elston Howard's single brought in the clincher. Whitey Ford (4-1) was the winner, but withdrew due to the effects of a cold and Jim Coates came on for a one-hit, shutout mop-up over the last three frames. Jim Kaat (1-2) was the loser.

Hansen drove in four runs for the Orioles, who twice came from three runs behind, and triggered the ninth-inning rally with a one-on homer. His winning single, off reliever Ned Garver (0-2), followed a walk and a double by Gus Triandos, who also belted a two-run homer. Reliever Hoyt Wilhelm won his fourth.

Olean Red Sox Tie In New York-Penn

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Olean's Red Sox moved into a first-place tie with the Geneva Redlegs Thursday night in the young Class D New York-Penn Baseball League race with a twin-bill sweep over the Erie Sailors.

Geneva, meantime, was dropping its first game in four starts, 2-1, to the Elmira Pioneers at Elmira.

Olean took Erie, 7-6 and 11-6, while the Jamestown Tigers downed the Wellsville Braves at Wellsville, 11-5, and the Batavia Pirates beat the Auburn Yankees at Auburn, 8-6.

Individual Record

Buster Ferraro Rolls 752 in Major League

Buster Ferraro, who takes his 700 triples in good stride, blasted a 752 series for a new individual record in the Ferraro Major League last night. By co-incidence, Buster held the old mark of 743 which went by the boards, as he rocketed games of 225, 279 and 248.

The 752 helped his Rheingold Beer squad to a new team record of 3059, eclipsing the 3034 held by Utica Club. The team slams were 1050, 1012 and 997.

Ferraro was balked by a 4-pin tap in the 278 game and had one miss for the night. The 752 was the third highest series recorded in the city this season. Phil Battaglia of IBM Superior fired 765 and Harold Broskie had 757.

Ferraro's hefty series overshadowed some excellent pinning by other members of the league. A teammate, George Shufeldt, shot 258-224-679. Chris Gallo, anchoring the rival Miron Lumber team, slammed 247-223-215.

Jim Amendola decked 231-267-667 and Jack Ferraro matched it with 213-209-245 for the Schoentag Hotel squad. Harold Broskie posted 210-211-600, John Ferraro 224-227-219-670.

In the mere 500 group were: Joe Micozzi 560, Ray Ashdown 215-583, Bruce Hinkley 211-508, John Spada 234-569, Vince Carpino 216-557, Bill Lawrence 226-559, Larry Petersen 203-584, Ed Ebel 232-587, Bob Cusson 528, Nick Carl 530, Fred Ferraro 513, Kildy Corrado 220-567, Ad Jones 540, Harry Smith 528, Clifton Quick 214-523, Angelo Fondino 570, Joe Schrowang 232-201-598, Tony Kordich 203-513, John Schatzel 527, George Magley 205-214-571, Sheldon Levy 500, Joe Ausanio 507, Mike Rienzo 204-589, Don Herdman 214-578, George Robinson 509, Tim Schussler 201-546, George Glaser 200-539.

Team results:

Rheingold Beer 2, Miron Lumber 1; Schoentag's 3, Petersens 0; Hurley Sand and Grave 2, James Dairy 1; Dole Brothers 1, Utica

Springfield Stays Hot in Eastern Loop

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The hottest club in the Eastern League today is the league-leading Springfield Giants. The biggest disappointment is the Johnstown Red Sox.

Springfield won its fourth game in a row Thursday night with an 11-1 victory over Johnstown. The victory, the Giants' fifth in their last six games, kept them in first place—33 percentage points ahead of Binghamton.

For Johnstown, which returned to the EL after a four-year absence, it marked the sixth straight defeat.

In other games Thursday night, Binghamton defeated Reading 6-1 to shove the third-place Indians two games off the pace and Williamsport beat Lancaster 9-7.

Search Resumed For Fishermen In Oswego Area

ORWELL, N.Y. (AP)—A search resumed today for two fishermen believed drowned Thursday when their outboard motorboat overturned on the Salmon River Reservoir near this Oswego County village.

The sheriff's department identified them as Allan Russell, about 44, and Joseph Armstrong, 22, both of Camden.

George Dahl, another fishermen, said the men and their boat had disappeared by the time he arrived in response to their cries for help. Dahl said he had seen the men in the water near a capsized boat.

At Ithaca, three men tossed into Cayuga Lake when their 15-foot sailboat overturned were rescued by a man and a youth in another boat.

John Allen and Peter Maxson Jr., son of an FBI agent at Ithaca, rescued Horst Cynare, 26, Karl Selke, 31, and Johan Gebauer, 29, all of Ithaca.

The three spent about 20 minutes in the water. The rescuers pulled them into the other boat three miles north of Ithaca, and a larger police boat took them ashore.

The famed actor, under sedation for cancer which has spread throughout his body, also said in a memo to newsmen Thursday: "I know what is happening is God's will."

Cooper, 59, is confined to his home and has received messages of sympathy from all over the world.

Dr. Rexford Kennamer, the actor's physician, said there has been no significant change in Cooper's condition during the past week.

'Residents' Evicted

ST. ALBANS, England (AP)—City workmen grimly loaded 300 unwelcome "residents" of St. Albans into a truck, drove out into the country and threw them all into a pond Thursday.

The "residents" were frogs. They were removed from a pond inside the city limits because their croaking kept people awake.

Siren Fail to Sound For Village CD Test

WESTFIELD, N.Y. (AP)—Civil defense officials are not too happy with the results of a drill to gauge how this Chautauqua County village would react in the event of an enemy attack.

The village's sirens failed to sound on schedule last week and wailed only when Fire Chief William Hiller cranked them by hand.

Kiwanis Inducts 5 New Members

The Kingston Kiwanis Club inducted five new members at its regular meeting Thursday, with Dr. Julius I. Gifford, chairman of the Kiwanis Education committee, in charge of the program.

New members included James W. Elder, William H. Frown, Ellis H. Griffith, Michael C. Starkman and Arne Aho.

Gifford spoke briefly concerning "Real Kiwanis Education," and emphasized the "Wisdom of the humble," and then introduced Attorney Roger H. Cougharn who presented an amusing history of the Kingston Kiwanis Club and the participation of its members.

In conclusion, William F. Leehive, also a member of the education committee, gave the "charge" to the new members. Each member received his education kit and his signature apron, and was then requested to present a thumbnail sketch of himself before the club.

Milk Strike Now In Fifth Day, No Break Seen

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Housewives on the Niagara Frontier still hunted for dairies and stores where they could purchase milk today as a strike of truck drivers that has cut milk deliveries about 70 per cent entered its fifth day.

No break in the dispute was in sight as federal and state mediators continued their negotiations with representatives of the milk dealers and Local 39 of the Teamsters' Milk, Ice Cream & Dairy Employes Union.

The key issues in the controversy are job security and work rules, according to a spokesman for the 1,200 striking union members.

Most of the milk produced for the 30 struck dairies in Erie and Niagara counties is being diverted to dry-milk plants. There have been no reports of dumping.

In Albany, meanwhile, milk-truck drivers today accepted a two-year contract and averted a strike against 11 dairies in the Albany-Troy-Schenectady area.

The drivers went to work about two hours after their normal starting time.

Edward Contento, business agent for Local 787 of the Teamsters Milk, Ice Cream Drivers & Dairy Employes Union, said the contract provided for a $14-a-week pay raise over a two-year period for the drivers. Plant workers received a $7 weekly increase.

The union also agreed to the employers' proposal to discontinue Sunday deliveries.

The old contract expired April 30.

The union claims to represent 650 workers.

Contento said that, under the old contract, drivers received a weekly base pay of $47.50, plus commissions. Plant workers were paid approximately $90 a week, depending on classification.
